Senator Mott addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT: At this hour in Ventura County there is being held the funeral of a distinguished man.

Ex-United States Senator, Thomas R. Bard, died at his home in Hueneme on Friday last.

As Senator Bard belonged first to California, and as I have the honor to represent in this Senate the district from where his life work was directed, and having enjoyed his friendship and his counsels for nearly thirty years, I ask for a few moments of the Senate's attention that proper tribute may be paid to his memory.

Senator Bard was sent to California in 1864 by Thomas A. Scott, then Secretary of War, and later president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, commissioned to take entire charge of the vast oil lands of Southern California, amounting to several hundred thousand acres.

He served as United States Senator from 1900 to 1905 and gained note in connection with international problems which preceded the acquisition of the Panama Canal Zone.

He was a commissioner to organize the first county government of Ventura County, was supervisor of that county, was a delegate to the National Convention that nominated James G. Blaine for President. He was Presidential Elector in 1892, being the only Republican elected in California in the victory of Cleveland over Harrison. He was a Regent of the University of California, was a member of the California Club of Los Angeles and of the Union League Club of San Francisco, and he was an ex-president of the Scotch-Irish Society of Pennsylvania. He was well known as one of California's leading floriculturists.

Senator Bard was a hard worker for fifty years with other constructive men of California in thought, in action, and in triumph for what is now our heritage and our blessing. His work was his reward while he was living. May the example of his industry and his honor inspire to better attainments all of the sons and daughters of California and of the Nation.

Mr. President, I move that when this Senate adjourns to-day that it adjourn out of respect to the memory of the late United States Senator, Thomas R. Bard.

On motion of Senator Thompson, the remarks of Senator Mott were ordered printed in the Journal, and the Senate, by rising vote, unanimously adopted the motion, that when adjournment be taken this day it be out of respect to the memory of the late Thomas R. Bard, formerly United States Senator from California.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Pursuant to his notice given on a previous day, Senator Wolfe arose to a question of personal privilege and addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN OF THE SENATE: After I had given my notice, Mr. President, and had time to calm down, I was deliberating whether, after all, I would be justified in taking up the valuable time of the Senate of this State in discussing what appeared to be peculiarly a personal matter; and I wavered, until I read that which was written, after the action of the Senate on the report of its Special Committee, and about the time that the decision became public property. I made up my mind that it was my duty, as I originally understood it, to address my colleagues upon the floor of the Senate upon a matter that affects me very, very deeply, and upon which I feel very deeply; and when I am through, I doubt if there will be a man upon the floor of the Senate who, were he in my situation, would do otherwise than what I am going to do, or a man who would refrain from replying to those things which have been said about me. I venture that there isn't a man upon the floor of this Senate, and I do not underestimate, here and now, the calibre and personnel of the gentlemen with whom I am associated, that would not, under my circumstances, do as I am about to do. But let me say this to you, Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, time heals many things, and therefore, I confess to you that I do not approach the discussion of this question with malice in my heart nor with the same degree of bitterness with which I was imbued when I gave my notice. I do not wish to hurt any one's feelings unnecessarily, but I wish to call the attention of the Senate, and of those gentlemen who are in charge of legislation which purports to perfect the recall system of the State of California, which legislation I shall support, that perhaps they can at the same time recommend other legislation which will protect citizens of this State in the exercise of their rights granted to them by the constitution.

I was defeated for the Senate in 1912 by 95 votes in a district in which I had never run before, and in a great portion of which I was a stranger. There were 16,200 registered votes at that election, and 11,100 or thereabouts, were cast. There was a very bitter fight made against me—a very bitter fight, a very nasty fight; but one must expect that; and I was defeated, and I took my defeat gracefully and went about my business, not intending, as long as life should last, ever to become a candidate for Senator in the State of California again. The papers later on became filled with articles on the recall of the gentleman who had been successful in the contest of 1912. I had naught to do with that; I never signed a recall petition. My friends were asked by me to keep away from it, and I had no part in it at all, and, to my amazement, I found an announcement in a paper that the recall against Mr. Grant had been perfected, and that the Governor of the State of California had called a special election to be held on the 8th of October. Thereupon my friends came to me and asked me to become a candidate at that election, and I refused. I refused a dozen times to become a candidate at that election, and it was only within a week—five or six days—of the time when, under the constitution, a man must file his nomination papers, at the earnest request of business men, of labor representatives, of all classes of my friends and neighbors, that I, in a moment of weakness, permitted myself to become a candidate at the recall election.

Mr. President, I didn't have to ask anyone's consent to do that. The constitution of this State says that any person may be nominated for an office which is to be filled at any recall election, under a petition signed by electors, etc. So that I exercised my right under the constitution, to become a candidate at that recall election for this office; and then something happened. Then there were circulars and editorials and attacks upon me, which were undeserved, which were false, and which were most malicious. The first circular that was sent out in my district, I will read to you:

> "A recall election will be held in this district Thursday, October 8th, 1914. The purpose of this election is the recall of Senator Edwin E. Grant. Senator Grant was elected by a majority of the voters in this district two years ago for a term of four years. Two recall petitions have been unsuccessfully circulated against him, but a third one has resulted in the coming election. We have investigated Senator Grant's legislative acts, and, irrespective of whether or not we believe in all the measures he has supported, find that his record has been clean and straight. He is the author of the Red Light Abatement Act, the purpose of which is to keep prostitution out of residence districts. The bill prohibiting saloons in the Fair grounds, which Senator Grant voted for, did not prohibit the serving of California wines. The present recall is simply an attack made on him by the vice element, and in our opinion, is not aimed at Senator Grant so much as at all legislators who have not voted in favor of the vice interests. Through the Grant recall, this element is seeking to club our legislators into line—their line. Are you going to ally yourself with them? Almost every decent man has a wife or a mother, a sister or children. The man who opposes Grant can not escape the charge that he is the candidate of the vice masters, the prostitutes and the dive keepers. The man who cares for his good name, for the happiness of his family, will be slow to accept the consequences of such a candidacy."

That was circulated all over my district, was copied in the smaller press, and was followed by attacks in the newspapers along these lines. "Well, Wolfe was smoked out. Eddie Wolf, candidate of the underworld in the Nineteenth Senatorial District, is out in the open as the man who seeks to succeed Senator Grant, attacked because he fought for the red light bill. This is the same Eddie Wolfe who for years was head and front of the railroad lobby at Sacramento, and who, when California was freed from railroad domination, was sent to the discard. There is an old saying in the boxing game with which Wolfe doubtless is familiar. It is commended to his consideration: 'They never come back,' is what the box fight fans say, and time has proved it true. If Eddie Wolfe, standpatter, reactionary, lobbyist, hired man of the old boss-ridden days thinks he can climb again into place on the shoulders of the dive keepers of San Francisco, he has another think coming. What the decent voters of the Nineteenth will do to him if that recall election is ever held will be sufficient. That election, if Grant's injunction and exposures of wholesale forgeries do not prevent its being held, will be a test whether the decent people of the Nineteenth District want clean rule or want to be represented by a man whose strength is most largely in the ranks of those who live 'away down in the dark.'"

That was followed by the circulation of a paper, or, rather a copy of a paper by Franklin Hichborn, and weekly papers in San Francisco—one in particular which prints Mr. Hichborn's little publications, had articles along the same line, "vice masters," "fraud on Senator Grant," and "forgeries," and "fraud," and stuff of that kind.

Now, I said I had nothing to do with getting up this recall. That was proven in the testimony that was taken before this committee; it was proven, particularly, by the testimony of a man named Andrew Einsfeldt. Now, let me tell you about Andrew Einsfeldt. When I ran for the Senate in 1912, and I was taken around by my friends to meet my new constituents—because I had been representing another district for many years. You remember the legislative legerdemain which took me out of my own district, many of you; I was taken around and I was introduced to a man named Einsfeldt, and it was said to me: "Oh, don't bother about him; he is for Grant; he don't amount to anything—move along." Now, who is Einsfeldt? What does the testimony disclose? He is the man that got up this recall against Mr. Grant, absolutely, and individually; it is sworn to in the record, and uncontroverted, that out of his own pocket, he paid the expenses of this recall, and perfected it. What part did he play in the election of 1912? I had no bitterer opponent; I had no man that fought me harder than Andrew Einsfeldt. He was with Mr. Grant morning, noon and night; he was his mentor, his guide, his philosopher, who, according to the testimony—and I speak by the record—sworn to before the Justice of the Peace in San Francisco, the forum provided by our Code for the trial of these contests—backed Mr. Grant's candidacy financially, and fought me very, very bitterly. As to the character of Mr. Einsfeldt, the fact that he was the associate of Mr. Grant, his colleague, his friend, ought to speak for itself; because, as I said here in January, as I have said all over my district, and as I say here now, there never has and there never will be an unkind word pass my lips about the gentleman whom I succeeded upon the floor of the Senate. I would be false to myself if I did that, and I don't believe in doing it, and even if I did, I couldn't say anything against him.

But Mr. Einsfeldt was the friend, confidant and financial backer of Mr. Grant's campaign in 1912, and in 1914 he was the man that got up this recall. But I had naught to do with it; that I have already referred to, and that is a matter of record and a matter of evidence.

During the taking of the testimony before this committee, to whose absolute fairness I have borne public testimony before, a witness was called, a man of intelligence, a man who had occupied a position in San Francisco at one time as the foreman of the Grand Jury; and he was presented the recall petition, and he was asked: "Did you sign Mr. Grant's recall?" He said: "No, I didn't sign it." "Is that your signature?" "Yes, that is my signature." "This is a recall petition for Mr. Grant." "Well, I didn't know I was signing a recall petition." "Well, what were you signing?" "Well, I didn't know. I thought perhaps it was for prohibition or something of that kind."

Well, eliminating that, the point that I call attention to is this: I asked the privilege of cross-examining him—and, mark you, Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, we never presented one word of testimony to this committee excepting that portion of the record that was taken before he justices of the peace prior to the convening of the Legislature—and as I asked the privilege to cross-examine that man, he was the first one that I did, I asked this question: "Who got you to sign this petition?" He said: "Andrew Einsfeldt." "How long have you known Mr. Einsfeldt?" "Ten or twelve years." "What is his character for honesty and integrity?" He said: "Excellent, excellent." So they all say. A peculiar man, a poor man, living in one district and neighborhood for over thirty years; recognized on every side; denying himself even the necessaries of life, to support a widowed sister and her children; Andrew Einsfeldt, the man who perfected this recall, who is entirely and solely responsible for it all. It was said on the ballot, that he approached a Senator and asked him to defeat the Red Light bill, and that if he didn't do that, there would be political ruin. And now, I am not going to even read to you the testimony on that subject, nor am I going to present to you the affidavit that I have on that subject, because, as I said, I prefer to say naught that could in the remotest degree reflect upon the man whom I defeated.

Now, as to the Red Light bill: Mr. President, during this campaign, in the month of October, prior to the election, there came to San Francisco, Everybody's Magazine, containing an article by one Creel, whose claim for fame here is that he is the husband of a famous and favored lady, who was an actress and a Californian. This article—perhaps you have read it—I presume many of you gentlemen have read it, because it contained an outrageous attack upon his Excellency, the Governor of the State of California, an unjustifiable attack upon him. But prior to that, he had something to say about "one Eddie Wolfe." Now, let me read it to you. What women have done. An article on what women have accomplished since they have had the suffrage in California. "Women have also wiped out gambling of all kinds, and taken complete possession of the local option law, have succeeded in placing one half the territory and one fourth the population on the dry side. In his authoritative story of the 1913 Legislature, Franklin Hichborn makes this comment: "and it goes on to quote from a little paper about the members of the 1913 Legislature. "With the institution of woman's suffrage in 1911, however, racetrack gamblers were practically eliminated from California politics, and organizations of women on moral issues became the most potent power in the State. The members of the 1913 Legislature gave repeated evidence of appreciating this fact thoroughly." "The specific instance," says Mr. Creel, that he had in mind—Mr. Hichborn—was the Red Light law, which places the responsibility of disorderly houses upon the property owners instead of the wretched inmates. "This bill, as introduced in 1911, was killed with ease and despatch, Senator Eddie Wolfe wielding the principal axe."

Gentlemen of the Senate, when I read that, I was amazed. I didn't recall any Red Light bill that I had killed by wielding the axe; I didn't remember that such a bill ever came before the Senate of this State, and I hunted the record and found no such bill in the Senate; but I wasn't satisfied with my own judgment; I enlisted the assistance of the gentleman who has charge of a bureau outside here, representing us all, to have him run down the record to see wherein I had aught to do with the Red Light bill—wherein I had killed it or even voted against it. This is what he handed to me: "Assembly Bill No. 1014 of 1911, by Wiley. An Act to enjoin and abate houses of lewdness, assignation, and so forth, and to declare the same to be nuisances," and so forth. And the following calendar of legislative business of 1911, and from the Journal, the Assembly Journal—it never got to the Senate—the following appears: "February 1—read first time. To Printer. Feb. 6—From printer. Feb. 7—to committee. March 7—From committee with recommendation: Do pass as amended. March 9—Read second time, amended and to third reading. Mar. 11—From printer. Mar 13—Correctly engrossed. Mar. 16—Re-referred to Committee on Judiciary. Mar. 23—Dropped from file." It never came to this Senate; I had naught to do with it. I don't know that I would have voted against it, if it had come to the Senate, but I had naught to do with it; and yet, quoting the man who sits upon the floor of this Senate, sitting here, as our judge and censor, I am charged, in the language that I have read to you with being the tool of those interested in these kinds of institutions, and killing it upon the floor of the Senate. That it is false has been demonstrated

Now, that fight in that little district of ours created a great deal of a sensation, Mr. President, and a great deal of excitement. There were many meetings, many meetings. I must have spoken to three or four thousand men and women of the district; and at every one of them I said that I did not claim, nor did I say, that the reasons given in the recall petition for the recall of Mr. Grant were sufficient to justify his recall. I said, "That's up to you, ladies and gentlemen. You are the judges of whether that is sufficient. If you don't think it is sufficient, why, vote against the recall; and if you think it is sufficient, then, do as you please." At that election, nearly 9,000 votes were cast, at a special election, on October 8th, in the senatorial district that, at the general election, cast eleven thousand one hundred and some odd votes, there were nearly 9,000 votes cast. And while, at the general election, I was defeated by 95 votes, at that election I received a majority of 530 odd, or, rather, 530 odd was the majority for the recall, and 140 to 150 more votes were cast for my candidacy which were not counted because they did not first vote on the question of the recall of Mr. Grant. I was practically elected by six or seven hundred majority, a pretty fair majority, considering that it was a recall election. Now, then, what happened—what happened then? I wasn't through my troubles then. Immediately the press had little squibs about "fraud" and "[illegible]" and "conduct of election officers," and every imaginable thing, and finally it culminated in the filing of a contest for this office. I said upon the floor of the Senate that that contest charged practically everything from pitch and toss to manslaughter. I say again that it charged everything that a lawyer could think of to warrant coming before a body such as this to base the grounds for a contest of the seat of a man that was declared elected. It charged connivance in fraud on the part of the registrar of San Francisco; in fact, a declaration was made before this committee in an upstairs room that one hundred and fifty odd names were permitted fraudulently to be registered in that district, with the connivance and the consent of the registrar. It charged illegal registration; it charged that people did not know what they were signing when they signed the recall; it charged that nine men had signed their signatures with a mark, that they had not complied with some section of the Political Code in some formalities connected with that. It charged that one hundred and seven names were improperly on the petition, because the man who secured those signatures was not registered at the time that he secured them, and so on, ad libitum, all kinds of charges. The findings of the committee are sufficient answer to that. Forgeries! Oh, my! There were any amount of forgeries charged in this contest, and what was the result of that investigation? Well, people were brought, three or four, who questioned their signatures, and when the committee examined the signatures on the recall petition with the signatures that they had them make right there in their presence, there was not much doubt as to the genuineness of their signatures; and in only one case was there any reasonable doubt, and as the committee say in their findings, "the evidence is insufficient to sustain the charge."

But, Mr. President, there were lots of ladies who testified there that they had signed under misapprehension; they did not know they were signing a recall petition. And I do not wonder that they made that statement. It is not to be wondered at that they made their statement, that they wanted to clean their skirts from connection with it, because of the continual repetition of charges of fraud and conspiracy and of worse in connection with it. But sufficient for that. It then came to the Senate, and the Senate sustained the findings of its committee, and I was seated by an unanimous vote.

It has been said to me: "Why, why aren't you satisfied with that? Why don't you let the matter go? What do you want to dig up? You have got your seat?" Why, I never had any doubt about getting my seat, in the slightest. I knew the calibre of men that sit upon the floor of this Senate, most of them, and I knew that they would not rob me of my seat; they would not unseat me unless the evidence showed that I had come there improperly; and if the evidence had disclosed that, they would not have had to unseat me—I would have been the first man to get out, to offer my resignation. I had confidence in these gentlemen; it was never disturbed. But mark you, these people who instituted this contest—and the gentleman to whom I have referred by name, was very, very closely connected with the institution of that contest—their minds were not big enough to grasp the mental force and calibre of the members of this Senate. They said: "Oh, Eddie Wolfe! Why, he is persona non grata with the administration. Why, they will throw him out upon any pretext. Why, put in your contest, make your charges, they will be only too glad to get rid of him"; and they did file it, but they did not understand the high character of the members of this Senate, and the gentleman in charge of the administration of the affairs of this State at the present time; they tried to bring them down to their level.

Well, now, you would think, after the Senate committee had decided that unanimously, Mr. President, that there would be a cessation—a cessation of attack and of abuse and of insults. Let me show you what one paper said about my election. This was before the contest—and then I will ask any member of the Senate within the sound of my voice if he would remain silent after being attacked in this wise. This is an Oakland paper—a paper with which I have not agreed in the past, with which I had some differences four years ago on the question of a proposed constitutional amendment with reference to annexation and the right to grow, and so forth. Read this: "The Shame of San Francisco. San Francisco has done the expected thing, and done it in the true San Francisco spirit. It has placed its heel upon decency and civil morality, and taken to its bosom open vice, political debauchery and the degradation of women. It has embraced true Republican doctrine setting the seal of its disapproval upon righteousness; it has recalled Senator Grant and elected in his place the notorious vice promoter, Eddie Wolfe. The result of this infamy will count strongly against the success of San Francisco's Fair. The odium which Thursday's election has cast upon San Francisco will not soon be forgotten. It advertises that city as an unsafe place for women and girls to go to; for it establishes the fact that the controlling influences of that city are adverse to civic and social morality. Thursday's election should be a warning to the decent people of California, regardless of party. It means that Republican victory in November would be a victory of vice, of every conceivable kind. The domination of that party in power would mean the enthronement of every vicious element in California," etc.

Mr. President, if I were a thousandth or a millionth part of what that paper charges me with being, would I be standing upon the floor of the Senate of this State addressing my colleagues and the people of California, and reading that character of an editorial?

And that is not all. There was some other detestable paper which was very closely connected with some bulletins that are published which said precisely the same thing. "Evidently, Senator Grant's reputation as an honest, righteous gentleman, was unknown to his constituents when they voted for him, two years ago; they did not want that kind of a man; they wanted an advocate of Red Light corruption and damnation. Red Light corruption and damnation, and they desired the supremacy of moral rottenness, and in Eddie Wolfe, they got what they wanted. Being misrepresented by a man of high character and independence, they did right in dethroning him, but, oh, the pity of it, and the disgrace to San Francisco."

Now, the same Oakland paper, after the decision of the committee, said: "We do not question the strict legality of the dismissal of the Grant contest recommended by the Senate committee yesterday. Doubtless the committee is wholly justified in the action taken, basing that action upon the evidence adduced in the investigation made by it. It was hardly to have been expected that in a matter so susceptible of confusion and one in which exhaustive investigation was rendered impossible by lack of ample funds and time to gather facts bearing upon the case, any other conclusion could be reached. Notwithstanding the probability that Grant's full case has not been presented; that there is some probability that, could all of the facts have been marshalled in his support, his contest would have been sustained, still the committee's recommendation was the only possible one under the circumstances," etc. "If Senator Grant had accomplished nothing more than to give the State the Red Light Abatement Bill, of which he was author, his services to the State, in that alone, were enough to give to him a permanent position as one of the most efficient legislators we have ever had." But "Grant has been made a victim of circumstances. He represented a San Francisco district in which there was a very large and very powerful tough element—an element which stood for vice in every form, and was restive under any restraint, or the menace of restraint. This element of the Nineteenth District was assiduously cultivated by the Republican ward heelers in the recall campaign which defeated Mr. Grant. Every dive, every saloon, every house of prostitution and every gambling joint therein was made to contribute money and active workers to down Grant because he was too clean to represent them."

"Every dive keeper"! Let's see. The impression has gone abroad that I represent, upon the floor of this Senate, what is known as the tenderloin of San Francisco. Gentlemen of the Senate, there is not, within the boundaries of that district which I have the honor to represent, and which perhaps I will represent for the last time—or any district—there is not, within the confines of that district one dive, one brothel, one disreputable place of the kind referred to. You do not have to take my word for it. I will read to you some things that I took the precaution to bring to you. There is one territory in that district that is composed of one hundred and forty square blocks, from Maple street, which is the westerly boundary of my district, to Van Ness avenue, which is part of the easterly boundary of the district, speaking conservatively; and from Sacramento and Green street and to Union street, that is, twenty blocks one way and seven blocks another. Excepting upon Fillmore street, there are not five saloons in the entire neighborhood. It is a respectable residence district, a district of homes and of schools and of churches, composed of the better class of our citizenship, if you measure them from the standpoint of worldly possessions—one hundred and forty square blocks. Here is a proof of it:

> DEAR SIR: In reply to your communication of the 5th inst., will state that our records show that there are nineteen saloons in the district bounded as follows, commencing at the northeast corner of Sacramento and Maple street, thence along the northerly side of Sacramento street to the east side of Van Ness avenue, thence along the east side of Van Ness avenue to Green street, thence along the southerly line of Green street to Maple street, and thence along the westerly line of Maple street to the point of beginning. Of course, you will understand, of these nineteen saloons, the largest number will be found on Fillmore street.
> Signed:
> CHARLES F. SKELLY,
> Secretary the Board of Police Commissioners.

From the Registrar's books:

> The registration of the blocks bounded by Maple, Green, Van Ness avenue and Sacramento streets is 6,872, which means a population of about 30,900.

From the Chief of Police of San Francisco:

> Referring to our conversation of several days since, in reference to the general character of that portion of the city bounded by Maple, California, Baker, Pine, Laguna and Sutter streets, Van Ness avenue, Leavenworth and Filbert streets, and interlying between these points and the bay of San Francisco and known as the Nineteenth Senatorial District, I respectfully advise the following: This district embraces the most extensive of the select residential portions in the city and county of San Francisco. Not alone this, but within its confines are a number of choice business districts, the reputations of which are entirely above reproach.
> Very respectfully yours,
> D. A. WHITE, Chief of Police.

The dive-keeper, the brothel, the vice masters in the Nineteenth Senatorial district! So these attacks on me, inspired by this sort of stuff that was sent through my district, and which misrepresented me, if ever a man was misrepresented in this wide world, and which reflects upon the character of the community that I represent, and upon the citizenship of San Francisco, which needs no defense from me upon the floor of the Senate. Unfortunately, there is a disposition on the part of some men to get into the lime light, and to speak of large cities as being dens of iniquity where vice prevails. Let me say to you, gentlemen of this Senate, that I have traveled all over this county and all over the large cities of Europe, and I say it, and I defy contradiction, there isn't a cleaner city, morally, in the civilized world today, than the city and county of San Francisco. Vice does not flaunt itself in the faces of decent men and women. Those who seek vice know where to find it, and experts on the red light districts and on red light measures—they know more about vice than do the good men and women of San Francisco. And any woman is safe upon our streets, every hour of the day and every hour of the night; she is not affronted, and not insulted, and a drunken man upon the streets is a great rarity seen, maybe once in three months or once in six months. Have I not a right, Mr. President, to call your attention to these animadversions, these outrageous attacks upon me and upon the citizenship that I represent in part—the citizenship of the great city and county of San Francisco?

Now, I have said that I have been criticised by a gentleman whose name I have mentioned, in his reports. It will be said of him that he is actuated by high motives; that his purpose is to point out to the people of California how their legislators stand upon moral and public questions; that he is not actuated by personal animus; that, as he himself has said in one of his little sheets, he does not sit in judgment upon us—not at all; he lets others sit in judgment upon us. Well, I might have been inclined to believe that, if this matter had ended there, but it didn't end there. When the report of this committee was practically understood and it was known that I was to be seated, articles appeared in country papers on a different line. And they got their instruction from this very man, because I will show it to you from the paper. They were going to reach me some other way; they couldn't influence—they couldn't impress the committee that was appointed by the evidence that was offered; therefore, they were going to belittle me in the estimation of my colleagues by a flank movement. They were going to show me up in a different light entirely. And here is what I found. They started an attack, not only on me, but also on gentlemen who happened to be my friends, and one of the gentlemen whom they attacked because of his friendship for me was the man who occupied the office of Chaplain of the Senate of the State of California for four years, the Rev. Father Wyman, a venerable and lovable gentleman who had the respect and the confidence of every man upon the floor of this Senate; who, when he prayed, there was more devotion than I had seen in all of the years that I had been up to that time in the Senate of the State of California. They attacked him and me and I will show you how.

(Reading.) "From the Colton, California, Courier, January 24, 1915: The California Senate."—now, that was within a day or two of the filing of the report of this committee; they had concluded their work; they decided to go no further with their investigation, and the matter even then almost dropped: "The California Senate seems to have fallen into strange ways, notwithstanding that it is supposed to be controlled by the best element in the political parties of the State. Hichborn's legislative bulletin tells how that party recently elected Rev. Father Stark as its Chaplain, and the Sacramento Bee recounts something of that delectable gentleman's history, which, by the way, is particularly recalled by the writer hereof, who was at that time engaged at Sacramento." This refers more particularly to Father Stark, I notice. "In 1907, Senator Eddie Wolfe, over whose election," well, they have misplaced the line. "Senator Wolfe became miffed because the Chaplain in his prayer over the Senate each morning had much to say about Christ. Now, Wolfe is of Jewish birth. He made bold to offer a resolution that the Chaplain forget that Christ came into this world to save sinners, in fact, that he came in at all, and not to use the name in his prayers. That raised a rumpus, but Wolfe won his point. Then the next year a man named Blake was caught in a trap set for him when he attempted to bribe one of the Ruef jurors. This resulted in a lawyer named Frank J. Murphy being arrested for bribery and at his trial his witness for good character was Rev. Father Stark, just now elected Senate Chaplain at four dollars per. A fellow priest with Father Stark was Father Wyman, and the following year he was elected Senate Chaplain at the behest of Senator Eddie Wolfe, and he, too, omitted the name of Christ in his prayers. Now we have Father Stark following the Wolfe dictation, and the Wyman fashion. Some of these days, the Senate will come to its senses, likewise the House, and there will be no chaplain elected."

(Reading.) "Palo Alto, California, Times: Some legislative items. Senator Frank Benson has introduced a resolution to abolish the office of Chaplain of the State Senate. This may shock the nerves of some conservative churchmen who are not familiar with the question by actual contact. To those who know, it will be regarded as a proper move." Not so. Of course, it isn't true,—that portion isn't. I know I haven't heard it; I am sure it wasn't true, but that doesn't make any difference: it is in the paper, so it must be true. "This may shock the nerves of some conservative churchmen who are not familiar with the question by actual contact. To those who know, it will be regarded as a proper move. Commercialized piosity." I guess that is the correct pronunciation,—"commands no respect. The only function of the Chaplain is to offer a formal three-minute prayer at the opening of each day's session and to draw eight dollars of the public's money therefor." It is only four, but that doesn't make any difference. "This job is regarded as a neat bit of patronage to hand out to some clerical friend of a Senator. This latter fact, being well known, detracts from the office any odor of sanctity that it might otherwise have. An additional item of interest is the allegation of Franklin Hichborn, also of this county, that at least two recent Chaplains of the Senate have received their nominations at the hands of Senator 'Eddie' Wolfe of San Francisco, who is a Jew. Wolfe slips in the request to them that they omit any reference to Jesus Christ in their prayers, and it is amiably done to please him. So Wolfe, the Jew, gets credit for broadmindedness for nominating a Gentile parson, the latter adjusts his devotions to suit, and the public pays the bill."

Will any man within the sound of my voice say that these articles are inspired by motives for the public good? Will anyone say that there is any justification for this attack on this reverend gentleman? Father Wyman, the Paulist Father of San Francisco, a venerable gentleman, whose life is spent in acts of gentleness, of kindness, of charity and of religion; whom I have seen in the stress of weather, in storm or in the heat of the day, on foot, going to the bedside of the sick, offering religious consolation to those of his faith, when they were dying, in season and out of season; Father Wyman, who is beloved by all that know him; and I am not of his faith, but I honor and I respect him. Father Wyman, through Mr. Hichborn, is accused of selling his religious convictions for four dollars per day, and they would have you believe that sort of stuff is done for the public good! They refer to Mr. Hichborn, who in his paper on this subject, dips into the past, revives this, and that is the basis of all these scurrilous attacks referred to here. This article dipped into the past, and he implies here that these clergymen were implicated in the graft scandals in San Francisco. Why? With what basis does he make this charge? Because Father Wyman testified upon the trial of Frank Murphy in San Francisco that he knew him to be a man of good character, or answered the code question that you lawyers know is asked of a character witness. And Frank Murphy was acquitted by a jury at San Francisco! What difference does that make to that gentleman, whether he was acquitted or not? Why, he was accused—therefore, he must be guilty. The verdict of the jury means naught with that kind of man; he has made up his mind that he is guilty, the verdict of the jury to the contrary notwithstanding. And in this article, which revives something that occurred several years ago—in 1907, when I was compelled to rise, also, to a question of personal privilege, for the reason that I had been attacked on this very prayer incident—let me tell you about that incident; and I am going to read to you what was said at that time by the Sacramento Bee, an editorial that I have preserved from that day to this; and if I couldn't get another copy of it, I wouldn't sell it for $500.00. It is true that I am a Jew. Yes, I learned that at my father's knee and drank it in at my mother's breast; it is the greatest and best heritage that I have, and I wouldn't exchange it for anything in this world. But I don't wear my religion on my coat sleeves; I am a strict religionist, a strict believer, and I like every man to stand up for the faith of his fathers. I like every man to be as loyal to his faith as I try to be to mine. (Great applause).

And we had a Chaplain in those days, and I was the President pro tem. of the Senate at that time. He prayed through the Saviour, and I, believing in prayer, and wanting to pray with him and the members of the Senate in a respectful and deferential way asked him if he could not without doing violence to his conscience, so pray that I might pray with him as a member of the Senate; and I said: "If it violates your conscience in doing it, pay no attention to me at all and do that which your conscience dictates." Somehow, that got out into the papers, and you could imagine what they said about me—the newspapers that didn't like me, and there are some that don't—imagine what they said about me, and what articles were at that time flareheaded across the faces of the newspapers that were fighting me, particularly; and I was attacked in the pulpit; and I was attacked out of the pulpit; and ministers made me, and that question, the theme of their sermons; and I was compelled to take it up on the floor of the Senate of this State and explain my attitude. And let me say to you, the very first letter that I got after I had made my speech and it was published was from the bishop and the [illegible] the other bishop of the Protestant church in Sacramento, in which he said that he gloried in my stand, and approved it. And the next letter that I got was from a Roman Catholic priest that had words of the same nature. Listen to this (reading an editorial from the Sacramento Bee):

> "The religions of the Senate and the prayers therein. To read the formulations of some ministers, one would think these to be still the dark and gloomy days of persecution, when to be a Jew was to be despised and spat upon by all men. Professed ministers of that Christ who put aside the old patriarchal creed of bigotry and religious hatred, and who was the first to bring message of peace and tolerance, are anathematizing the Jews in the Senate, and particularly Senator Wolfe, whose crime is that they respectfully and in a deferential manner asked that the religion of their fathers be respected in the daily prayer of the Chaplain. One minister at Davisville recounts again the story of the crucifixion, and declares of the two Hebrews in the Senate that they hate his name.
> Surely, it is time such shameful language be forever obliterated from the minds and tongues of men who claim to deliver the message of the Prince of Peace; that man whose followers were Jews; that man himself a Jew; that man who was not done to death by the Jews, but by the Romans; done to death under Roman laws, executed by order of a Roman tribunal, crucified for alleged agitation against the peace of a Roman province; put to death by Roman soldiers, while his followers, the Jews, endeavored to save him.
> Surely, the day is here when the ranks of all religious creeds should be respected. Certainly the hour is at hand when civilization should show by its affectionate tolerance and respect for all religious beliefs, its veneration for the dark eyed maid of Judea, the mother of that Babe who subsequently suffered on the cross for Jew as well as for Gentile.
> Senator Wolfe's speech to the Senate this morning upon this matter will be found in full in another column. It is a manly speech. It is the speech of a Jew, proud of his race and glorying in the religion of his fathers. It is a gentlemanly speech; its tone of respectful and yet manly pride is in strong contrast to the shameful language which has come from some Protestant pulpit—language directly at variance with the teachings of that gentle Jesus these ministers profess to be endeavoring to save from Jewish degradation in the Senate.
> Senator Wolfe and his co-religionists in the Senate of California have been right in this matter from the very first. Instead of being assailed and denounced and blackguarded, they should be everywhere complimented for a stand that is an honor to themselves, a credit to the mothers who bore them, and a glory to the creed they are not ashamed to uphold and defend."

And yet, and yet, after the lapse of these years, it is necessary to bring this question into the contest of Mr. Grant—Mr. Grant's contest of my seat, and my right to sit here—to revive that onslaught, and to revile and to attack men whom we ought to respect, and whom most of us do respect, and as to whom, some of us are barely worthy to kiss the hem of their garments.

It would seem, Mr. President, after I have shown you these facts, and recalled to you what is back of this contest, that my colleagues will agree with me that I am justified in thus addressing you. And why—why have I been thus attacked? What have I done to warrant the accusation of this class of newspapers in their attacks on me? I am supposed to be a reactionary, a standpatter; I am a man of the old days; I represent the old regime. Why, that is a thing of the past. I do not claim that in all of the bills I stood for—and I stood for them honestly and conscientiously—I never have claimed that I have always been right, but I have always thought I was right, and whenever I thought so, I stood and fought my battle, no matter what might be the consequences. But, Mr. President, to be a candidate of the vice masters, of the brothel and of the dives, there must be something concrete in the public record of a man to warrant an accusation of that kind. Why, I recall in the many years that I have served in this Senate, that there is not a constructive moral law for the protection of the home, womanhood, children, the church and the school, that I have not cast my vote in favor of, and that I have not advocated by my voice upon the floor of this Senate. I introduced into the Senate of the State of California—and I ask you to indulge me if I speak of myself, because I am compelled to in self defense—I introduced into the Senate of this State at the request of good women and good men, the juvenile court laws of California. I am the author of child labor laws, the author of a bill for oral education of deaf and dumb children. At the request of clergymen of every denomination, I introduced a constitutional amendment exempting church property from taxation. I am the author of the bills making it a felony for men to live off the earnings of poor, unfortunate and fallen women, and the author of the bill to make it a felony for any miscreant to make it possible for a woman to be in that position. I, the candidate of the vice master, of the dive keepers and the brothel! What an infamous—what an infamous charge!

The normal school in San Francisco, I fought for. I could show you telegrams and letters from men and women throughout this State—which would not be becoming to me, because it would look as though I was getting conceited or something of that kind, but I repeat that every measure, I don't care by whom it was presented—if it was constructive moral legislation, I voted for it. I voted to raise the age of consent, and I had some doubts about it when it was presented; but I prefer to err on the right side, and I voted for it. And there is only one bill—let them search through the archives of this State for any law affecting the morals of the State of California—but there is one bill that I can recall to my memory, only one bill of which it might be said that I was on the wrong side, if you consider it a bill involving morals, and that was the racetrack bill, and how they have hunted that out from that day to this how they have attacked me, because I refused, with one fell swoop, to close up the racetracks that had been recognized for years as legitimate and as representing large investments in California, and drive hundreds of people out of employment; because I favored regulating them in such a way that they could run only for a limited period, etc., etc. But nevertheless, it is true; it is true I voted against the racetrack bill. Is that a crime? Does that warrant a man saying that I am a representative of the dive keepers and of the brothels? Why, they know that is false, they know it is false. They thought they could kill me off by that kind of an attack, and they have failed.

I admit I was not always on the right side—of course not. I did not see the light as quickly as some people did. I voted against the initiative and the referendum. But they say—the gentlemen whom I have named said that I tried my best to defeat the direct primary law in California; and that has been sown broadcast. Let me tell you the history of that. I was a member of the convention and of the Committee on Platform and Resolutions that wrote into the Republican platform the plank declaring in favor of a direct primary. I pledged myself to my constituents that I would support a direct primary law, and it passed; it was adopted and the Legislature passed it. We were confronted with this situation: A bill had been prepared by some two or three gentlemen and it was offered, and the man who dared offer an amendment to that bill, whether he changed the cross of a "t" or the dot of an "i"—the man who dared offer an amendment to that bill was denounced as an enemy to the direct primary, and as the representative of the corrupt interests of the State of California. I made my fight for my amendments, right in that seat where sits Senator Thompson; I made it, because I had a right to make it, and the character of one of the amendments that I wanted was to insure to a man who was a candidate of his party, that he had at least the vote of a sufficient percentage of that party to make it possible for him to win out on election day. Well, we made our fight, we were defeated. They defeated us; 27 to 13, I believe, was the vote, and the moment that fight was over, I turned to the people in charge of the direct primary and said: "I have made my fight and lost; do with me as you will; I will take your program. I will vote for this bill, and I will help you pass it." And there was a conflict between the two houses, and it was necessary to appoint a Committee on Free Conference. I was, if I remember right, the chairman of that committee, or at least I was a member of that Committee on Free Conference. Now, Mr. President, you are familiar, and so are you, gentlemen, with the rules—that the report of the Committee on Free Conference is final. They can write everything into the bill that they want; they could write a new bill. Had I been what they have charged me with being, I would have insisted on writing into that bill those amendments for which I fought upon the floor of the Senate; but I did not. I had given my word, and we made a fight for it, and the bill was reported back and it was passed, and it became a law. And yet, it is said of me that I was the enemy of the direct primary—that I did my best to bring about its defeat.

And that is the character of the accusations that have been made.

I was against the recall—yes, sure, I was against the recall. Strange to say, I was one of its beneficiaries, if I may use that term. I was not opposed to the recall in its entirety. I asked them to divide it, so we might vote upon the question of judges; then, I would vote for the rest of it. But they would not have it, and so I opposed the recall and the initiative and the referendum; but I opposed them because I had not seen the light, because I had not understood their importance to the people of this State, because I stood by the platform of my party, and because, further, there was no active Republican fight being made for those things. Mr. President, they are the laws of this State today, and I know them to be good laws. But they are at best experimental, and there is no man that can clothe himself or hedge himself around with divinity and say that those laws, as good as they are, are necessarily a panacea for all our political evils. In the final analysis, good government, after all, is that which brings happiness and prosperity to the people, and employment to labor. And I am coming to the conclusion of my talk, Mr. President, when I speak of labor.

It is said in these papers that I was the hireling of the railroad. I have stood by labor through all of the sixteen years that I was in this Senate, and I ask you this question: Can a man serve two masters, Could a man be the hireling and the tool of the corporations, and at the same time be the loyal and constant and sincere friend of labor? That is why I had the support in my fight of 1912 of labor men like Andrew Furuseth,—and who will say a word against him? That is why he spoke at my meeting, and that is why Mr. Andrew Gallagher signed my circular that was sent out, because they knew they could trust me; and here, in this screed that is sent all over this State by some one, it is said that I am pretending to be a friend of labor and seeking to get into office on their backs.

Mr. President, I have taken up a great deal of your time, and of your patience—much longer than I had intended to—but I felt that I was justified in reviewing this situation, to show you the kind of fight that has been made against me, and what was behind that kind of a fight; and then to compare, if I was permitted to do it, my record upon the floor of the Senate of the State of California, with the accusations and the charges that have been made against me. I am a married man, happily married,—married going on to thirty-two years; have a daughter that is the apple of my eye, married also. We live together. I live in a pure and a clean and a refined atmosphere. They have had to read these things that this kind of men have sent out through this State; they have had to read these charges and these facts. And I tell you, Mr. President, the man who wouldn't rise and defend himself under these circumstances would be a man worthy of the contempt of all people. I am here in this Senate today, and I want you to know my position. I recognize the change that has come in this State, and I tell you frankly that I wouldn't go back if I could. I recognize the high character of this administration, and I am not here in opposition to this administration, excepting, it may be, as to one or perhaps two measures. I recognize that the people have spoken in California; that the men in control have the right to control; that they have a right to frame and to father the bills which they stood for before the people of this State; because I believe in the voice of the people. I am going to support that class of legislation, without sacrificing my Republicanism, and yet without being able to call myself a Progressive, but I am not here in the spirit of fighting the things that I fought for before; for the people have decided in a manner adversely to me, and their judgment is my judgment. I am on the floor of this Senate as you are, trying to do that which is right for the people of California, and hoping that the time may come when this kind of rancor and this kind of bitterness and these kinds of animosities may disappear from the earth forever; when men may recognize the right of others to advocate their own ideas, and to give them credit for honesty of purpose; when kindliness and good will may prevail instead of the kind of situation that I have had to refer to in my remarks today. (Great applause.)

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Benson arose to a question of personal privilege and addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT: I feel that the majority of us would rather that Senator Wolfe had seen fit to have followed his first inclination to have let this matter rest where this body in its judicial determination decided that it should be. As the Senator has said, this body has given him his full meed of legal right; they have listened to the testimony in the contest case and they have granted him his seat, and it would have been pleasanter to all of us if the incident might there have closed. If it were so closed, then we might have gone along, and might have made our records from that time forth, and not have had to delve into the past, to have picked up old rancors. It would seem that a man might be big enough, if not to be a good loser, at least to be a good winner. It would seem that after the record is made, and after the final judgment is entered, that then the matter might have stood at rest and that we might have gone on attending to the business of the State of California. Particularly it appeals to those of us who at the present time are turning our eyes and our hearts with affection and enthusiasm toward the city of San Francisco in the great undertaking which San Francisco has on now. There is a sympathy throughout the State of California that those people from San Francisco do not realize. They have never been able to grasp the sentiment of the people of the State of California outside of San Francisco toward the city of San Francisco. They can not understand the love and affection which we have for our metropolis, the interest which we have in her material welfare, and the interest which we claim we have a right to evince in her moral welfare,—for, after all, the city of San Francisco is not a Chinese city with a wall around it; it is the heart of the great State of California. To the city of San Francisco we send our sons and our daughters. To the city of San Francisco we direct our choicest and our highest ambitions. There we go to transact our most important business. It is our city, and we have a right to raise our voices against the things that we protest against, that are taking place in that city.

I haven't the power to look into the heart of Senator Wolfe and see what motives animated him. I haven't the power to look into all the details of the campaign that resulted in his elevation to the position which he holds now; but sweeping aside all of the subtle eloquence with which he has treated you, this fact stands out clearly; there was but one issue in the recall election at which he succeeded Senator Grant, and that was the issue of vice against decency. Whether Senator Wolfe was responsible for that or not, I have no way of knowing. He says he is not, and so far, the record is with him. But the situation was there, and he took advantage of that situation. Senator Grant was recalled because he stood for the Red Light Abatement bill, and let not all this subtlety give you any impression that any other condition prevailed. Was there any other reason why the people of San Francisco rose up against Senator Grant? You men who come here representing labor, you men who are here because the laboring people have sent you here, what objection did you have to the record of Senator Grant? In the last session, I stood upon this floor, fighting the battles of labor, not because you gentlemen were for labor, not because there were labor people in my vicinity; there are more people that are against labor than there are labor people there; but because I thought these votes were right. I went to the bat on labor propositions and I put myself out of sympathy with these men who were naturally friends of mine, who couldn't understand my viewpoint. But in every fight where I went to the bat in the interests of labor, Senator Grant was fighting by my side. His labor record was clean and straight. Why are you gentlemen sitting here in the attitude of opposition to Senator Grant? Is it because he did anything wrong for labor? No; it is because you disagree with his stand upon the Red Light Abatement bill, and that is the reason that Senator Grant was recalled, and that is the reason that Senator Wolfe occupies his seat today. That may not have the subtlety that he affords to it; I am not going to appeal to your religions. I have no tremulous talk to make about my family or things of that kind, but there is the fact, and you can't get away from it.

I know Franklin Hichborn, and I stand here performing this unpleasant duty, because I do know him; I have known him since he came from school, a stripling, and here he is now, a gray haired man. I have known every public action of his. Sometimes I have disagreed with him; sometimes we have not been in political accord; but always, Franklin Hichborn has aimed to be right. Whenever there was a battle in my county, when it took strength and courage, Franklin Hichborn was on the firing line. We have done some things in our county for which we are proud. We have cured some conditions down there, and there isn't a milestone along the path of progress there that you can't find upon it the mark of Franklin Hichborn. He has done great things for the State of California. He has fought his fight honestly and earnestly; he has gone on the firing line when it was hard to be there; he has battled with his back against the wall, and I would be less than a man, knowing Franklin Hichborn as I do, if I stood here, even braving the experienced skill of Senator Wolfe, and declined to say these things of him which I know.

Why is Franklin Hichborn picked out as the one person against whom these attacks were made? Was Franklin Hichborn the whole publicity of the State of California? Let me illustrate the subtlety with which all of this was showered upon one man. Senator Wolfe read an article, and I am going to read it again—as he read it, he can't take any offense.

> It is difficult to believe that a decent man could be induced to accept a recall nomination in opposition to Grant. Almost every decent man has a wife, or a mother, a sister or children. The man who opposes Grant can not escape the charge that he is the candidate of the vice masters, the prostitutes and the dive keepers. The man who cares for his good name, for the happiness of his family, will be slow to accept the consequence of such a candidacy.

You heard those words read, and you thought that Franklin Hichborn used those words; you thought that that was an attack on Senator Wolfe, after he became a candidate. That is an editorial from the San Francisco Morning Call of August 21, 1913, before Senator Wolfe became a candidate. Let me read you what some of the citizens of San Francisco said before Senator Wolfe became a candidate.

(Senator Benson read from the San Francisco Chronicle beginning: "A petition containing the requisite number of names," and ending about some "school book bill," and further on, the Chronicle submits: "Such a performance * * * is possible" * * * and ending "by such a performance.")

Every paper in San Francisco declared what the purpose of this recall election was before Senator Wolfe saw fit to get into the fight. The issue was made before he got in there. I am not saying that he started this thing. I do not even charge him with planning it. I charge that the people that were against the red light law started this recall battle, and whether Senator Wolfe got in at their request, or whether in some other way he got in, I know not; but nevertheless, he took advantage of that situation, and it was in order to punish Senator Grant for standing for the Red Light Abatement bill that Senator Grant was recalled and Senator Wolfe took his place. It matters not in this discussion, whether the Red Light Abatement bill is a good bill or not. The important fact is that Senator Grant believed it was a good bill. There is no one in San Francisco that doubts that Senator Grant voted for that bill honestly and conscientiously. They did not have the courage and the manhood to put on their recall petition: "We petition to recall Senator Grant because he voted for the Red Light Abatement bill." No! With slinking cowardice, they put upon their petition that they were going to recall him because he voted for some marriage bill, a bill requiring five days' notice before a marriage could be performed. How many of you gentlemen know whether you voted for that bill or not? It was a bill absolutely of no importance and attracted no attention before the people of this State. He voted for some bill in regard to school books—some bill that most of you gentlemen could not identify to save your necks, and nobody in San Francisco cared one whoop about! They said that he voted for a bill preventing bars at the exposition at San Francisco. There are no bars at the exposition at San Francisco now, and I don't notice the people of San Francisco rising in their holy wrath about it. They are perfectly satisfied with the situation; and it is true that liquor is served with meals at the exposition. And these bills that Senator Grant voted for—it is a cowardly subterfuge, and everybody in the State of California knows it was not the reason. There was only one reason for his recall, and that was the Red Light Abatement bill. I grant you that there are no dives in the district represented by Senator Wolfe. I know nothing about it, but I take Senator Wolfe's statement that there are no dives kept there. But it is not the dive keeper, particularly, that is hurt by the Red Light Abatement bill. It is the sleek individual that lives in the big house on the hill that is hurt; the man that owns the real estate, the merchant prince that sells the silks and satins that cover the shame of these unfortunate women. It is the capitalist that is hurt by the Red Light Abatement bill, and the fact that the capitalist lives in that district is no argument that the element that was back of Senator Grant's defeat was not that Red Light Abatement bill.

I say that a blot has been placed upon the State of California by the recall of Senator Grant; that Senator Grant stood for a thing that he believed was right, and that a majority of 50,000 people of the State of California believed was right. He stood up and fought manfully, in the face of threats and menaces, and then he was defeated by subterfuge, by a small portion of the city of San Francisco. I would like to have forgotten that. I wish that the State had been allowed to forget it. I wish that this incident never had taken place, that we might at once have turned our whole attention to the great undertaking that San Francisco has on now. Whatever satisfaction the Senator from the Nineteenth District may have achieved by reason of standing here and directing his attack at Franklin Hichborn, and, subtly, at Senator Grant, it seems to me he might well have foregone in the interest of patriotism, and for that love of State which should be engendered, not for San Francisco as a little isolated community; not for this community or for that, but for our whole State of California. We were willing to forget it; we were willing to grasp his hand in friendship; we were willing to go on working with him for the best interests of the State of California. And he, in order to have a field day, in order that these men may stand here and chuckle over his subtleties and his jokes, in order that he may get into the lime light, in order that he may be heralded in the press tomorrow morning, in order that the flaying which Franklin Hichborn and Senator Grant have got may be chortled over in every bar and brothel in San Francisco tomorrow morning, he is willing to do this thing; and I say that it has been unfair to the State, unfair to the city of San Francisco that the thing should have been allowed today, and that it would be better if we would wash it from our memories, forget the incident and go on about our duties attending to the business of the State of California. (Great applause.)

At two o'clock p.m. the Senate reconvened. Lieutenant Governor John M. Eshleman, President of the Senate, in the chair.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Chandler arose to a question of personal privilege and addressed the Senate as follows:

Mr. President: I had not expected to speak on this question until it came up today, but I feel, owing to the conditions, that it is proper that I should. I have been a member of the Legislature for six sessions beside this. There is just one other person in this Legislature that has served longer than I have, and that is the Senator from San Francisco—Senator Wolfe. I was a member of the Legislature when the Senate was organized in the lobby of the Capital Hotel, all the way from two days to two weeks before the Legislature met. The Legislature was organized by representatives of the larger interests, represented in most instances by Walter Parker. I was a member of the Legislature of 1905 when a United States Senator was to be elected to succeed Senator Bard. At that session the Speaker of the house, as is customary, asked each member to name the committees on which he would like to serve, and I, with others, passed in my list. I never had met the gentleman until I was introduced to him by another member, and I stated to him if, in looking over the lists, he should find committees on which he thought I could serve better than on the others that I had named, to put me on them; that I had come to the Legislature to work. He said he liked to hear a man talk that way, "but," he said, "I will tell you, gentlemen, I have got to see somebody else." He said: "They came to me first, and now I have got to go to them." I didn't know who he meant by "them"; he did not tell me. But I know that the man who was elected Speaker was instructed by his constituents—a member of those constituents is on the floor of this Senate today—and when his constituency instructed him to vote for Senator Bard for United States Senator, he said to them: "So I am informed," and that it was not necessary for them to instruct him to vote for Senator Bard. He said: "I am a Bard man." At that time, he had not evidently aspired to be Speaker of the Assembly. He was made the Speaker of the Assembly, and he voted for Senator Flint. It was after that that I suggested to him that I be put on certain committees, and he said he would have to go to others. I have been a member of the Legislature when some of us did not get very much legislation. I was a member of one session of the Legislature when another gentleman on this floor did not get a single bill through the Legislature; and the reason was because he did not train with the crowd that controlled the Legislature. In 1910 there was a change; there was an uprising; there was practically a revolt. The Legislature of 1907 was so bad that those that were in control, themselves, had to admit that they had gone too far. One of the measures that is impressed on my memory the strongest, because it was a day of the greatest tension under which I ever remember having been—and that was the day on which we took the final vote on the capital removal bill. It was over in Red Men's Hall. It required a two-thirds vote of both houses to pass the resolution to move the capital from Sacramento to Berkeley. I never knew just why those people who were in control of the Legislature at that time wanted to move the capital to Berkeley. We have a fine building here, we have fine grounds. Perhaps if we located the capital again, we might not locate it in Sacramento, but we have property here that it would take ten millions of dollars, in a rough statement, to duplicate, and yet, by a two-thirds vote of the Legislature of 1907 voted to remove the capital from Sacramento to Berkeley. The only reason that I know of that might have influenced those that controlled the Legislature at that time was one of two things. In the election preceding, Sacramento County had given a majority to Bell, and they wanted to punish Sacramento for not supporting Mr. Gillett, or else they wanted to convince the Legislature that they absolutely owned it, and they convinced the Legislature that they did own it; because, as I say, it took two thirds of both houses to pass that resolution, and it was passed and put up to the people, and the people defeated it. During the debate on capital removal I was under the greatest tension that I ever remember of passing through in my life. I see several faces here of those that were members of the Legislature at that time. There were perhaps one hundred messages delivered to the members during the day. One of the members—and the gentleman who told me that is here today, but he is not a member of either house—made a little talk and he said he intended to support the measure. He said: "I am against it; I don't believe it ought to pass, but I am going to support it because my constituents are sending me telegrams that they want me to support it." The same gentleman told me afterwards that in conversation with his constituents he was informed that they never had sent him any telegrams; and yet he had been receiving telegrams that day to vote for this measure—presumably telegrams—as it turned out afterwards that they were fake telegrams. Somebody had written them on the blanks of the Western Union and sent them to him to support this measure, and he told me that his constituents informed him afterwards that they had sent no such telegrams. I recite this to show you the pressure that was brought to bear on the members of the Legislature on that day; and, when I went out at the end of that day's session. I almost collapsed. The air was full of it. There were at least one hundred messages delivered.

As I started to say, early in 1910 there was a revolt. Things had gone too far. Then our present Governor came out as a candidate for the nomination; he was nominated and elected. During the session of 1911, we passed twenty-two constitutional amendments practically revolutionizing the constitution of this State, and the people adopted every one of them. Some of the men in my vicinity asked me what I thought of certain constitutional amendments to be voted upon in the fall of 1911, when there was a special election called to vote on them; I usually told them what I thought of them—always did, in fact—and, in a great many instances, their reply would be something like this: "I don't know very much about these. I haven't had the opportunity to familiarize myself with them, but I have got confidence in the administration, and the administration has approved them, and I am going to support them"; showing that the people at that time had confidence in the administration.

During the session of 1913, there were other important measures passed, and at the election last fall the people of the State endorsed the administrations of 1911 and 1913 by a vote of more than 180,000 plurality, a vote that was unprecedented and undreamed of until the ballots were counted.

Prior to this session of the Legislature, there was a recall election held in the Nineteenth Senatorial District in San Francisco. I have a copy of the petition for that recall, and it reads something like this:

> "The removal of Edwin E. Grant from said office is sought by us on the grounds, to wit: That as a member of the California Legislature since January 6th, 1913, he has voted against the wishes of his constituents." Now, that was the day that the Legislature met—January 6, 1913—and it says: Since that day, "he has voted against the wishes of his constituents."

Now, I construe that to mean that every vote that Senator Grant took during that time was against the wishes of his constituents. Further along in the document, it states: "That on April 17, 1913, he voted for Senate Bill No. 384, known as the 'Dry Fair Bill'," which proposed to keep saloons out of the Fair. "That on April 14 1913 he voted against Senate Bill No. 534. This bill provides that no marriage shall be solemnized until at least five days after issuance of license unless in an extraordinary or emergency case." Then farther on: "That on April 9, 1913, he voted against Senate Bill No. 1307. This bill provided that school books compiled, printed and published in California, when equally as good and at the same or less cost, shall be used to the exclusion of all others."

In the time that I have had to look up the measures that were voted on during the session of 1913, I find such measures as these: "The Red Light bill"; "Workman's Compensation"; "Weights and Measures"; "Immigration and Housing"; "Eight Hours for Women"; "Closing of Saloons from two to six a.m."; "Alien Land Act"; "Full Crew Act"; "Minimum Wages for Women"; all of these measures, Senator Grant voted for. Some of the other important measures I have been unable to look up, such as the "Blue Sky Law," and several others, and they say in this petition that in voting for these measures, Senator Grant has misrepresented them.

You will remember that in 1911 there was quite an effort—a successful effort—to secure for San Francisco the place of holding an international exposition. From all over the State an appeal was made to have it held in San Francisco. I presume that Senatorial District Nineteen was included with those making that appeal. I assume from the nature of that recall, that we had a right to believe that they opposed all of the measures that I have mentioned, and that they would rather they would not have been enacted.

Now, if I have drawn a wrong conclusion, I leave it to you to decide for yourselves. I had concluded from the fact that he had, as they say, misrepresented them since the Legislature met, that all of these bills for which he voted they disapproved.

Now, I assume by that, that when they invited not only the people of the State of California, but all the world to San Francisco they construed it in this way: that when you and I brought our wives and daughters to San Francisco, we would enjoy it better if we had a wide open town, if prostitution and the saloons were running right and left; that a man could not go to San Francisco and enjoy the Fair if he was prevented from going into a saloon after two o'clock in the morning; that he could not enjoy himself next day if he did not have access to the saloons during the full twenty-four hours; that he could enjoy himself best next day by being in the saloon from two to six in the morning; and because Senator Grant voted to close the saloons between those hours, I presume that Senatorial District Nineteen was opposed to such closing; I assume that everything that he supported they were opposed to. I think the man representing that Senatorial District had a right to say, as he had been instructed by the votes of his people, that he would oppose all such legislation as I have just referred to. I assume that Senatorial District Nineteen would recall every man in this body and in the other branch of the Legislature that voted for such measures as I have just read, if they had the opportunity, because they recalled their own Senator for so doing. I assume that they have thus set the standard of manhood and womanhood for which Senatorial District Nineteen stands, by recalling a man who dared to get up and vote for clean measures.

I arose to make these remarks because I felt that it was a slur on the Legislature, and I personally feel grieved that we have a senatorial district in this State that will recall a man for standing by the measures that Senator Grant voted for. I have nothing to say abort Senator Grant personally, nor nothing to say for or against the man who succeeded him; but I do say that by that vote they have said to the balance of us: "We prefer that you would not enact any more legislation of that character."

Now, Senator Grant was recalled by a substantial majority. The same question, under what was known as the administration measure, was adopted by the State of California by 180,000 plurality; and I can not believe that the people of Senatorial District Nineteen stand for the things that they have instructed others by their votes not to stand for. I can not believe that those people condemn a man for voting for such measures as the "Eight Hour Law for Women"; the "Full Crew Act"; "Alien Land Act"; "Minimum Wage for Women," and many other such Francisco in 1911—that no state in the Union had enacted so much legislation measures. I do not wish to throw any bouquets at the last administration, but I have been proud of it. There has been no administration in my judgment in any state in the Union that has accomplished as much for the average man and the average woman as this State has accomplished in the last four years. One of the great men of this Nation—Theodore Roosevelt—made the statement in San Francisco in 1911: "that no state in the Union had enacted so much legislation and had made such great strides toward cleaner and better politics than had California during the session of the Legislature of 1911.

I wish to digress for a moment, as long as I have the floor, to say that in this reaction which has taken place since the year 1910, if we are not careful, we are going to go too far the other way. There is some danger of the pendulum swinging too far back and thereby injuring legitimate business.

In conclusion, I want to say this: If Senatorial District Nineteen recalled Senator Grant for the reason for which it states it did recall him, thereby setting its standard of manhood and womanhood, God pity the district.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Ballard arose to a question of personal privilege and addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT, when Senator Wolfe notified the Senate during our first session that he would on this day rise to a question of privilege, I questioned his judgment. I thought then that, having been seated by a committee, by their unanimous verdict, as a member of this august body and acquitted in their eyes and in the eyes of the Senate, it was best to let the matter rest at that point. From his exposition today, I feel that his position at that time was well taken, and I am glad that he had the opportunity and the goodness to tell the Senate and the spectators—some of whom perhaps are his constituents—what his position was and why he arose to that question of privilege.

I think it would have been better far to have closed this debate with his statement, and if there was any error in judgment in regard to this matter, it was on the part of Senator Benson and Senator Chandler. What matters it whether this administration is, par excellence, superior to any that ever convened in the State of California, upon this question of privilege? If Senator Chandler's argument is worth anything at all, it is a concrete example of the viciousness of the recall which I never endorsed, and so help me God, I never will unless I am made over. If Senator Grant was a man,—and we concede it,—perhaps above reproach, like Cæsar's wife, he never would have been ousted from his office if it had not been for the recall privilege of the people of the State of California, but that has nothing to do with this. Here was a Senator of the State of California accused of being a vice promoter. Just think of it, gentlemen: The advocate of the underworld, guilty of fraud and doing that which, if it were true, you nor I would not sit in the same seat with him in the halls of this Legislature. The immortal bard has well said and truthfully said that "He who steals my purse steals trash; but he who robs me of my good name, enriches not himself, but leaves me poor indeed." Every Senator here within the sound of my voice and every citizen in the State of California had rather have his name unsullied than to have all the riches of Midas. When you clothe a man with honor and uprighteousness, with truth, veracity and correct procedure, his raiment shines far greater and brighter than all the purple and fine linen worn by the idle rich, the courtesan or the gambler. Give me the man that can stand before the Senate and say he is not the advocate of the underworld or a vice promoter, and if I am convinced of the truth of his statement, I care not how he voted on the woman's suffrage question or anything else, if I am satisfied that he acted from conscientious and pure motives, according to his education and belief, he is my brother Senator, and I extend to him the right hand of fellowship.

It was the Senator's duty, and I was pleased to hear his statement today exculpating himself in the eyes of his wife and his daughter who love him with perhaps as great intensity as a wife or daughter of you or I. What would they think of him if he sat still in his chair in this Senate with all of these accusations unanswered? If he did not make a statement and make himself clear before his little family and the people who elected him? I do not come to his rescue; he has made his own rescue, and it needs not any words from me to add to what he has said. I do not come to his rescue, because he and I stand here among you forty Senators as the only exponents of the old time Republican doctrines. It makes no difference to me, gentlemen, what measures come up during this session of 1915, whether they are administrative measures or otherwise, they will receive my support and vote if I believe they are proper and necessary. That is the kind of reactionary I am. I am not wedded to my idol, the old time idol. Senator Chandler said that at one time there was a revolt. Revolution is going on throughout the broad enlightened world. It is not alone in California. The old days are gradually passing away and being dissipated by experience. It is true, in California there are some people that might say that by kicking out the old machine, they kicked in another one. It does not make any difference to me whether one is true or the other, we are all here to do our duty as God gave us intelligence to do it, and that is our intention and purpose. So I say that Senator Wolfe is entitled to that courtesy and kindness that his exoneration entitles him to. He has not spoken and I give him credit for not saying one word against Senator Grant, and probably no Senator here had anything against him. They are willing to accord him that probity of character as a legislator and a citizen that he was entitled to. Senator Wolfe never alluded to him excepting in the kindest terms. His only purpose was to show to you and I, which I think he did successfully, manfully and rightfully, that so far as he was concerned at any time in all of these proceedings, he was faultless and blameless, and he only pointed out the fact that there were those who falsely, maliciously I believe, accused him without any foundation; that it makes no difference whether those accusations come from friends of Senator Benson or otherwise, whether he believed them to be responsible, and if they made those accusations in good faith and honestly, they were false, and that is the crucial test.

Senator Wolfe has my reverence and my thanks for putting me straight in this matter and I believe that the general run of Senators here will accord him the right hand of fellowship and say: "You are standing here among forty Senators clothed in honesty and uprightness just the same as each and any of us." (Applause.)

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Luce arose to a question of personal privilege and addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT: As a new member of this Senate, I have been trying to determine in my own mind why the Senator from San Francisco raised this question at this time, and what he expected to accomplish by it. I had not supposed that it was the custom for Senators to come here to this body after their election and hold post-mortems over their campaigns, or to rehearse their speeches for the coming campaign. If I had thought that was the custom, I should have been glad to have brought with me a little pile of clippings that I have saved for about seven years, clipped from the reactionary Republican newspapers in my district. What they said about me for several years was very similar to what was said about Senator Wolfe; but I adopted the course that seemed to me to be open, and that was to force them to make a retraction; and I wrote my own retraction for the paper, and the matter was settled.

Now, it seems to me that we have no interest, and this Senate has no interest in the little newspaper fights with these legislators during their campaigns; and I would suggest to Senator Wolfe that he take his fight to his own home papers in San Francisco, as they understand the situation, and that he force them to make a retraction if their statements are at fault, as he claims they are. From hearing his speech, we would be entitled to suppose that all of these charges were the outgrowth of a conspiracy on the part of Mr. Franklin Hichborn; that he put them before the public, and that he is the person who is responsible. Now, I have come from another section of the State, and I am not very familiar with the political complexion of San Francisco or of this particular contest; and all the knowledge we could gain is what we obtained from the San Francisco newspapers. And while we are able, sometimes, to determine which side we should follow by reading certain newspapers, when we find every newspaper in the city of San Francisco agreeing on a proposition, we should generally conclude that they knew what they were talking about. So it seems to me that it is of interest at this time to see just what the papers in San Francisco thought about this contest. In the first place, Senator Wolfe read an extract this morning from the San Francisco Call, and which was quoted again by Senator Benson—the San Francisco Morning Call of August 21, 1913; and, while I have followed the San Francisco Call to some extent in its ups and downs, I am unable to say at this particular time what political policy it is following. But there was an article on the recall election in the San Francisco Chronicle, and we can not say that the San Francisco Chronicle ever gave Senator Wolfe the worst of it. My recollection of politics in San Francisco is that it has been his champion at all times, and it stated, as was quoted by Senator Benson this morning, that such a recall was a shame and a wrong—the attempt to recall Senator Grant—and it said, facetiously, which may be a little comfort to some of my reactionary friends, that, "as there were in the neighborhood of four thousand bills before the 'freak' Legislature, of which two thousand probably came to a vote in the Senate, it may be assumed that Senator Grant voted in accordance with the wishes of his constituents on nineteen hundred and ninety seven bills, more or less, but should be recalled because he guessed wrong three times."

I do not suppose it would be of any interest to read an editorial from the San Francisco Bulletin of July 16, 1914, because we assume that that paper has consistently taken a course in opposition to Senator Wolfe. The San Francisco Daily News has an editorial in which it says:

> "Wouldn't you have thought that Eddie Wolfe, since his old railroad lobby stronghold was wrecked, and his old comrades in arms were scattered to the winds, would have had enough? Well, if reports are true, he hasn't. It is freely stated that Wolfe is really the man behind the attempted recall of State Senator E. E. Grant, which the powers of the Tenderloin are straining every nerve to accomplish. Should Grant be denied an injunction, sought in the superior court to prevent the recall election set for October eighth, it is stated Wolfe will prove to be the real candidate against him."

Now, that was September 5, 1914, before the Senator had announced his candidacy. And it goes on with more in that same editorial. We have a statement of citizens published in the San Francisco Examiner and the Examiner can not be said to be in sympathy with the present administration. The San Francisco Examiner says in an editorial of October 7, 1914:

> There is no concealment of the purpose of the recall movement. There is no charge against Senator Grant. He is to be recalled because he stood sponsor in the late Legislature for the so-called Redlight Abatement Law—an act for the suppression of houses of ill fame. As this reason would not look very convincing in print, the men behind the recall omit it in their statement on the ballot, and put as their reasons for recalling Senator Grant that he voted for legislation against the liquor traffic, and was willing that children should have the privilege of getting school books that were not written by Californians. Of course, no respectable body of California voters would think for a moment of recalling any official on such grounds. But there is a very great danger that most voters will stay away from the polls, and leave the election to be decided by the dive keepers and their parasites.

Now, that is not a statement of Mr. Franklin Hichborn; that is not a statement from any of the rest of us in the State of California, but it is a statement of the San Francisco Examiner, in San Francisco.

> "San Francisco can not afford to have such a splash of mud put on the city's reputation. The decent men and women of the Nineteenth Senatorial District owe it to their city to spare enough time from their private business to go to the polls on Thursday and smash this conspiracy of the city's dregs."

Now, Mr. President and fellow Senators, it seems to me that Senator Wolfe should commence at home; that he should start in on these newspapers, if they have libeled him and maligned him, and the courts are open to him to make them retract those things. We have thrown no mud at San Francisco, but if there is any mud that has been thrown, it has been thrown by every newspaper in the city of San Francisco, and they have in effect said that if Senator Grant were recalled, it would be a disgrace on the city of San Francisco.

Now, the Senator has stated that he did not tell the people of San Francisco that those statements in the recall petition were sufficient to justify a recall, but he left it to them. But when the Senator took the field against Senator Grant, he tacitly approved of every one of those charges in the recall petition, and he put himself in the position of being sponsor for the recall movement. If Senator Grant had done his duty, and had represented his constituents, why should the Senator take the field against him? And he places himself in the position of absolutely approving of the recall charges and of the whole recall matter, when he takes the stand against Senator Grant. And if the Senator is loyal to his own city, why does he take the field against a man who has been loyal to his own city? So he can not avoid the responsibility of this thing by merely saying that he did not approve, or that he did not tell the people of his district that he approved of those recall charges. Now, I am not going to say anything against this district for having recalled its representative. It has a perfect right to do that; and I wish to say that I am as much in favor of the recall now as I ever have been, and, perhaps, more so; and if the people of the Nineteenth Senatorial District were at the time offended with their representative, they had a perfect right to change their representative, and they did so, and with that we can not quarrel. But, as this has been made a State issue by the Senator, we have a right to express our disapproval of the views that were expressed by the people of that district, and we assume that he was recalled because he had voted for those splendid measures; and the rest of the people of this State should stand by Senator Grant in his attitude, whether the people of the Nineteenth Senatorial District do or not. The Senator from San Francisco would be surprised if he knew in what esteem the people of the State of California holds Senator Grant, and the fact that he has been recalled by his district detracts nothing at all from the splendid character and the splendid reputation that he made while here in this Senate.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Benedict arose to a question of personal privilege and addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT: A sense of fair play and justice impels me to say a word concerning the subject under discussion. During the entire course of Senator Wolfe's remarks, his entire attack was made on a man who has been sitting with us for years, not as a member of the house, but as one of the most valuable men that has ever served in any capacity in the legislative halls. I refer to Franklin Hichborn, who is beloved all over the State as a man, who has made the good fight, has fought it under adverse circumstances and against all odds. Why did not Senator Wolfe attack the Call, the Chronicle, the Examiner and the other papers of the State that do not agree with him? Why did he attack the man who has no opportunity to come upon this floor and reply, or to retaliate as a newspaper might? There is good reason why he did not attack the big journals, the big papers, but it is absolutely unfair that he should attack a man who is unable to take the floor, as he has done, and thus occupy an hour and fifteen minutes of the time of the Senate, discussing his own affairs. Franklin Hichborn, I consider one of the ablest men in the State, one of the most valuable men we have ever had. And, taking Senator Wolfe's own words, that he would not for a minute return to the old condition of affairs, Senator Wolfe must acknowledge that the work Franklin Hichborn did in his "Histories of the Legislatures," has accomplished more towards bringing about the new conditions than any other one agency in this State. While the fight was on, and it was not popular, he made plain the actions of those who were not acting in the interests of the State. It was largely due—I say, in quite a large measure due—to his activity that this revolt, this upheaval, to which Senator Chandler has referred, occurred in the State of California. And I say for Franklin Hichborn (and it may well be said of him upon the floor of the Senate today), to those who are opposed to what he has done and said heretofore, that he will go down in history beloved of all men, and all women of the State of California who believe in and love free government.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Brown arose to a question of personal privilege and addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT: It is indeed regrettable that the Senator from San Francisco deemed it necessary to parade before this body, in all of its gruesome details, an incident that can only reflect discredit upon the Nineteenth Senatorial District of the State of California. However, Mr. President, if this incident will serve to emphasize the efficient work of two of the most faithful servants that the State of California has ever possessed, it shall not have been in vain.

I know Senator Grant, and I know him well, and during the last session of this Legislature, in the struggle to rid this State of the prize fight game, Senator Grant came to my aid. Despite the violent protest of his district in San Francisco, he had the manhood and the courage and the caliber of a hero, and he came despite the great pressure that was brought to bear upon him.

Mr. President, persecution and crucifixion are the early reward of every reformer, and this reward has already been meted out to Senator Grant and to Franklin Hichborn. Mr. President, it has been my experience that whenever any moral legislation has been presented to this body which in any way affected San Francisco, there has been heard the old biblical wail: "Let us alone! Why hast thou come to torment us before our time?" Just as Senator Benson has pointed out, San Francisco is not the metropolis to San Francisco alone; it is our San Francisco. The entire State of California has a right to take an interest in its moral welfare and betterment, and we propose to do so. It was for engaging in this great work of uplifting the moral conditions of San Francisco that Senator Grant was punished, and went to his defeat.

It is the solemn duty of this Legislature to take an interest in the moral conditions of San Francisco, as in the moral conditions of every other city in the State; and it was in the performance of his duty that he went to defeat and punishment. What Senator Grant was trying to accomplish in the Senate, Franklin Hichborn was trying to accomplish outside the Senate; and how well they have succeeded, history now records. Franklin Hichborn, through his writings, has succeeded in awakening the political conscience of this State, and as a result of that awakening it has received a better, saner and cleaner condition of politics. And, Mr. President, I predict that when the roll of honor of California shall have been compiled, no brighter names shall be thereon inscribed than Senator Grant and Franklin Hichborn.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Jones arose to a question of personal privilege and addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT, AND MEMBERS OF THE SENATE, I would not be true to the district which I represent and of which Mr. Hichborn is a constituent—I would not be true to those principles of good citizenship which I have been taught to cherish, and I would not be true to the fundamental principles of Democracy, if I did not allude briefly to utterances that have been made this morning by the Senator from San Francisco. While his remarks were made under the guise of personal privilege, they are of a far deeper significance than any personal consideration. While they have dealt with personal matters, what he has said has to do, not with the personality of himself alone, not with the work of Senator Grant alone, not with the personality of Mr. Hichborn alone, but with the fundamental principles of the freedom of the press itself. As I have listened to the remarks that have been made with regard to the activity of the press in political campaigns, the activity of the attacks by the press upon the Senator from San Francisco, my mind has gone back to a similar instance of a newspaper man conducting a fight when the conditions were unfavorable. In my mind I have gone back to the early thirties when William Lloyd Garrison founded the Liberator in the city of Boston. He was criticized, he was maligned as probably no other man in this country has been because he had the nerve and the courage and the hardihood to oppose what was then the greatest entrenched system in the United States—a system having in its control the national government itself, and controlling all the wealth of the southern states of the Union. He was called an incendiary just as Mr. Hichborn, upon this floor was called, some time ago, a menace. William Lloyd Garrison was called an incendiary and a menace to the institutions of the country, was denounced, villified, and pursued by a mob; the building in which he lived was set afire; his shop was destroyed, he was arrested, he was tried and thrown into jail. This he suffered because he had the hardihood to speak the truth and to fight for an unpopular cause. And, Mr. President, it has always been true that whenever a man stands for political progress, social progress or moral progress, he is a menace to institutions. Mr. President, when Patrick Henry stood in the old Virginia Legislature and addressed that assemblage of Tory legislators, he was regarded as a menace. When Daniel O'Connell, greatest of Irish patriots, made his fight, he was denounced as a menace. Mazzini, who dreamed of a free and united Italy, was a menace. Louis Kossuth was a menace; Koscinsko, dear to the hearts of the Poles, was a menace. It is impossible for any man to stand for advancement, whether national, political, social or moral, without being a menace to entrenched and existing institutions. And, Mr. President, if the time shall come, if the time ever comes, that I can point personally to a small tithe of the work that has been performed by Mr. Hichborn, I personally shall be willing to be accounted a menace to some institutions that he has so long been fighting. To hear the denunciation that has been made of him, one would suppose that he was here as a hireling of great corporate wealth; that he was sent here not to fight for principles, but because he was paid. Now, he has been called a menace, Mr. President, and I am ready to concede that Mr. Hichborn, in this State, has been a menace. When the fight was on here a few sessions ago for an anti racetrack gambling bill to do away with the system that caused embezzlment, ruin and suicide to clerks and young men in our cities, Mr. Hichborn was a menace to that existing institution. When the fight was on in this Legislature and in the State of California for a system whereby the people of any given community could decide for themselves whether they wanted the liquor traffic to exist, Mr. Hichborn was a menace to the interests that opposed such democratic legislation. When the fight was on for judicial reform, reform in our procedure to make justice more workable, Mr. Hichborn was a menace to the institutions that were fighting that legislation; and when the great revolt was on in San Francisco, when the corruption was unearthed there which brought the blush of shame to the cheek of every true citizen of California, Mr. Hichborn was a menace to the political system existing in the city of San Francisco. And last night I saw upon the streets of Sacramento one of the saddest sights that it is possible to see. A young woman staggering with intoxication, a victim, doubtless, of the red light system—the system which Mr. Hichborn has been opposing. I would ask you, I would ask any member upon this floor, whether the sorrowing mother of that young woman, whether the broken hearted father of that girl regards Mr. Hichborn and his work as a menace to the good citizenship of the State of California? As I have said, to hear a newspaper man denounced because of his fearless attacks, as Franklin Hichborn has been, one would assume that he is sent here by great aggregations of wealth, that he was here fighting a popular cause, and that he was being immensely compensated. Mr. President, Mr. Hichborn lives in my district but a short way from my own home. I know the circumstances in which he lives. I do not think that I am divulging too much of a personal nature when I tell you that the system, that the interests which he has attacked have attempted to prevent him making a livelihood, have prevented or attempted to prevent him selling his books, have attempted to prevent him from procuring positions on newspapers when I tell you, gentlemen of the Senate, that Mr Hichborn has mortgaged his own home to carry out the fight that he has been conducting these many years in this State.

Mr. President, Mr. Hichborn has a son and three daughters, and I presume that there was no fairer dreams of the future for him than the welfare and education of those children. He is willing to sacrifice himself, but when a man is willing to jeopardize and sacrifice even his family for the sake of a principle, Mr. President, I have the highest honor and consideration for that sort of a man.

As I have listened to this denunciation of the press and of newspaper men here today, I could not help thinking of what is embodied in the constitution of the United States guaranteeing as one of the fundamental principles the liberty of the press. I could not help thinking of the Declaration of Independence wherein it is recited that the denial of that right was one of the causes of separation; I could not help thinking of the provisions in our own constitution forever guaranteeing the liberty of the press. And Mr. President, as I have sat here today, I have gazed upon the calm and placid countenance of Washington, whose picture adorns the front of this Senate, a name so dear to the heart of every American citizen, that we deem there is no page white enough upon which to print it. I have thought of his leading the Continental armies to the principles of liberty, freedom of speech and freedom of the press and as this right was attacked, as the freedom of the press has been jeopardized, Mr. President, in my imagination I thought that I could see a scowl come across that placid countenance and those pictured lips burst forth in rebuke at the sentiments that have been uttered here today. And Mr. President, I could not help thinking also that the Senator from San Francisco comes from a district, if I am correctly informed, where lie the ashes of the old "Grey Eagle of Liberty," Edward Dickerson Baker, beloved by all early Californians. I could not help thinking as I listened to the sentiments expressed today by a representative of San Francisco, how different they were from the remarks of United States Senator Edward Dickerson Baker in reply to Senator Breckenridge, when Senator Breckenridge demanded that the press of the north be curbed in order that slavery might not be jeopardized. I have here, Mr. President, an extract from his remarks, one of the most splendid tributes to the freedom of the press ever uttered:

> Sir, the liberty of the press is the highest safeguard of all free government. The violation of that right was one of the great causes that impelled us to the separation. Our government could not exist without it. It is with us, nay with all men, like a great exulting and abounding river. It is fed by the dews of heaven—it gushes from the rill, it breaks from the deep caverns of the earth. It is fed by a thousand affluents that dash from the mountain top. On its broad bosom it bears a thousand barks. There Genius spreads its purling sail. There Poetry dips its silver oar. There Art, Invention, Discovery, Science, Morality, Religion may safely and securely float. It wanders through every land. It is the genial, cordial source of thought and inspiration, wherever it touches, whatever it surrounds. Sir, upon its borders, there grows every flower of grace and every fruit of truth. I am not here to deny that that river sometimes overflows its banks—but I am here to say that without it, civilization, humanity, government, all that makes society itself, would disappear and the world would return to its ancient barbarism.
> We will not risk these consequences even for the Union itself.

Now, Mr. President, others of longer experience than myself in the affairs of the Legislature have told of the new order that has come into the political conditions of this State. It is not necessary for me to rehearse or recount them. Of all men who have had a part to do with that progress and certainly so far as newspapermen are concerned, there is no one to whom the State of California owes a greater debt of gratitude for having fought the valiant fight at the time when it was unpopular, than Mr. Hichborn.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Scott arose to a question of personal privilege and addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT: I did not intend to say anything on this subject until the replies to Senator Wolfe were commenced. After hearing my friend Hichborn lauded here today and the principle of the freedom of the press being imposed on, I had to take issue. I do not think that the Senator meant at all to interfere with the freedom of the press. He wanted to confine it to truthfulness; that is all. He would not have objected at all if it had stated the truth about him. What he objected to was the infamous misrepresentations they had made. I have not heard anybody on this floor today deny that he had been misrepresented in many instances. Now, the idea of complaining because he takes this opportunity of speaking to the multitude! Why, it is his only opportunity to speak. How can any man fight the press? How can any man defeat the pen of a man that speaks to thousands of people through the columns of the press every day? The press has every advantage over him, and in it takes an unfair advantage of him, he can not retaliate. Senator Wolfe took his opportunity as a question of personal privilege here today to reply, as his only recourse. The only mistake he made is that he did not follow the program. The same old program that they had in years gone by when perhaps we used to administer it. If he had taken the report of that committee and said nothing, everything would have gone along smoothly. But, no. He thought that he ought to reply to the manner in which he has been assailed here. I want to say that I have been in the political game for quite a long time and we have made some reform. Among those reforms was that famous Red Light bill. I voted for that bill, and I came from San Francisco, too; and I can say reforms along those lines have been made regardless of that bill. Many districts of the city have been cleaning up those conditions regardless of the bill. I can not see that anything has been done yet under the terms of that bill. The conditions were becoming better. These movements for reform have been going right along, regardless of the writings of Franklin Hichborn or any other particular individual. As a matter of fact, the people have been getting better, have been looking for better things. Why, as a matter of fact, Hichborn's books could not sell for enough to pay him for writing them. I have seen that statement many times; so it is not due to him particularly that these reforms have been made in California. It is a matter of these uplifts—the general uplifts—and looking onward and upward for a higher standard. We are all responsible for them. Now, as a matter of fact, the statements on that recall petition are not the real reason that Grant was recalled. The man that got that up told me personally that he was a political ingrate; that he did not make good his promises, and politics is politics just the same today as it was a few years ago. It is just the same today as it will be several years hence. If a man does not make good with his political managers, and they have in their hands the recall, they could very easily get enough signatures to put it before the people and perhaps recall him. Now, that is the real reason that this recall was started. I know the old gentleman, who started this recall. He is a cigar dealer on Fillmore street and he smarted under the treatment that Grant had given him. I do not know why Grant treated him that way, but I do know that the man did not like the treatment he received, and he started that thing. Now, Grant had a manager in the first campaign, and he had this fellow that was capable of successfully managing a recall petition. He did not have that manager when he came to the recall. He had lost his political supporter. He had to go out and make the battle alone, and he was not competent to get votes to retain his position. That is the reason he was recalled. It is not the sentiment of the people of the Nineteenth District, as my good friend, Senator Chandler, whom I honor highly, intimates, that they would not have thus acted without the legislation that had been passed by this administration, of which he was a part. These people are the best people of this State, no matter where they come from. We could criticize other citizens of this State. I have seen writings in various papers, in various cities, that anybody could criticize. I can mention those things here today, and it is not for anybody to point the finger of scorn at San Francisco, and particularly the Nineteenth Senatorial District. I hope that this thing will stop right here, but I do not believe it will. I believe that the power of the press, as it has done in the past, will keep this thing going. Do you mean to tell me that Franklin Hichborn will not write a story after this discussion here today? I should say not! He will have the last say every time, and I honor and I glory that my seat mate, Senator Wolfe, has taken this opportunity to reply to these things that have been said about him. I have known him for years. I have associated with him fraternally and politically, and I honor him, and I know that he is a highly respected man. And if he did not quite conform with our ideas of progress and government as it is today, he has been one of the stars—one of the bright shining stars—in this State for years, and I take it that we are not all so very righteous that we do not remember when we perhaps were in the old camp ourselves. I glory in him.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Irwin arose to a question of personal privilege and addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT: There have been enough that have taken part in these deliberations, but as we are a body of men, where every Senator is presumed to be the peer of every other Senator, where we are elected from our respective districts because the majority of the people in the district have seen fit to send us here. I want to say to you that so far as the Red Light Abatement bill is concerned, it did not take that act to put the red light district out of the State of California. I happened to be the district attorney of my little county for eight years, and I want to say to you that in every town and every city in that little county, the red light district prevailed, as it did in every other district, in the same proportion; but two years before the Red Light Abatement bill went into effect, I, as district attorney of that county, gave those people notice to leave that county, and from that day to this, there has not been a red light district in the county of Kings. I want to say further that I am heartily in favor of that red light bill. I am heartily in favor of woman's suffrage; and when a speaker of this State came to Hanford to speak upon the question of woman's suffrage there, I was the only man in Hanford that would go upon the platform and introduce him; but I want to say to you, without woman's suffrage, without the women's votes which redeemed the State, in our own little city of Hanford two years ago we had an election where the men voted. They voted that city dry by 234 votes. We have had woman's suffrage, and last April they had an election in the city of Hanford and it went wet by 350 votes. (Laughter.)

Now, then, gentlemen of the Senate, this is the saddest spectacle that I have ever seen in my life. Here is a man who has been accorded a seat in this Senate. At the last session he told you that he would rise today at 11 o'clock to address you upon a question of personal privilege. Gentlemen of the Senate, in my opinion that incident was closed when Senator Wolfe took his seat. I came here to the Senate unacquainted with Senator Wolfe. I had him pictured to me as a devil, as pictured to you in the magazines, with horns; but I want to say to you that Senator Wolfe is one of the most affable gentlemen that it has ever been my pleasure to become acquainted with; and I say to you again that when he took his seat on this question of personal privilege, I say the question so far as this Senate was concerned, was closed; and I am sorry to see men in this Senate rising here and saying in effect in respect to Senator Wolfe "You have been guilty of everything that has been said about you by the press of this State." And from my point of view, gentlemen, I do not believe that Senator Wolfe has been guilty of one thing that he has been charged with by the press of this State. Now, then as to Senator Grant. I had the pleasure of meeting him. He is a gentleman; he has a lovely little wife. Personally I would like to have seen Senator Grant retain his seat on the floor of this Senate, because, as I do not believe that he was recalled under circumstances that does credit to the Nineteenth Senatorial District. That is not true. Senator Wolfe has risen to a question of personal privilege. It is not the province of every member of this house, as I see it, to get up here and present a certificate of good moral character to Mr. Hichborn, a man with whose affairs it is not the purpose of the Senate to have anything to do. And I hope I shall never see this spectacle repeated on the floor.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Kehoe arose to a question of personal privilege and addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT, AND MEMBERS OF THE SENATE. There is another view than that which has just been expressed by Senator Irwin which may be taken of the unfortunate situation that appears on the floor of this Senate today. Like Senator Benson, I regret very much that Senator Wolfe was not content to let this remain a closed incident. But since he has opened it, as he has, I feel that those members who have been in this body, who have been in the Legislature for the past few years, who have been making the fight that the present administration of the State of California has made, can not afford to let go unchallenged the attack that has been made today upon one of the prominent workers in that fight. If the Senator from the Nineteenth district had been content to arise on the floor and confine his remarks to explaining the situation with reference to the contest that we have heard so much about, a different problem would have been presented. But he has gone beyond that. He has seen fit to single out one representative of the press, Mr Hichborn, whom he has tried to discredit and tried to reflect upon in his remarks this morning. But the statements that Senator Wolfe read to you today were not the statements of Mr. Hichborn; they all came from the newspapers of the land and not from the pen of Mr. Hichborn. Senator Wolfe read from the Star, and some other small newspapers, but there were articles that he could have read from the Call, the Chronicle, the Examiner, the Bulletin, the Star, the Daily News, all papers of San Francisco, telling of the conditions, the fight, and the issues of the campaign waged for the recall of Senator Grant; and yet no attack has been made by Senator Wolfe upon those papers. His denunciation was all addressed to the one man, Franklin Hichborn. The Senator read from "Everybody's Magazine," a portion of an article containing an excerpt from Hichborn's "History of the 1913 Legislature of California." Creel, the author of that article, quoted Hichborn as follows: "Up to the 1911 session, the organized gamblers were, on a moral issue, the most potent group at legislative sessions. They actually directed committee organizations in their own interests. With the institution of woman's suffrage in 1911, however, the racetrack gamblers were practically eliminated from California politics, and organizations of women, on moral issues, became the most potent power in the State. The members of the 1913 Legislature gave repeated evidence of appreciating this fact thoroughly." That was the quotation made from Mr. Hichborn's work. That was all that Mr. Hichborn said on that subject. Then Creel, the author of the article, having taken the above quotation from the work of Mr. Hichborn, commented as follows: "The specific instance that he had in mind was the 'Red Light' law which places the responsibility of disorderly houses upon the property owner instead of the wretched inmates. This bill, first introduced in 1911, was killed with ease and dispatch, Senator 'Eddie' Wolfe wielding the principal ax." That was the statement of Mr. Creel, but as I listened to Senator Wolfe's reading of it this morning, and to his statement that the bill had not been introduced in the Senate at all and therefore that the statement read was false, I thought that he was reading the official work of Franklin Hichborn written in connection with the California Legislature and was charging a falsehood against Hichborn; but upon reading the article I find no inaccuracy or mistake or misrepresentation on the part of Franklin Hichborn; but instead the misrepresentation, or false statement, if such occurred, was on the part of Mr. Creel. Now, it may be that Senator Wolfe did not intend to convey the false impression that went out that Mr. Hichborn had made a statement that was untrue. But that was the impression that his utterance made on me and I assume that others got the same impression. For that reason I desired to explain that part of the Senator's statement that no one might be misled by it. Conditions in the State of California have not always been as they are today. There was a time when the Legislature of California was a corrupt body of men. There are members who are sitting on this floor today who remember the time when members walked into this body in the morning and found rolls of currency stored away in their desks to influence their votes on measures during the day. There were times, as some can recall, when members of the Legislature, though novices at the game of poker, could win from the most expert poker players acting as lobbyists, large sums of money almost at will. Those conditions existed in the State of California but a few years ago.

Disgusted at such conditions a few men got together and set about to change those conditions, to reform things, to take the control of our State government out of the hands of the few privileged corporations that owned and corrupted it and place it back into the hands of the people. One of the most active of these men was Franklin Hichborn. And the improved conditions that exist in the State of California today are due as much to his efforts as to those of any other man in the State of California. You remember, before our present Governor made his memorable first campaign, Franklin Hichborn had written the history of the 1909 Legislature. And througout California that history of Hichborn was used in the campaign with such effect that the old members who were here in 1909 remained at home while new members came to the 1911 session to inaugurate reform in California. And now at this day we find an effort being made to discredit the man who has produced those histories, who helped to bring about that result. In that effort there is a purpose. If they can discredit Franklin Hichborn with the people—if the people can be induced to believe that Franklin Hichborn is unreliable, if they can be deceived into ignoring his work, they hope there will be an opportunity to again lull the people to sleep and allow the old forces to again get control.

When the Senator from San Francisco stated before the recess that he would today rise to a question of personal privilege he said that he was going to do so because we had upon the floor of this Senate, a menace and a danger to this Senate and to the people of the State of California, and that when he arose on the third day after the recess, he intended to point out that menace to us. From the fact that the only individual that he has pointed out today is Franklin Hichborn, the inference is plain that it was to him that he referred as a menace and a danger to this Senate and to the people of this State. Now whom do we consider a menace? Whom do we consider a danger to ourselves or to the people? Certainly not the men who work shoulder to shoulder with us. If people accord with our views, we think they are right, we do not consider such to be a danger or a menace. It is only people who disagree with us that we think a danger or a menace. Therefore, when the statement was made that Franklin Hichborn was a menace to this body and a menace to the State of California, it meant merely that his views, ideas and ideals were different from those who considered him a danger and menace. But for one, I do not care to be classed with those who look upon Mr. Hichborn as a menace or a danger. When he stood for the Red Light Abatement and Injunction Bill, he was not a menace to me, because he stood for the bill that I stood for. When he stood for the local option law, he was not a menace to me. I stood for it also. There were people in the State of California who did consider him a menace when he stood for the red light abatement and injunction law; there were people in the State of California who considered him a menace when he stood for the local option law, but for one, and as a member of this Senate, I do not care to be classed in the list with those who consider a man a menace and danger because he stands for such principles and ideals. He stood, a few years ago, for the anti-racetrack gambling bill. There were people in the State who then considered that he was a menace to them and to the State of California, but again I say I do not want to be classed in the list with those who consider that a man who stands for a law of that character is a menace and a danger; and I do not believe that many of the members of this Senate would want to be classed with those who believe that Franklin Hichborn is a menace and danger to the members of this Senate and to the State of California, because he stands for morality, decency, and purification in government, because he can be a danger and a menace only to those people who oppose such principles. He is not a danger to this Senate as a whole but each member of it can best determine for himself as to whether he is a danger to him as an individual. I hope that we will never again hear it charged on the floor of this Senate, that a man who stands for measures of that character, who has had the record behind him that Franklin Hichborn has, is a menace to the Senate, because it stands as a reflection upon every member of the body in which such a statement is made. Let those who want to take that position—let those who want to put themselves in that attitude, let those who are in danger of a man because he stands for the principles that Hichborn stands for—put themselves in that class if they will, but let them not put this entire Senate in that category; let each member select for himself.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Finn arose to a question of personal privilege and addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT: I have a few words only, and I will take but a very short time. I feel it is my duty to answer some of the statements made by Senator Chandler. Senator Chandler has made a statement that he believes that ex-Senator Grant was recalled because he voted for the eight hour law, workmen's compensation law and other laws of that kind. Now, I want to say that if it were not for the support of San Francisco, none of those measures would be in operation today. All of these measures originated with the labor people. I want to state further that those laws did not originate with Senator Grant; they originated with the people. I want to say further that I know something of the reason for Senator Grant's recall. I am very positive of the fact that he comes from a strong Republican district. He was elected by a small majority; in fact, he was elected by a mere chance, by a very small plurality. The people were not satisfied with the way that he voted on certain measures under consideration in this Senate. One of his actions was voting for a bill that would have made everything around the Exposition in his own district dry. The people in that district were up in arms on that vote. Another action which antagonized his constituents occurred in the Committee on Public Morals of the Senate. The exposition people asked for a hearing and Senator Grant refused to second the motion or even give them any hearing in the committee. These were undoubtedly the kind of things for which Senator Grant was recalled. His district is far from my own; I knew nothing about his recall. I know that the manager of his fight, when he was elected, was the manager of the recall election which ousted him. This man told me one day in the lobby when he came from San Francisco that Senator Grant was opposed to boxing and he was against him because of that. We all thought it was a joke at that time, but he made good his threat as you have seen.

I want to say that I have been in the Senate as colleague to both Senator Wolfe and Senator Grant. Senator Wolfe has ably represented his district, and always has made a record which compares favorably with that of any man in this Senate. He has the confidence of the people. He has the confidence of the San Francisco delegation. I want to say further that he had a right to rise here to a question of personal privilege; that it is true that some of the statements—in fact, nearly all the statements read about him there—were absolutely false. We all know that. How could he deny it if he did not deny it here? Some Senators have stood up and acknowledged that their minds have been absolutely changed since they heard Senator Wolfe's statement. How could he bring these matters to their attention if he did not tell of them on the floor of the Senate? He had no other way. I am not going to take up another minute. Let me add just one more thought: That the San Francisco Senators and Assemblymen voted for all those good bills that Senator Grant voted for, and which were mentioned by Senator Chandler.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Butler arose to a question of personal privilege and addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN OF THE SENATE: I stand, not upon the floor of this Senate to eulogize the name of Franklin K. Hichborn. He needs no encomiums from me. He needs no encomiums from any man. A man who has stood in the vanguard of the firing line for so many years as has Mr. Hichborn, striving for what he conceives to be right, working for the best interests of the people of the State of California as he conceives them to be, needs no encomiums from any one.

His name will be remembered as one man who fought the good fight and did what he conceived to be his duty fearlessly and absolutely to the best of his ability.

Neither am I here to criticise unjustly or harshly, Senator Wolfe, but I do seriously doubt the expediency of the course that he has taken in this instance.

I think it would have been far better to allow the matter to sleep in its ashes and not resurrect it therefrom. I think he should not have inflicted upon this Senate the thing which he has inflicted upon it.

Regarding the recall of Senator Grant, it matters not what may have been the ostensible reason given for his recall; it is a fact well known to every thinking person familiar with the facts that Senator Grant was recalled, and I thank Senator Finn for having given the reason, that he voted for a dry exposition in San Francisco. Senator Finn might have gone a little farther and stated that the fact that he voted for the Red Light Abatement Bill was also a contributing cause. And it matters not however hard they may try to get away from it, the Nineteenth Senatorial District must bear the stigma of that recall and it is also reflected upon the candidate who ran against Senator Grant in that election, and the fact remains that Senator Grant was recalled because he did his duty as he saw it and understood it.

The man elected to take his place was an old campaigner; a man who has fought many political battles and won them all I believe, but one. He knew at the time he entered into that contest because the lines had been squarely drawn and the issue was before the people before he entered the campaign. He knew that he would subject himself to attacks that would be more or less bitter in that campaign and it seems to me he should have taken his medicine like a little man when he had won the contest. He should have been a good winner and permitted the matter to rest there.

Last evening, when we were so beautifully entertained at the Sacramento Hotel by the Chamber of Commerce in this city, some artist had drawn a little sketch on a button given to each guest, representing Sacramento as the heart of the State of California. Let us assume that to be correct. We will place the head down in the southern part of the State, the heart resting in Sacramento. Then, to the extreme left, representing the Bay City district and the Nineteenth Senatorial District in particular, is the spleen; and I am sorry the gentlemen from San Francisco has seen fit to vent that spleen as he has done.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Wolfe arose to a question of personal privilege and addressed the Senate as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT: Nearly all of my colleagues that have spoken today on the subject have said at the outset that they wished that I had remained silent; that it would have been better had I remained silent, had I enjoyed the fruits of my victory, suffering and smarting under the attacks that have been hurled at me and been content with my near victory and forever held by silence. I knew that well. I knew very well that I could have avoided all this discussion had I chosen to adopt that course. I knew very well that if I did adopt the course which my honor and my conscience and my manhood dictated, that there would be those for whom I have respect who would take occasion to reply to me and to bring in subject matters that after all are foreign to the question that I raised. I could have been a coward, Mr. President, and remained in my seat and let these charges go unanswered, or take my chances on the floor of this Senate with the gentlemen who saw fit to disagree with me. Now, gentlemen of the Senate, things have been said here to which I can subscribe. I can subscribe to nearly everything that you have said, Senator Jones. I do not think you made a statement here, perhaps except one or two, to which I can not fully subscribe. I am for the liberty of the press. I honor and respect George Washington; I know all about Patrick Henry and those great men, and I stand by you in admiration of them, but no issues of that kind—when those men fought for liberty—were involved as compared to the questions that are involved or that I have raised upon the floor of this Senate. I have not attacked Mr. Hichborn, and I challenge contradiction. I have not taken exception to his course in the past, except as it referred to me and except insofar as it was absolutely false and incorrect as referred to me. And is there a man within the sound of my voice who values his manhood so lightly, and his love for what is so great, that he will sit silent here because he has only a seat in the Senate, and leave his honor and his manhood that has been attacked and assailed without replying to it? I have not attacked the course of this gentleman. I have no fight with him except as he has the fight with me; he has fought me and fought me unfairly, and I will give you a concrete illustration of it. In his review of the legislators in the wicked days of the past, he pointed out that Senator Wolfe had been absent from thirteen or fourteen roll calls—dodged or ducked—he did not say those words, but intimated that I dodged or ducked those roll calls. No one knew better than Franklin Hichborn that I was lying in a sick bed with a nurse by my side during all of that time unable to be on the floor of the Senate of California, suffering from illness; and yet he did not have the manhood—this great journalist did not have the fairness to say in his record: "absent because of sickness." Now, I have no quarrel with this man. He has attacked me. Has there been a man that has arisen upon the floor of this Senate today that has replied to those things which I read, which my good friend—I hope I may call him so—

Senator Benson, said I should not have brought into this discussion? Has any man risen here and defended Franklin Hichborn—dare any man rise here and defend Franklin Hichborn—for attacking those reverend gentlemen because they happened to be my friends? Why, if he has the privilege to write what he pleases there, let him write fairly and let him write justly. There are men today that have been for two years past voting with you gentlemen who have in the years past voted with me. You did not see them criticized in Mr. Hichborn's publication. They are all good today, all purified, white as the driven snow, all except Eddie Wolfe. (Laughter.) Eddie Wolfe of whom he writes the name in quotation, "Eddie" in quotations—what does that mean? That means to imply that it is an assumed name, that I am a rounder, that I am a hoodlum, that I am something different from the average man. In all of his miserable papers, and in this article in Everybody's magazine, there is "Eddie" in quotations. My name is Eddie. Why, I have been called that so long that I am ashamed to confess just how long. I have six sisters; one of them has gone to the Great Beyond. They all called me Eddie. My wife calls me Eddie; all my friends call me that; they don't call me Senator. They call me Eddie. I am thankful to God today that I have behind me in 1915 every friend that I started with in 1896; and they are decent and respectable people, many of whom stand highly in the community. Some are in the lowly walks of life, but I value their friendship. I am not backed by the men who have billions of dollars, but they call me Eddie. Why is it necessary for this gentleman who is working in the cause of reform—granted from whose work I do not wish to detract—why is it necessary for him, if he wants to be fair, if he wants to be just, to use these tactics? Senator Chandler has said that he read from the ballot the reasons given for the recall of Senator Grant. Now, what are the facts? The constitution covers that question; and if the Senator will hand me that ballot I will be much obliged to him so that I may refer to it.

SENATOR CHANDLER: That is not the ballot; that is a copy of it, taken from the proceedings before the committee.

SENATOR WOLFE: I had the original ballot here, but I think I have given it to the stenographer. The constitution covers this question. You gentlemen who fought for the recall, you, who made that one of the great issues in your campaign which you had a right to do, stood for that bill in its entirety. You would not permit of any amendment; you would not permit of the suppression of the question of the recall of the judiciary. No; you stood for that bill in its entirety. And that bill says—and it is the constitution of the State of California—"That provision shall contain a general statement of the grounds on which the removal is sought, which statement is intended solely for the information of the electors and the sufficiency of which shall not be open to review." That may mean review by the courts, or it may mean review by you gentlemen. The sufficiency of the reasons stated for the recall are not open to review. Now, Mr. President, Senator Chandler has said, reading from this statement, that because it contained the words "That as a member of the California Legislature since January 6, 1913, he has voted against the wishes of his constituents." That he has construed that to mean that every bill that he had voted for was against the wishes of his constituents and that therefore the Nineteenth Senatorial District which does not seem to stand very high in his estimation, has written itself down as being opposed to every humane statute, to every good law that was passed through the Legislature of the State of California. To me that is reductio ad absurdum of the proposition, because that district is just as much in favor of the eight hour law, of the workmen's compensation bill and employers' liability act and every humane measure of that kind as is the distinguished Senator from Fresno. And think you it would have been much easier to recall Mr. Grant than it was, had he voted against those measures to which he has referred?

Now, what were the real reasons? I did not go into that in detail; neither did I cover all of the data that I have collated; but what are the reasons that actually brought about the recall of Mr. Grant, justly or unjustly, properly or improperly? The reasons have been in part stated by Senator Kehoe. Senator Kehoe of Humboldt introduced a bill which provided that any fair that had received State aid, within 450 feet of the exterior boundary of that fair—Senator, if I misquote the bill, please correct me, because I am not quite sure about that—within 450 feet of the exterior boundaries of the fair—and that would mean commencing at First avenue away down Van Ness avenue—that every place that sold liquor with meals or sold it at all, excepting the gilded palaces with 200 bedrooms or that could seat 100 people in the dining-room at one time—that the sale of liquor was prohibited. Now, what does that mean? That within two blocks of the exterior of a fence around that magnificent exposition, that wonderful exposition, every little café, every little hotel, every boarding house, every restaurant—and there are hundreds of them—would be compelled to close their doors during the continuance of that exposition. Is that right, Senator?

SENATOR KEHOE: Not to close their doors—not to sell liquor.

SENATOR WOLFE: Well, not to sell liquor; that would be in effect closing their doors. That is, you see, every café would have to close its doors because they were engaged in the business of selling liquor, and if they could not sell that, they would have to close. Now, do you wonder that the people in that section of the district voted to recall Mr. Grant? He may have been right in the way he voted. I did not question his vote. I never have impugned his motives and never will. But is it a wonder that these people rose up in their might and said this man has misrepresented us in this; that it will permit liquor to be sold in sight of the World's Fair in hotels with 200 bedrooms or more where you can seat 100 people at the same time, and deny that privilege to the little café with ten, twenty or twenty-five rooms and a little dining-room that will seat twenty-five people. Do you wonder at it? Was it necessary to enter into that proposition to make those people rise in their might against that kind of a bill? Not necessarily against the man, but against that kind of an unfair measure.

Another thing a bill introduced by Senator Finn—was this, and gentlemen of the Senate, I pledge you my word of honor that that is what took me into this fight in that district; that is the thing that got me to run for this office; the man that was interested in that bill was the man who induced me to run, and that bill provided that whenever textbooks for use in the public schools of California were published, printed and compiled in this State and were of equal educational merit, that in the awarding of the contract for those books, preference would be given to the California publication. That bill meant the steady employment of at least from two hundred to two hundred and fifty men and women in California all the year round. And it was the representative of labor, the business agent of these organizations that were affected by that bill, that finally persuaded me to become a candidate for the office. It has been said: Why don't you attack the big newspapers in San Francisco? Why don't you attack the Call and the Examiner? I will tell you why: because in all of their articles on this recall, there never was a single reference to me. Had they implied by what they said, as a general business principle, an attack on me, I would have denounced them upon the floor of this Senate just as readily as I did these little magazines from which you have heard me read today. I take no exception to the nice things you have said of this gentleman from Santa Clara County. It is proper. He is one of your constituents. I have never said an unkind word about the man except as he has misrepresented and attacked me. And I repeat that it is because of the things that he has written that an impression has gone throughout this State that I am, as has been said by Senator Irwin, a monster with horns, a representative of all that is vile in public life and in private life. It is because of those articles which have been sent under Mr. Hichborn's name—I have them here—in which he said at the top "Use as much of this as you want with or without my name."—Franklin K. Hichborn. I have it; he can not deny it. In the attack upon me, upon everything connected with the recall, he intended first to raise an impression throughout the State as to my character, and possibly to have an influence upon the members of this Senate in the event I was elected after that contest was started. Gentlemen of the Senate, that contest was framed up before the election. They were going to contest, no matter what, for the reasons that I stated to you today.

Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I wish that I could have refrained from talking. I would not like to forfeit the good will of any of my colleagues. I value that naturally, as men value the good will and esteem of their associates; but I would have been unjust to myself and to those that are near and dear to me if I did not rise upon the floor of this Senate and prove the falsity of the accusations that have been made against me. I have no fight with the press of the State. I know the power of the press; I know it well. And when properly directed, it is indeed a paladium of liberty; it is the bulwark of our liberty; but there comes some time when liberty changes its character, when liberty becomes license, and there is no greater menace—and I use that word again—to the perpetuity of our institutions than that condition of men in California.

Mr. President, I wanted to say a word in reply to what each of these gentlemen have said, but I think I have covered it all. I know this: I know that I try to live a clean life. I know I am no saint; I do not profess to be a saint, but I try to live a clean life, so that I may have the confidence of my colleagues and my friends, and, thank God! I have it in the places where I am known—I have their confidence. I have been at the head of two of the greatest fraternal organizations in this country; I have their confidence and their esteem. Only two weeks ago they honored me by electing me to a higher office. I am proud of these things, because I wish to do that which is right, which is clean and which is honest and which is just, and if it becomes necessary for me to differ with men upon questions of public policy, all I ask of them is to accord me what I accord to them; honesty of purpose and sincerity.

It is not necessary for me to reply to the innuendoes and slurs that have been made upon the city and county of San Francisco in this matter. That is not necessary. As one of these gentlemen has proclaimed, it is theirs as much as it is ours, and I am happy to have him say it. I will join them at any time in supporting any constructive moral law that is fair and just to our citizenship in any portion of the State of California. I will act with them at all times for any measure that will upbuild the State, that will help those who are employed, those who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow, but so long as God gives me health and strength, that time shall never come when I will be afraid to rise on the floor of the Senate and defend my good name and my honor. (Applause.)

MOTION.

Senator Thompson moved that the statements of Senators Wolfe, Benson, Chandler, Ballard, Luce, Benedict, Brown, Jones, Scott, Irwin, Kehoe, Finn and Butler, and the closing remarks of Senator Wolfe be printed in full in the Journal.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

SACRAMENTO, CAL., March 10, 1915.

Honorable John M. Eshleman, President, and members of the Senate of the State Legislature of the State of California.

GENTLEMEN: The Chamber of Commerce of Sacramento desires to issue a hearty invitation to all the members of the State Legislature to be its guests on a trip by rail to Meridian and from Meridian to Sacramento by boat on the Sacramento River.

It is desired to leave Sacramento by special train over the Northern Electric Railway on Sunday, March 14th, at 7 o'clock in the morning. The train will leave from the corner of J and Eighth streets.

The train will arrive at Meridian at 9 o'clock and the return trip by steamer will begin at 9:30. Our guests will be served with luncheon on board the steamer.

You are well aware that numerous bills are pending, dealing with the problems incident to swamp lands, flood control, reclamation and drainage, and you are therefore no doubt anxious to become acquainted with all of the physical facts in connection therewith. The purpose of this trip, therefore, is to give the members of the State Legislature the advantage of an intimate knowledge of flood conditions in the Sacramento Valley.

The State Reclamation Board will be the host, on Saturday, March 13th, to the committees of the Assembly and Senate to which the various measures in question have been referred. The trip on Sunday will be supplemental to the one on Saturday, and those who go on Saturday are also included in the invitation for Sunday's event.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following messages received from the Governor were read and ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, March 11, 1915

To the Legislature of the State of California:

I have received from the Governor of the State of Oregon, the following telegram:

SALEM, OREGON, February 24, 1915.

Governor of California, Sacramento, Cal.

Our Secretary of State has sent to you by telegraph copy of Senate Joint Memorial Number Six, relative to proposed water power conference as adopted by our legislature. I sincerely hope that you will use your best efforts to see that your State cooperates fully with us in this work, which I am confident will be of material benefit to each one of us and will pave the way toward sound development of our resources. I shall be glad to receive word that your legislature accepts the invitation to participate in conference at Portland, Oregon, this summer.

JAMES WITHYCOMBE, Governor of Oregon.

Also: From the Secretary of State of the State of Oregon, the following telegram:

SALEM, OREGON, February 23, 1915.

The Governor of California, Sacramento, Cal.

The following memorial of the Oregon Legislature is sent you for transmission to the Legislature of your State:

SENATE JOINT MEMORIAL NUMBER SIX.

WHEREAS, There is now pending in the Congress of the United States legislation designed to encourage the development of the water power resources of the West; and

WHEREAS, It is contemplated by such legislation that the interest and control of each State in the water power which may be developed, under the provisions of such legislation, shall in some particulars be no more than one-half, the other half accruing to, or resting in, the Government of the United States; and

WHEREAS, In other particulars, said legislation would give to the Government of the United States a preferential reversionary interest in water powers developed thereunder: be it therefore

Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring,* That it is now wise and opportune for the State of Oregon, and the whole people thereof, through their legislative assembly, respectfully to assert for the guidance of their Senators and Representatives in Congress, and for the information of the Congress of the United States, the following principles as just and equitable in the premises: That the title to the beds of all non-navigable streams and the water powers within their banks now unappropriated and as yet not alienated by the State of Oregon, and the title to the beds of all navigable streams within the State of Oregon, and the water power within their banks (subject only to the rights of commerce) is vested exclusively in the State of Oregon and the whole people thereof. That the unappropriated or reserved or withdrawn government lands on the banks of said streams, wherein water power is available, while necessary to the development of said power, are in no case of value equal to the value of the water power within said banks, and owned by the State of Oregon. That the State of Oregon does not concede that the proportionate value of said water power to the value of said lands necessary to its development is less than the ratio of fifty to one. That under such conditions it is to the benefit of public policy that the government of the United States relinquish to the states its title to lands needed for water power development, under such terms as will safeguard the public from monopolistic or speculative control. That of importance equal to the water power development is the creation of hydroelectric markets now interfered with by burdensome restrictions on the settlement of public lands and on the utilization of mineral and timber products extending in Oregon alone over tracts equal to nearly sixty per cent of the area of the State; and be it further

Resolved,* That for the purpose of declaring in more specific detail the principles which the water power and public land states of the West deem a just and equitable basis for developing their resources, the Legislature of the State of Oregon does hereby invite each of the Governors of the States of Washington, Idaho, Montana, Colorado, California, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, South Dakota and North Dakota, and five delegates to be appointed by the legislatures of the said states to meet with five delegates to be elected by the Legislature of the State of Oregon in conference at Portland, Oregon, in the summer or fall of the year 1915; and be it further

Resolved,* That the Governor be selected as chairman of the Oregon delegation, and that the Senate select two delegates and the House two delegates, provided that in those states where the legislature will not convene before the time of conference, the Governor be requested to appoint the delegates, and that the Governor of the State of Oregon appoint the time for such conference in accordance with the desires of the several states herein mentioned; be it further

Resolved,* That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Oregon Senators and Representatives in Congress, to the Speaker of the National House of Representatives, to the President of the United States Senate, to the Secretary of the Interior, and the Governor of each state invited to the water power conference herein provided, for transmission to the legislature of his state.

Adopted by the House, February 20, 1915. Ben Selling, Speaker of the House. Adopted by the Senate, February 20, 1915. W. Lair Thompson, President of the Senate.

BEN W. OLCOTT, Secretary of State.

I transmit to the Legislature these documents for such action, if any, as the Legislature may deem appropriate.

Respectfully submitted. HIRAM W. JOHNSON, Governor.

Said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporation, shall not be required to delay for more than twenty days after the said commission shall have so certified its findings in accordance with said section 70, before commencing such proceedings in eminent domain. In the case of a petition of said legislative or other governing body of any county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporation, filed as above described, setting forth its intention to so initiate such proceedings for the purpose of so submitting a proposition to the voters of any such county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporation, then within sixty days after the commission shall have certified, in accordance with section 70, its findings as to the just compensation that should be so paid for such existing public utility and the lands, property and rights thereof, or any such part or portion thereof, the said legislative or other governing body must so initiate such proceedings, unless there be obtained a writ of review from the supreme court of the State of California, in accordance with the provisions of section 70 hereof, and if said writ of review be so obtained the time for the initiation of such proceedings shall be extended to not more than sixty days beyond the final decision of the supreme court upon such writ of review. If the people of any such county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporation, shall thereafter, as required by the law governing such county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporation, vote in favor of any proposition to acquire under eminent domain proceedings, or otherwise, said public utility, or the lands, property and rights thereof, or any such parts or portions thereof, then the said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporation, shall, within sixty days after the people have so declared in favor of such acquisition, commence an action in a court of competent jurisdiction, and in a manner in accordance with the provisions of law, to take under eminent domain proceedings said existing utility and the lands, property and rights thereof, or any such parts or portions thereof, the value of which has been so fixed and determined as herein provided, unless the owner of such existing public utility and the lands, property and rights thereof, or any such parts or portions thereof, shall file a written stipulation consenting and agreeing to accept the compensation so fixed by the commission to be paid by the said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporation, for the taking of said existing public utility and the lands, property and rights thereof, or any such parts or portions thereof. Said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporation, shall not be required to delay for more than twenty days after the said commission shall have so certified its findings in accordance with said section 70 before commencing such proceedings in eminent domain; provided, however, that in any case where the law governing any such county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporation, permits such county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporaton, to commence and prosecute such proceedings in eminent domain prior to any such vote being had by the people, then the said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation disrict, public utility district, or other public corporation, whose legislative or other governing body has so filed such a petition with the commission, as above described, may, within sixty days after the commission shall have certified, in accordance with section 70, its findings as to the just compensation that should be so paid for such existing public utility, and the lands, property and rights thereof, or any such part or portion thereof, commence an action in a court of competent jurisdiction and in a manner and in accordance with the provisions of law, to take under eminent domain proceedings said existing public utility, and the lands, property and rights thereof, or any such parts or portions thereof, the value of which has been so fixed and determined as herein provided, unless the owner of such existing public utility and the lands, property and rights thereof, or any such parts or portions thereof, shall file a written stipulation consenting and agreeing to accept the compensation so fixed by the commission to be paid by said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporation, for the taking of said existing public utility and the lands, property and rights thereof, or any such parts or portions thereof. Said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporation, shall not be required to delay for more than twenty days after the said commission shall have so certified its findings in accordance with said section 70, before commencing such proceedings in eminent domain.

Whenever the owner of such existing public utility and such lands, property and rights thereof, or any such parts or portions thereof, shall file such a stipulation, the said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporation, must proceed with all due diligence to provide the necessary funds under the laws governing the providing of such funds, for paying to the owner of such existing public utility and such lands, property and rights thereof or any such parts or portions thereof, the amount fixed by the commission as the just compensation to be paid. Upon such compensation being paid to the owner of said existing public utility or the lands, property and rights thereof, or any such parts or portions thereof, the owner thereof shall make and execute to the said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district or other public corporation a deed of grant, bargain and sale conveying all of the right, title and interest such owner has in the existing public utility and lands, property and rights thereof, or any such parts or portions thereof whose value has been so fixed as herein provided. And in default of such deed the commission is hereby empowered to execute such deed, as the trustee of said public utility and lands, property and rights thereof, or any such parts or portions thereof. Should the owner of such existing public utility and the lands, property and rights thereof, or such parts or portions thereof, fail to file such a written stipulation as above, the said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district or other public corporation must commence the action herein provided for within the time herein provided for. In such action the compensation fixed by the commission to be paid for such existing public utility and the lands, property and rights thereof, or any such parts or portions thereof, shall be deemed final and conclusive between the parties; and the court in which the action is pending, if it shall first decide that such county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district or other public corporation has the right and power under the law to take the said existing public utility and the lands, property and rights thereof, or such parts or portions thereof, whose value has been so fixed as herein provided for, shall enter a decree in favor of the said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district or other public corporation, as provided by law, fixing the amount that shall be paid as the just compensation for the taking of such existing public utility and the lands, property and rights thereof, or any parts or portions thereof, as the amount fixed and determined by the commission. The judgment shall include a provision, in substance, that said judgment is subject to modification on account of any unreasonable depreciation or deterioration in value of the property taken, or on account of any loss which might be suffered by the owner of said public utility through his being required to properly take care of said property, as is hereinafter more fully provided for. If between the date of the filing of any such petition and the payment of the compensation to the owner of the public utility, the owner of the public utility shall permit the property taken to unreasonably depreciate or deteriorate in value, the said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporation may file with the commission a petition setting forth that fact, and praying that the commission determine and fix the amount of said unreasonable depreciation or deterioration. The commission shall thereupon order a copy of said petition to be served upon the owner of said public utility with an order to within ten days appear before said commission and show cause why there should not be deducted from the amount of compensation to be paid an amount sufficient to cover said depreciation or deterioration. The commission shall on the day so fixed, unless for good cause the hearing is continued, proceed to ascertain whether there has been any such depreciation or deterioration, and if so, what amount should be deducted therefor from the compensation to be paid. Hearings shall be had in the same manner as provided in section 70 of this Act. The commission shall thereupon certify to the court any amount which may be determined upon that should be so deducted from the compensation, and the court shall thereupon modify its judgment in order to conform with said ascertainment by said commission. If between the time when the judgment in condemnation has become final and the time of the payment of the compensation the owner of the public utility shall, in order to preserve the property, be required to suffer a loss, the said owner may file a petition with the commission setting forth this fact, and praying that the commission determine and fix the amount of the loss which the owner has so suffered. The commission shall thereupon order a copy of said petition to be served upon the said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district, or other public corporation, with an order to within ten days appear before said commission to show cause why there should not be paid, in addition to the amount of the judgment, an amount sufficient to compensate for the said loss. The commission shall on the day so fixed, unless for good cause the hearing is continued, proceed to ascertain whether there has been any such loss, and if so, how much. The hearing shall be conducted as provided in section 70 of this Act. The commission shall thereupon certify to the court any amount of loss so determined upon, and the court shall thereupon modify its judgment in order to conform with said ascertainment by the commission. Said amount of loss which may be so required to be paid to the owner of said utility shall not be considered as compensation for the property taken, but shall be considered as damages awarded for the loss so sustained by the owner of the utility. And the filing of any such petition by the owner of the utility shall not act as a stay of the decree in condemnation, but upon the payment of the amount fixed in the original decree in condemnation, the plaintiff shall be entitled to immediate possession of the property taken. The findings of the commission fixing the just compensation to be paid or the amount that should thus be deducted from the judgment on account of such unreasonable depreciation or deterioration, or that should thus be added to the judgment on account of said loss suffered, shall be subject to review by the supreme court of this state in the same manner and within the same time as other orders and decisions of the commission. Said writ of review may be issued at the instance of either the owner of the public utility or of the said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district or other public corporation.

Should a writ of review be obtained from the supreme court of the State of California in accordance with the provisions of section 70 hereof, the time for the filing of such suit in eminent domain by the said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, puble utility district or other public corporation shall be extended to not more than sixty days beyond the final decision of the supreme court upon such writ of review; or, should said writ of review be obtained prior to the vote by the people of said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district or other public corporation upon any such proposition, then said sixty days period to be extended to not longer than sixty days after such vote is had. If the said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district or other public corporation or the legislative or other governing body thereof shall fail to file such suit or proceed diligently to enforce the rights herein conferred and in the manner herein set forth, then upon written petition from the owner of such existing public utility setting forth said fact, the commission shall cause a notice of not less than ten days to be given to said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district or other public corporation to appear before said commission and show cause why an order should not be made by said commission, finding that the said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district or other public corporation has failed to diligently pursue its rights hereby conferred, and determining that the findings of the said commission theretofore made as to the just compensation that should be paid for the existing public utility and the lands, property and rights thereof, or any such part or portion thereof, shall no longer be of any force or effect. And said notice shall include a copy of said written petition so filed by said owner of such existing public utility. If the commission shall determine that said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district or other public corporation, or the legislative or other governing body thereof has so failed to either file such suit or to proceed diligently to enforce the rights herein conferred and in the manner herein set forth, the commission shall make and enter such an order as so petitioned for by the owner of such existing public utility. Should the supreme court, upon a writ of review being obtained, decide that in any manner the commission has not lawfully pursued its power hereby conferred or conferred in this Act, the supreme court shall make its findings and refer the matter back to the commission for correction or further action. Upon such writ coming down to the commission, it shall proceed, as in the first instance to correct its findings in the manner specified in the writ of review. Any such county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district or other public corporation must pay at such times in such amounts as may be directed by said railroad commission any extra costs which it might be necessary for said railroad commission to incur in order to comply with the requirements of this section. And the court, upon rendering any judgment in eminent domain, as herein provided for, may include therein the allowance of such costs as between the parties as is provided for in the law of eminent domain of this State. The rights herein conferred upon any county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district or other public corporation, or upon the legislative, or other governing body thereof, to so file with the commission a petition for the ascertainment of the just compensation that should be so paid for any such existing public utility and lands, property and rights thereof, or any such part or portion thereof, shall not be considered as an exclusive mode of procedure, but shall be considered as an alternative and cumulative procedure which may be followed by such county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district or other public corporation or the legislative or other governing body thereof in addition to any other method of procedure provided for in law for the taking by said county, city and county, incorporated city or town, municipal water district, county water district, irrigation district, public utility district or other public corporation, of any such public utility or lands, propery and rights thereof, or any such part or portion thereof, under eminent domain proceedings, in accordance with the law of this State; and this Act shall not be construed as repealing any law of this State providing for such eminent domain proceedings."

PETITIONS.

Senator Strobridge presented the following petition, which was read and ordered printed in the Journal:

To the Senate of the State of California:

Your petitioner hereby respectfully protests against proposed legislation to compel our school children to pass an examination in the physical and other effects of alcohol and narcotics as a condition of promotion.

The textbooks introduced into the schools on this subject are notoriously unscientific, the product of fanaticism and not of knowledge. But if this were not true the teaching proposed is not properly a part of education. It is merely using the schools for the compulsory promotion of the fanatical ideas of a minority of the people.

It requires the expenditure of time and money in something that is in no sense educational, to the impairment and neglect of that which belongs in the school curriculum.

Let the people who believe in prohibition propagate it at their own expense, and not use the schools and the taxpayers' money to help on that which has become a distinct political and party movement in this country.

When the State Superintendent of Schools forces into the course of study a sensational novel, full of vulgar and squalid features, and a political party demands that you add its platform to the curriculum, it is time to call a halt, in behalf of common sense, and in vindication of the rights of the taxpayers who foot the bill.

Respectfully,

JNO P IRISH

Oakland, Cal.

Also:

Senator Duncan presented the following petition, which was read and ordered printed in the Journal:

To the Honorable, the Legislature of the State of California:

WHEREAS, The taxpayers and property owners of the county of Sutter are engaged in a contest with certain interests, who, through the medium of Reclamation District 1500, are endeavoring to reclaim a large acreage of swamp and overflowed lands to the detriment and irreparable injury of valuable and improved lands not subject to overflow, and are seeking to throw the burden of this reclamation upon lands damaged thereby; and

WHEREAS, The county of Sutter has by legal proceedings enjoined the further northward construction of these works of reclamation and the further northward construction of the levee of the East By-pass; and

WHEREAS, In this controversy private and public property rights of the first magnitude and the welfare and prosperity of a whole county are involved, as well as the right of a community to be protected and not destroyed or injured by the State of which it is a part; and

WHEREAS, There have been introduced into the Legislature certain bills, among which are the following: Senate Bill No. 631 and Assembly Bill No. 759; Senate Bill No. 634 and Assembly Bill No. 831; Senate Bill No. 661 and Assembly Bill No. 764; Senate Bill No. 662 and Assembly Bill No. 765; Senate Bill No. 660 and Assembly Bill No. 766, that will if they become laws, hamper the county of Sutter in its fight for its preservation and protection, and serve to work for the triumph of the interests opposed to the welfare of the county of Sutter; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the Board of Supervisors of the county of Butte do earnestly request and importune you, the Legislature of the State of California, that you do not pass any of the above mentioned bills or any measures that may affect or apply to the reclamation situation in the county of Sutter, but that you leave the contest and the lawsuits arising therefrom to be settled under the law as it stands and as it stood when the property rights involved were acquired; and this board earnestly requests that our Senator, W. E. Duncan, Jr., and Assemblyman, B. B. Meek, use their utmost endeavors in opposing the passage of said bills.

In witness whereof, we, the said supervisors of the county of Butte, have hereunto signed our names, and caused the official seal to be affixed by the clerk of this board this 2d day of March, 1915.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

On motion of Senator Cogswell, the following report of special committee was received, ordered printed in the Journal, and the State Printer directed to print and bind for distribution 500 copies, omitting the expense account, now a part of the report:

REPORT OF ADVISORY ROAD COMMITTEE.

To the Honorable, the State Senate, and the State Assembly, Session 1915:

Chapter 77, Statutes 1913.

ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NUMBER THIRTY-ONE.

Relative to the appointment of an advisory committee to confer with the State Engineer and the State Board of Control regarding state roads.

(Filed with Secretary of State, June 2, 1913.)

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring, That an advisory committee consisting of two members of the Assembly and two members of the Senate be appointed to confer with the State Engineer and the State Board of Control regarding location, construction and maintenance of state roads other than state highways constructed under and by virtue of the "State Highways Act" of California and to report back with recommendations to > the forty-first session of the Legislature. The Speaker of the Assembly shall appoint the Assembly members of the committee and the President of the Senate shall appoint the Senate members of the committee.

> Resolved, That the sum of fifteen hundred dollars is hereby made available for the purpose of defraying the expenses of such committee; and half of the amount to be paid from the contingent fund of the Assembly, and one-half to be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate, and the State Controller is hereby authorized and directed to draw his warrant in favor of the chairman of said joint committee for such expenditure as the same may be certified to him from time to time by the chairman of said committee, and the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay the same.

Agreeable to the provisions of this resolution embodied in chapter 77, statutes 1913, the President of the Senate appointed Senators F. F. Cogswell and Benjamin F. Rush. The Speaker of the Assembly appointed the Honorable W. F. Chandler and the Honorable A. G. Kuck. The State Board of Control selected the Honorable Clyde L. Seavey to represent that body.

Through the efforts of Hon. W. F. Chandler of Fresno, we secured two large automobiles at Fresno, and the full committee left that city at 7.30 a.m., September 2, 1913, accompanied by Mr. J. E. Mitchell, superintendent of the Kings River Canyon road. We proceeded by the way of Reedley and Sand Creek road to the General Grant National Park, and thence over the state road to Hume, a lumber camp in the Sierra Nevada Mountains. At this point a meeting was held and the Honorable A. G. Kuck was chosen as chairman of the committee.

From Hume we were driven easterly about five and one-half miles to the end of the road. The Kings River Canyon state road was provided for originally by the Legislature of 1905 and an appropriation of $25,000 made. The county of Fresno appropriated $12,500. At the sessions of the Legislature of 1909 and 1911 additional appropriations of $25,000 for each session were added. With the exception of a little over $400, this total amount of $87,500 was required for the construction of the fourteen and one-half miles of road, or at a rate of $6,000 per mile.

The general appropriation bill for 1913 carries an item of $4,000 for maintenance and improvement, making a total of $79,000 furnished by the State to date.

The road begins at a point on the north boundary of General Grant National Park, and the intention of the original advocates of the road was that it should proceed easterly into Kings River Canyon and up said canyon.

Chapter 223, statutes 1909, providing for $25,000 with which to complete the construction of said Kings River highway, stipulates in section 1 thereof that "the highway now completely located and surveyed and partially completed by the State of California from General Grant National Park to the floor of the Kings River Canyon, is hereby made a state highway."

This appropriation, together with former appropriations, was all expended in the construction of the road as far as Hume, nine and one-half miles from the point of beginning.

The first appropriation made in 1905 was for the "purpose of locating and surveying and constructing a public highway from the General Grant National Park in Fresno County, thence easterly into the Kings River Canyon." Between the time of the appropriations of 1905 and 1909 the survey was made, and according to the language of chapter 223, statutes 1909, the highway was to be constructed as now "completely located and surveyed."

In the summer of 1912, State Engineer McClure made examination of the location and reported that said location had probably been made with a view of getting into the canyon as soon as possible, and then proceeding directly up the canyon for a number of miles.

It is interesting to note that the report made by the Highway Commissioner in 1905 reported a length of twenty-three or twenty-four miles, and that the cost of the construction of the first fifteen miles would be at the rate of $1,350 per mile, and of the remaining eight or nine miles at the rate of $3,125 per mile. During 1906 the survey was made into the canyon and completed in 1907, a distance of thirty-two and eight-tenths miles to a point in the canyon called Cedar Grove Hotel.

In 1912, State Engineer McClure made examination of the location and reported that the remainder of the road as surveyed would cost not less than $200,000 and that it would probably cost much more, including, as it does, a bridge over Kings River. He reported that he knew of no reason why the road should be located so as to drop so soon into the canyon, and stated that for a scenic road, in his opinion, a better location and certainly a much cheaper one may be had by remaining on the higher ground and not entering the canyon until a point near the eastern terminus is reached.

This committee, while not being prepared for an extensive or close examination, observed sufficient of the topography of the canyon to be led to believe that Mr. McClure's contention is correct. Your committee, none of whom had ever been as far up the canyon as on this trip, question the wisdom of the State spending $200,000 to complete a road which has no connection with any other road whatever, and would be used only by campers, hunters and those seeking quiet, scenic resorts in the high Sierras.

The road as completed for a distance of fourteen and one-half miles is one of good grade, but the approach to it up to the present time from the west is very steep and rough. We are informed, however, that contracts have been let by Tulare and Fresno counties whereby the Sand Creek road is to be completed easterly to the boundary of General Grant National Park on good grade. When this is done, it is our belief that travel will be very largely increased, although the road through the park is far from being a good one. We hold that if any more road is to be built by the State that chapter 223, statutes 1909, be repealed as to location, and another location made. Kings River Canyon contains some of the most bold and rugged territory, and some of the most fascinating mountain scenery in the State, and the road, if continued, would pass through some of the most magnificent redwood timber land in California, and ultimately arrive at a point from which the Kings River could be easily reached. It would then become a popular resort for campers and tourists. Your committee, however, doubt the wisdom at this time of spending the amount of money that would be required to continue the road to the floor of Kings River Canyon, nor would even recommend the extension without satisfactory evidence that its terminus there would be upon Federal or State property.

On the evening of September 3 we returned to the San Joaquin Valley, and at Exeter the Honorable W. F. Chandler was called back to Fresno, and here Mr. Mitchell also left us.

On the fourth we proceeded by the way of Porterville and Bakersfield to Mojave. On the fifth we motored east and north by the way of Olancha, Lone Pine, Independence, and Big Pine to the town of Bishop, in Inyo County. On the sixth we traveled from Bishop to Mammoth, a mountain resort in Mono County.

During the session of 1913, an appropriation of $100,000 for a state road from Bridgeport, Mono County, to Bishop, Inyo County, was made, but because of so many pressing demands, however, on the treasury, the bill was not signed by the Governor. The Honorable George A. Clarke joined our party at Bishop and pointed out to the committee in a general way where he thought a road should be constructed between Bishop and Mono Lake. We were informed by Mr. Clarke and other Inyo County citizens that the appeal was made to the State, and would be repeated, for State assistance, not because Inyo County needed it particularly, but because of the long stretch of country through Mono County which must be traversed from the north before Bridgeport is reached. The general impression being that Mono County is not financially able to construct the needed road. We were led to believe that if the State will give adequate assistance in the construction of a good road from Bridgeport to the southern boundary of Mono County, that Inyo County will gladly meet our work there and construct a good road from there south. Your committee commends favorable consideration of this project.

For scenic beauty there are few, if any, regions in our great State that surpass this country between the southern boundary of Inyo County by way of Independence, Bishop, Mammoth and Casa Diablo Hot Springs and Mono Lake to Bridgeport. The tillable portion of Owens River Valley is some eighty to ninety miles in length north and south, reaching from Owens Lake northerly, and is from ten to twelve miles wide, and the center of the valley lies from fifteen to twenty miles easterly from the crest of the Sierra Nevada Mountains. This crest of the high divide forms the boundary separating the counties of Inyo and Mono on the east and the counties of Tulare, Fresno, Madera and Tuolumne on the west. This high mountain crest would naturally be taken as a geographical line of division, and thus looking at it from an impartial view point, Inyo, Alpine and Mono counties would naturally belong to the State of Nevada. The Owens River Valley, Long Valley and the Owens Lake Valley do not have adequate or suitable roads westerly into the great heart of California, or to the north, in our own State.

We next examined the Mono Lake Basin State Road, located in Mono County, from Tioga Pass easterly nine and three-tenths miles to a point in Lee Vining Creek Canyon about three and a half miles west of Mono Lake. This road we found well located and in good condition. Tioga Pass is at an elevation of something over 9,000 feet. Our State Road connects with the old Tioga Toll Road, which runs westerly and joins the Big Oak Flat and Yosemite Road. This road was built many years ago as a toll road, and is still claimed by private parties. It is fifty miles or more in length and is nearly all within the boundaries of the Yosemite National Park. It is constructed on good grades and should be taken over by the State if proper transfer can be made with claimants and proper arrangements made with Federal authorities for travel through the park. This road, together with the State road from Tioga Pass easterly, would form the best road over the summit of the Sierra Nevadas, between the point where the Southern Pacific Railroad crosses the divide, in Nevada County, and Walker Pass in Kern County.

The county road between Mono Lake and Bridgeport is in fair condition for a mountain road, but a large portion of it is subject to washout, and we found several miles of it in very rough condition. For a reasonable expense a good road over a territory which seems to have fair material might be built, which would greatly shorten the distance between Mono Lake and Bridgeport.

We next examined the Sonora and Mono State Road stretching from Bridgeport in Mono County, westerly to Long Barn in Tuolumne County. With the exception of recent washouts, owing to [illegible] heavy [illegible] the [illegible] road in fair condition, but the grade [illegible] over 9,000 feet for the first [illegible] of travel that this road [illegible] would not justify the State in spending [illegible]

We next examined what is known as the Alpine System of State Roads. This system is made up of old county roads in El Dorado, Amador, Alpine, Calaveras and Mono counties. The [illegible] trees in Calaveras County and [illegible] water sheds of the Mokelumne and [illegible] which are very steep, especially is [illegible] Alpine County easterly to Silver Creek. The grades [illegible] wheel traffic of any kind. From Silver Creek [illegible] fords, we found the road in fair condition, built generally of good road material and easy to maintain.

What is known as the Amador branch of the [illegible] fords in a general southwesterly [illegible] County. This road like the Calaveras [illegible] and at one point [illegible] six and one-half miles on a straight line from a point on the [illegible]

From a point in Hope Valley the Alpine System [illegible] Lake Tahoe State Road by way of Luther's Pass [illegible] Although the statute of 1911 [illegible] from Mt. Bullion, "via Lerner," in [illegible] County [illegible] this portion has never been [illegible] caused a survey to be made from a point on the East Fork of the Carson River to a point near Coleville in Mono County [illegible]

Your committee believe that [illegible] the eastern base of the Sierra Nevadas through [illegible] Lake Tahoe, is deserving of serious consideration. [illegible] leaving California and making a detour into Nevada by the way of [illegible] Gardnerville and Sheridan, back to Woodfords [illegible] thirty-three miles. With the construction of the [illegible] to from the East Fork of the Carson River [illegible] grade can be built, this detour would [illegible] Luther's Pass connection may be [illegible] summit without dropping into the [illegible]

The old Lake Tahoe wagon road from Smith's [illegible] to Lake Tahoe, we found in good condition and [illegible] Tioga road may be made passable and the road [illegible] built as above suggested, northerly through Alpine County [illegible] Woodfords and Luther's Pass to connect with the Lake Tahoe Road [illegible] would then be fairly well cared for. This [illegible] of a highway system extending from Lake Tahoe [illegible] of the Sierra Nevada Mountains through Alpine, Mono, Inyo, Kern and Los Angeles counties connecting with the State Highway in Los Angeles County [illegible] the present time there is no good outlet either north or south from the [illegible] Owens River Valley.

We believe that the amount of travel on at least the Amador branch of the Alpine system, and on the Sonora-Mono road [illegible] justify the expense the State has been putting upon them. [illegible] to keep a few roads with good grades in good condition [illegible] roads with grades that are practically prohibitory to all ordinary traffic.

Our next examination was what is known as the Meyers-McKinneys State Road extending from Meyers Station on the Lake Tahoe State Road [illegible] and McKinneys Station on the west side of Lake Tahoe. This road [illegible] located on good grade and in connection with the Lake Tahoe Road, will undoubtedly, be a popular and useful connection to our road system.

Our next examination was on the Emigrant Gap Road, extending from a point near the west end of Donner Lake in Nevada County [illegible] Emigrant Gap, a distance of twenty-eight miles. This road was in good [illegible] evidence of having received considerable traffic during the [illegible]

Your committee went over the lines of proposed highways in Imperial County by automobile, going into Imperial County by way of San Bernardino, Redlands and Banning to Brawley, which is the most northern [illegible] Imperial County, and returned to Los Angeles by the way of San Diego [illegible] route.

Imperial is the youngest county in the State, [illegible] commercial importance and has a very considerable [illegible] traversed through long distances of desert country. The State Highway will penetrate it by the southern route, connecting San Diego and El Centro and will afford easy egress and ingress to the most southerly [illegible] The Ocean to Ocean Highway Association, through its Los Angeles auxiliary, has [illegible] about $40,000 on that part of the Banning and Brawley road [illegible] line of Riverside County and Brawley. This northern entrance to Imperial County.

while improved by the money expended upon it, which is largely in the nature of permanent work in the shape of concrete bridges and fords, is yet very far from being an ideal road. It leads through a wonderfully fertile section, known as the Coachella Valley and also affords opportunity for connection with the great Palo Verde Valley, lying adjacent to the Colorado River and situated north of the Imperial Valley in Riverside County. This valley is almost an empire in itself and easy transportation into it means the development of great wealth for the State. Palo Verde and Blythe are now reached by a good road from Glamis, a station between Mammoth Wash and Yuma. Legislative action for an appropriation of $75,000 for this road between Banning and Brawley was taken in 1913, but the appropriation did not receive executive approval.

It is the opinion of this committee that the road from Banning to Brawley should be assisted by the State on that portion lying between the southerly boundary of Riverside County and the high line ditch northwest from Brawley. This would give a more direct route to Los Angeles City and to the center of the State, and would be entirely free from the heavy grades and dangerous curves of the State Highway through the mountains from San Diego to El Centro.

There is demand for further State appropriations for this road and that it may be continued through Mammoth Wash to Yuma, as that is the only practical route to the Palo Verde Valley; also for a road leading from El Centro to Yuma connecting at the former point with the State road to San Diego. The former route offers great opportunity for the development of territory now practically shut off from civilization by vast stretches of almost impassable sand; the latter is the most direct route from Yuma to the county seat of Imperial County, and thence to the coast at San Diego.

These recommendations are not intended by this committee as applying particularly to legislative action this year, but only as a general policy to be carried out by the State in making appropriations for roads that would form either connecting links or laterals opening up country or territory at present inadequately provided for and where, in the judgment of this committee, State aid is absolutely required if the roads are to be built.

While the committee used as much expedition as possible, averaging about one hundred twenty miles per day over some of the roughest territory in California, we were unable, with the amount of the appropriation provided, to cover all of the roads presented for consideration, and were unable on account of lack of funds to cover the roads through Tehama, Siskiyou, Trinity, Modoc, Humboldt, Mendocino, Colusa, Glenn and Lake counties; neither did we touch the proposed roads between the San Joaquin Valley and the sea coast.

Respectfully submitted.

PETITIONS—(OUT OF ORDER).

Senator Purkitt presented the following petition, which was read and ordered printed in the Journal:

GLENN, CAL., March 6, 1915.

Hon. Claude F. Purkitt, Sacramento.

Resolution offered and adopted at a meeting of the Jacinto Business Association of Farmers, March 6, 1915.

Since it is a well recognized fact that existing methods of distributing food products from the producers on the farms to the consumers in the cities is very defective, unsatisfactory, and expensive; and since much of this class of business is handled wastefully and even dishonestly through present methods; and, since our marketing machinery has no systematic or reliable means of bringing to the knowledge of the producers or consumers any accurate information as to the supply or demand for food stuffs at any marketing center; and, since it was these recognized facts that caused Congress to establish, through the Post Office Department the Parcels Post, in an effort to better conditions, and caused our sister state New York to establish her State Department of Foods and Markets to overcome the same un-economic condition; and, since there is now pending before Congress a bill to create a National Commission to aid in marketing food products, to prevent gluts in the markets at some points and scarcity at others and to bring the producers and consumers into more sound economic relation, which bill is known as House Joint Resolution No. 344; and, since Assemblyman McPherson of Santa Cruz, Cal., has drafted a bill to be introduced at the present session of the Legislature of California, and a similar bill, known as Senate Bill No. 344 to create a marketing commission, to be offered by Senator Brown at this same session, both of which bills provide for the creation and maintainance of a non-partisan state market commission to act in conjunction with the National Commission, which shall be empowered to receive and dispose of farm and other food products, in all the principal markets of the state, to have supervision over the grading of the same, and to furnish the producers and consumers of this State with reliable information regarding market conditions at all centers; and, since all statistics gathered by the Department of Agriculture at Washington and by other authoritative bodies prove that for every dollar paid by the consumer for food stuffs only thirty-five cents of this dollar ever reaches the farmer, and that sixty-five cents is lost, or wasted, or unnecessarily added to the cost of living; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the members of this, the Jacinto Business Association of Farmers, in meeting assembled, that we hereby express our commendation and endorsement of the Bill No. 344, now before Congress creating a National Commission, and of the measures championed by McPherson and Brown before our own Legislature; and that we urge all farmers and consumers to urge their representatives in Legislature and Congress to support these or similar measures to the end that this nation and this State shall enjoy the benefits that must come from such sound economic legislation.

PETITION.

To the Members of the Legislature of the State of California:

WHEREAS, An effort is being made to have the Legislature of the State of California declare abandoned the Sonora and Mono State Highway, leading through the counties of Tuolumne and Mono, and across the Sierra Nevada Mountains; and

WHEREAS, Said efforts if enacted into law will result in a detriment to the State of California, and particularly to the interior counties of the central portion of California, and said highway should not be abandoned for the following reasons:

First—It is the only route directly connecting the county of Mono with the counties on the western slope of the Sierras.

Second—In the neighborhood of one hundred thousand (100,000) dollars has already been expended on said road by the State in permanent improvement which little cost will keep in repair.

Third—It opens up a scenic country that is visited by thousands of tourists annually.

Fourth—It forms an extension to the present State Highway that is being built to the city of Sonora.

Fifth—That said road was originally built at a cost of $250,000 and its abandonment at this time will mean a total loss of the use of said road to the people of the State.

Therefore, we, the undersigned citizens and residents of the State of California, do earnestly petition your honorable body that you take no action which will result in the abandonment of said road.

PETITION—OUT OF ORDER.

By consent of the Senate, the following petition by Senator Duncan was received and read out of the regular order and ordered printed in the Journal.

RESOLUTION BY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF YUBA COUNTY ON SUTTER BASIN PROJECT.

WHEREAS, Reclamation District No. 1500, commonly referred to as the "Armour Project," is engaged in building certain levees in the Sutter Tule Basin of Sutter County, which levees will, if completed, turn the waters of said tule basin from their accustomed channels and cause such waters to overflow and inundate at least 30,000 acres of high and valuable agricultural land in said county not now subject to overflow from that source thereby destroying and endangering many homes and many miles of public highways and county bridges; and

WHEREAS, Sutter County and a number of land owners in said county have commenced separate actions against said Reclamation District 1500 and others, praying for an injunction against said reclamation district to restrain it from building any levees or dams which will divert said waters from said tule basin on to the highways and lands of said plaintiff; and

WHEREAS, Said actions are now pending in the Superior Court of Sutter County, before Hon. Emmet Seawell, Judge of the Superior Court of Sonoma County, and said Judge has ruled that the complaint of said county and the complaint of said landowners state a cause of action, and said actions are now awaiting trial on their merits; and

WHEREAS, The construction and maintenance of said levees in said Sutter Tule Basin as now proposed will raise the water plane in that vicinity over ten feet and necessarily the water plane in the Feather River, thereby endangering valuable agricultural lands in the county of Yuba; and

WHEREAS, There has been introduced in the present Legislature certain bills known as Senate Bills Nos. 631, 634, 660, 661, 662 and 722 and Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 34, which seek to change the fundamental law of this State relating to reclamation and property rights, and are especially aimed to strengthen the position of said Reclamation District No. 1500 in said litigation and permit the injury complained;

Resolved, This Board protests against the passage of any of said bills, or bills of like nature, and that we approve the position of said Sutter County, and said landowners in their fight, and we ask the help of the Governor of this State and of the Legislature for the people of Sutter County in their struggle to save their lives and property.

COMMUNICATIONS—(OUT OF ORDER).

By consent of the Senate the following communication offered by Senator Brown was read out of the regular order and ordered printed in the Journal:

CORONA, CALIFORNIA, March 17, 1915.

Hon. W. E. Brown, Legislative Chamber, Sacramento, California.

MY DEAR SENATOR: The question of a state market commission has been becoming yearly of greater importance.

The vital purpose of a market is to put producer and consumer in the closest relations possible.

The experience of the present time shows that agencies of distribution, when left unchecked, often become predatory, and exploit both the producer and the consumer at the expense of the legitimate share in the nation's prosperity to which each is entitled. Under these conditions, the economic loss to agriculture retards the best development of country life.

Some means must be devised to stop this economic loss to agriculture.

A critic speaking recently of the State Market Commission says: "These legislators complain that commission merchants are mulcting farmers to such an extent that the State must step in and save agriculturists from the folly of their own business sense." The trouble with so many writers on this subject is that they are "writers" only, not farmers.

It is not the lack of business sense that deprives the farmer of his legitimate returns from his crops—it is lack of a proper distributing agency for his products. It is not the duty of the producer to supply the proper distributing agency. It is not the farmers "lack of business sense" that is responsible for the city's inadequate terminal facilities or means of distributing products after they reach a market.

In our complex state of society it is impossible for the producer to be his own distributor. Society—that vast body of consumers which require the farmers' products—must see to it that the products are more efficiently distributed. It is they, the consumers, who must see that the proper means are provided for such distribution.

The responsibility for the marketing difficulties of the producer rests largely with the consumers. At least, it rests four-fifths on the consumer and one-fifth on the producer. Roughly speaking, in the United States 20,000,000 producers supply 80,000,000 consumers.

Whatever defects then there are in the economic system of the United States which affect adversely the producers and consumers of agricultural products, it is the joint duty of both parties to get together, to solve this great problem.

This question is a much larger one than mere financial profit and loss between the two great classes of producers and consumers. It goes to the very basis of society.

The existence of society and of man himself depends upon certain forces which are properly called the essential forces. These are the preservative and reproductive forces of nature.

These forces control all life.

The preservative forces can be designated under the single appellation—Want.

Human subsistence requires food, clothing and shelter.

The first and greatest of all wants is the want of food. "The cravings of the human soul for glory, fame and power are wholly insignificant in comparison with the cravings of the human stomach for food."

Agriculture has become a great systematized industry to supply these cravings of the stomach. The motive of agriculture is none other than the preservation of the existence of the community. Agriculture is the backbone of America.

The Secretary of Agriculture in speaking of the question has said:

"Problems of production have heretofore received the attention, from the standpoint of the individual farmer, the broader economic problem of marketing received relatively little attention.

This is now become an urgent problem. We have been suddenly brought face to face with the fact that in many directions further production waits on better distribution, and that the field of distribution presents problems which raise in very grave ways the simple issue of justice.

That under existing conditions in many instances the farmer does not get what he should for his product; that the consumer is required to pay an unfair price, and that unnecessary burdens are imposed under the existing systems of distribution, there can be no question.

Just what part of the burden is due to lack of systematic planning, or inefficiency and economic waste or to unfair manipulation, one can not say. As difficult as are the problems of production, they are relatively simple as compared with those of distribution."

The question of cheaper transportation was not solved until we got the "Interstate Commerce Commission", the question of money was not solved until we got the "Federal Reserve Commission", the question of curbing trusts has had to wait to obtain the "Federal Trade Commission," and the question of marketing will not be solved until we obtain a "Marketing Commission."

Our Federal Trade Commission is largely based upon that of Australia. In 1912 Australia created a trade commission "with broad investigating and quasi-judicial power, to investigate conditions, to enforce the laws regarding commerce and to aid Australian industry." It was in consonance with this conception of the Australian commission, that our own "Federal Trade Commission" was advanced.

Now Australia for many years has had working very successfully a Marketing Commission, or as known there, the "Government Produce Export Depot."

Sir John Cockburn, as far back as 1899 in an address before the American Academy of Social and Political Science, gave this interesting exposition of its workings. He stated that:

> "It is chiefly in our agriculture that the sphere of state activity has developed. The success of the community and our national welfare depend on the prosperity of the farmer, and, therefore, we adapt our institutions to make his occupation as profitable as possible. If the farmer does well the whole community is prosperous, the doctor gets his fees, the pastor gets his stipend raised, and everybody shares in the general prosperity.
> So the farmer is, as it were, that part of the community whose welfare we watch with the greatest possible interest. The State, in order to enable the farmer to get the greatest possible return for his labor, inaugurated what is known as the Government Produce Export Depot. We have also established a receiving depot. We take from the farmer and from the fruit grower his produce and send it to the world's markets. Before the State moved in this direction, the small farmer or fruit grower was practically unable to reach the markets of the world, even though there was a great demand for his produce, by reason of the high rates for freights and insurance, which would be so high on small parcels that practically they are excluded. So the State stepped in, and by grouping together the little rivulets of produce into one shipment, sends them forward at the lowest possible charges for necessary expenses of transit. The State in this way has been able to bring the world's markets within the reach of the farmer and the fruit grower.
> The State in undertaking this function is able to insist upon a certain grade of quality. There is nothing more dangerous or more ruinous to those who send produce to a market than to have good produce accompanied by articles of inferior quality. The presence of articles of inferior quality deteriorates the value of the whole shipment. If articles are inferior we have nothing to do with them. No produce is sent unless it receives the government's stamp of approval. After the goods have been received and forwarded by the State, they are received in London by the receiving depot there. The government does not undertake their sale, but it selects > corn and cotton brokers and auctioneers of recognized ability, who can be depended upon to make the best possible terms for the consignor and for the seller of the produce. Now, in South Australia, all the farmer has to do when he wishes to send a box of butter, honey, or some sheep abroad, is to write to the Agricultural Department, and if they are approved and forwarded, the consignor has nothing to do but sit at home and await return by check."

Compare this condition of the Australian farmer with the American producer.

A few concrete facts culled from my own experience will typify this: For twenty-five years I have been farming and fruit growing in Southern California. When my groves were young I was told to grow crops between the trees to pay expenses. I did so, I raised peanuts. Successful crops both in quantity and quality were grown. Two carloads of the product were shipped to market. After waiting seven months I received $54.00 for my crops. I was told, on relating my experience, that if I went into the peanut business I ought to expect peanut returns. Well, I did! In 1888 fifty acres of raisin grapes were planted by me, only to be rooted out later for lack of proper returns from crops.

In one season I have shipped 7,400 packed boxes of lemons, and the packers who advanced the money for their picking, at the final accounting demanded, besides the crop, $326.00 for services in picking. For the privilege of raising and shipping over twenty carloads of as fine lemons as grew in Southern California, I paid the shippers $326.00.

This was, however, before the improvements in shipping brought about by the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, yet even now, the past two seasons I have received red ink from my orange crop.

Also I have raised olives for the benefit of the packers. The greed, cupidity and refined methods of the olive packer, who by his system of 1/16 of an inch in grading can so juggle the crop that he can take the olives from the "pickle" class and place it as an "oil" olive, makes the difference to the grower of a loss of $50.00 a ton by this manipulation.

In Los Angeles last summer during the grape season 3½ to 5 cents a pound was the price on the market for table grapes. This is $75.00 to $100.00 a ton. I was at that time feeding the same kind of grapes to my hogs. An offer of $6.00 per ton being all I could get for my grapes. It would seem that $20.00 per ton to the producer and distributor should be a sufficient profit under a proper system of distribution. This means 5 pounds for 5 cents to the consumer instead of five cents for one pound.

Agriculture in order to be made less difficult and more profitable will have to receive from the government more care and attention than at present.

When we give that care and consideration to the marketing and distribution of agricultural products, such as is given by other governments, Australia and Germany, for instance, then we can expect that the slogan of "back to the farm" will be heeded and that the results from such increased production, together with an efficient and equitable distribution, will result in a decreased cost of living to the consumer.

A step forward in this direction is the creation of a State Marketing Commission, and later the creation of a National Marketing Commission. When these two steps have been taken in our State and national government, then can the producer look forward to the proper reward for his labor, and the consumer an added volume of products at a lessened cost.

We of the South are looking anxiously forward to the creation of this State Marketing Commission, and are wishing you and your co-workers most hearty success in the work of the creation of this commission.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN W. CRAIG.

RESOLUTIONS.

Adopted at mass meeting held in Marysville, March 5, 1915. On this occasion the business houses were closed and over 800 people attended the meeting. Hon. A. C. Bingham presided and H. H. Dunning was secretary.

We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions expressing the sentiment of this meeting in reference to the construction of a by-pass through the Sutter tules, as outlined in the plans of Reclamation District No. 1500, do hereby offer the following:

Resolved, That this meeting endorses the resolutions adopted at a mass meeting of landowners held in Yuba City on February 27, 1915, and also the resolutions adopted by the board of supervisors of Sutter County on February 5, 1915, and by the board of supervisors of Yuba County on February 3, 1915, and desires to place this community on record as follows:

The history of this community will show that its citizens have all through the past cheerfully borne their share of the burden of combating the flood waters of this valley. In the light of this fact they can not be justly accused of being opposed to any fair and reasonable plan of reclamation or flood control.

We are familiar with the plans of United States government engineers for handling the flood waters of the Sacramento Valley, and are in full accord therewith.

We are opposed to the construction of a by-pass in the tule basin as outlined in the plans of District No. 1500, being contrary to the plans of the United States government engineers and detrimental to the landowners in other parts of Sutter and Yuba counties.

We appeal to the sense of justice of all fair minded men, that it is neither right nor just to interfere with natures provisions by taking the flood waters of one river (the Sacramento) and by forcing them across the country, deliver them into another river (the Feather), to the great detrament of all the property owners along the latter river whose investments have been made in the light of natural river conditions.

As the proposed eastern by-pass will raise the high-water mark in the Feather River at or near Nelson Slough several feet higher than the present level, we feel that Yuba County is vitally interested in the forestalling of such a program. Man's mind is incapable of foretelling the acts of God, and although the engineers employed by the State Reclamation Board claim that the high water mark at the Feather River bridge would be only raised one foot by the addition of the flood waters of the Sacramento River to the Feather River, this is, at its best, but a theoretical estimate of what should be the case and can not, as we have too often learned to our sorrow, be accepted as a guarantee; and

WHEREAS, Sutter County and a number of landowners in said county have commenced separate actions against said Reclamation District No. 1500 and others, praying for an injunction against said reclamation district to restrain it from building any levees or dams which will divert said waters from said tule basin on to the highways and lands of said plaintiffs; and

WHEREAS, Said actions are now pending in the Superior Court of Sutter County before Hon. Emmett Seawell, judge of the Superior Court of Sonoma County, and said judge has ruled that the complaint of said landowners state a cause of action, and said actions are now awaiting trial on their merits.

We are opposed to any legislation favoring either side to the controversy, feeling that the courts of the land are the proper places for deciding such matters.

We further endorse the following specific objections to those certain bills as outlined and adopted by the board of supervisors of Sutter County.

Senate Bill No. 631 and Assembly Bill No. 759: This bill seeks to form a district to build the east levee of the by-pass system in Sutter County. It is objectionable because it also lays down the by-pass on the eastern location; it also included land in its boundaries which will have to bear the burden of this by-pass tax, some of which is included in Levee District No. 1 of Sutter County; some in Reclamation District No. 1001 of the east side of the Feather River; and all of Reclamation District No. 70 in Sutter County, and of Reclamation District No. 108 in Colusa County. To none of said districts does it add any value, but on the contrary adds to the danger and expense; and all for the purpose of aiding a handful of speculators to reclaim or attempt to reclaim land that they should pay for reclaiming themselves if they want it reclaimed, and by which reclamation they alone are benefited.

Senate Bill No. 634 and Assembly Bill No. 831: The objectionable features of this bill are: It attempts to again lay down the lines of levee of Reclamation District No. 1500 which are objectionable as before pointed out; also to permit such other levees to be constructed as the reclamation board may see fit; also that the powers of the board of supervisors are taken away and vested in the reclamation board, and in the event that said reclamation board ceases to exist then the board of supervisors of Sacramento County is to assume jurisdiction. There are a large number of resident landowners in Reclamation District No. 1500 who do not desire the board of supervisors of Sutter County to be divested of the supervision of the district, all of which district is within Sutter County

Senate Bill No. 660 and Assembly Bill No. 766: This bill is objectionable as it requires a county or any municipal corporation to give a bond if injunction is sought to restrain the reclamation board, or any levee or reclamation district, from doing damage. It is particularly aimed at the litigation that is now being waged by Sutter County and certain landowners against said Reclamation District No. 1500. But its effect may be disastrous to other counties or municipal corporations who may have a grievance against plans of the reclamation board.

Senate Bill No. 661 and Assembly Bill No. 764: This bill is particularly obnoxious and dangerous, as it clothes the reclamation board or any levee district or reclamation district following plans laid down by the reclamation board, with the power to do untold damage and such acts can not be restrained. While we are familiar with the saying, "The King can do no wrong," we think it is a dangerous power to place in the hands of the reclamation board or a reclamation district, and particularly dangerous at a time when its passage would deprive a county of its only adequate remedy of protection and relief from partial destruction, and irreparable injury, a condition brought about by the formation of District No. 1500 and the approval of its plans by the reclamation board.

Senate Bill No. 662 and Assembly Bill No. 765: This bill is also a dangerous departure in that it makes all actions involving injunctions against the reclamation board or levee or reclamation district triable in the Superior Court of Sacramento County; also the reclamation board must be made parties to all such suits and no costs or damage can be recovered from said reclamation board. They can do all manner of damage and a poor litigant seemingly is entitled to no relief. Although a litigant may have a just grievance, he may live in the upper Sacramento Valley or in the southern part of the State, but he must travel to Sacramento County to fight his cause, and then be told he can recover nothing from the reclamation board or its members. And it is particularly dangerous because Senate Bill No. 661, above noted, provides that the carrying out of any plans laid down by the reclamation board can not be restrained or enjoined. We have, therefore, the awful situation of not being able to restrain a threatened damage, and then if damage results the sufferer can not recover damage or costs therefor.

Senate Bill No. 722 and Assembly Bill No. 793: This bill is an attempt to amend the act creating the reclamation board and the formation of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Drainage District, and has many of the objectionable features pointed out in the preceding bills. It also takes away many of the rights and powers of existing districts, allows compensation to promoters of new projects for works which they may construct, but does not attempt to recompense existing districts for the money heretofore expended by existing districts for similar works which are taken in as part of the scheme.

Senate Bill No. 910 and Assembly Bill No. 1151: This bill seeks to create a new reclamation district north of the Tisdale weir and west of the proposed "eastern located by-pass." It has several vices. Many of the landowners in the proposed district do not desire this district created; and if created it will fix permanently the Sutter by-pass along the rimland or high land to the east and cause a large area of the high land on the east thereof to be inundated and cause the infliction of much damage as demonstrated by the creation of Reclamation District No. 1500. It also has the objectional features of divesting the board of supervisors of Sutter County of any control and causing landowners therein to journey to Sacramento County; and contains all the objectionable features of Senate Bill No. 634 and Assembly Bill No. 831, above noted.

Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 34 and Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 30: This amendment seeks to form a river control board with unlimited powers. It permits the destruction, taking or damaging by such board of either public or private property upon ten days' notice, and the awarding of such compensation as it sees fit. All its acts are final and shall not be subject to review by any board, person or court; it has power to divert or close up a non-navigable water course. In short, all its powers are supreme. We want no "star chamber" created to replace the jury system in California.

We do not stand in the way of river control or reclamation of swamp lands. But we do insist that the private rights of individuals and the rights of Sutter County should not be invaded in order that swamp land be reclaimed. If the owners of swamp land wish reclamation they should bear the burden, and should not be permitted to damage and endanger the high lands of others in so doing.

All we ask is a square deal. No further legislation along the lines suggested should be permitted until the result of the litigation into which the reclamation board and Reclamation District No. 1500 has forced this county and a large number of its resident taxpayers has been determined.

We respectfully ask in the interest of fair play that such legislation be not enacted, and that the fundamental law of this State be not changed in the interest of a private reclamation scheme under the guise of river control; be it, further,

Resolved, That we, the taxpayers of Marysville and Yuba County, in meeting assembled, do hereby pledge ourselves to spare no effort in our fight to defeat this unjust legislation and that we urge upon our representatives in the Legislature that they use all honorable means to prevent the passage of such bills as are herein discussed; be it, further,

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to act with the Sutter County committee in order that as large a delegation as possible may go before the Legislature and Governor to protest against iniquitous legislation.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE GRAND JURY OF THE COUNTY OF SUTTER IN REGARD TO THE SUTTER BASIN CONTROVERSY.

To the Governor and the Legislature of the State of California:

WHEREAS, The county of Sutter and certain private landowners therein are now engaged in most important litigation with Reclamation District No. 1500 in which enormous property rights and private property of great value are involved, and upon the result of which the security of one of the richest fruit belts of the State depends; and

WHEREAS, This litigation is the result of the attempt of outside capitalists to reclaim a natural overflow and tule basin to the damage and at the expense of those who will not be benefited but largely damaged thereby; and

WHEREAS, Reclamation District No. 1500, commonly known as the Armour-Gerber interests, is seeking to do this in violation of the fundamental law of the State of California and to accomplish their design are seeking legislative action at the present session of the legislature in order to overthrow this law and change the same to suit their purpose; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the grand jury of the county of Sutter, in regular meeting assembled, this 24th of March, 1915, do hereby declare:

First—That neither we nor the people of the county of Sutter are opposed to a general plan of flood control, and that we believe in the reclamation of the swamp and overflow lands of this State.

Second—That we believe that any plan of flood control or reclamation should have due regard to the rights of others and the protection and security of established communities; that reclamation at the expense and danger of lands now secure from flood or drainage waters is detrimental and not beneficial to the State as a whole.

Third—That reclamation of overflow lands should be carried on along lines in the least possible discord and opposition to the established law of this State and which cause the least possible damage to lands which are at present highly improved and cultivated.

Fourth—That the law of the State of California should not be changed, when the proposed changes therein will favor and will directly assist a few large land speculators at the expense and to the damage of the resident citizens and taxpayers of a whole county.

Fifth—That the following measures affect the litigation above referred to and are unfair to the county of Sutter:

Senate Bill No. 631 and Assembly Bill No. 759
Senate Bill No. 634 and Assembly Bill No. 831
Senate Bill No. 660 and Assembly Bill No. 763
Senate Bill No. 661 and Assembly Bill No. 764
Senate Bill No. 662 and Assembly Bill No. 765
Senate Bill No. 722 and Assembly Bill No. 793.
Senate Bill No. 910 and Assembly Bill No. 1151.
Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 34 and Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 30.

Sixth—That we have relied upon the law of the State of California for our protection and that it is unfair to do away with that protection at the time when we are most in need thereof.

We, therefore, petition you, the Governor and the Legislature of the State of California, that you do not pass the above mentioned measures or any measure that will injuriously affect the rights of the county of Sutter or which may apply to litigation in which this county is now involved, and that you do not alter the reclamation law of this State when such alteration would aid a few men to inflict a great damage and injury upon the people of a whole county, and we hereby instruct Louis Tarke, the foreman of this grand jury, to send certified copies of this resolution to the Governor and the Legislature of the State of California and to certify to the correctness of said copies.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, } ss.
County of Sutter }

Louis Tarke, being first duly sworn, deposes and says: I hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a full, true and correct copy of the resolution adopted by the grand jury of the county of Sutter on the 24th day of March, 1915.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand as foreman of said grand jury this 24th day of March, 1915.

LOUIS TARKE,
Foreman of the Grand Jury of the County of Sutter, State of California

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 24th day of March, 1915.

PETITION.

RESOLUTIONS ON SUTTER BASIN PROJECT.

Adopted at mass meeting of citizens of Sutter County, Yuba City, February 27, 1915.

We your committee appointed to draft resolutions expressing the sentiments of the people of Sutter County in reference to the so-called Armour project, beg leave to report the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we are not opposed to, but favor the reclamation of swamp land, the control of flood waters and the restoration of the navigability of our rivers; that we believe these purposes can best be conserved by one general plan and under the supervision and management of State and government authorities working together. That we heartily endorse the plan of river improvement, flood control and reclamation as set forth in the report of Captain Thomas H. Jackson, Chief of Engineers of the United States Army and Secretary of the California Debris Commission which was on the 27th day of June, 1911, transmitted to the House of Representatives of the United States through the Secretary of War and known as House Document 81, Sixty-second Congress, and also as the Report of the California Debris Commission.

Resolved, That we deplore the fact that the Legislature of this State has not adopted that report as the plan best suited to effect the ends sought, but that instead thereof the Legislature on December 24, 1911 adopted the following in lieu thereof, to wit: "The report of the California Debris Commission transmitted to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States by the Secretary of War on the 27th day of June, 1911, with such modifications and amendments as may hereafter be adopted by the reclamation board mentioned in section 2 of this Act, (State Board of Reclamation), is hereby approved as a plan for controlling the flood waters of the Sacramento River (amended in 1913, so as to include San Joaquin River), (Stat. 1913, page 252) and its tributaries for the improvement and preservation of navigation and the reclamation of the lands that are susceptible to overflow from said river and its tributaries." (extra session, Statutes 1911, page 117), thereby placing the whole scheme of reclamation, etc., in the hands of said State Reclamation Board with powers plenary.

Resolved, That whereas and because the citizens of this county protested vigorously against any change in the plan proposed by the said California Debris Commission in reference to the manner of reclaiming Sutter Basin, but that notwithstanding said protests the said State Reclamation Board (having been given the power to do so by the enactment above set forth), by a vote of two to one, yielded to the persuasions of the Armour interests and changed the said plan of reclaiming said Sutter Basin by shifting the laid out by-pass from the center of said basin, to the high lands on the east thereof, although they were informed by the government engineer in charge for the government works, that from an engineering standpoint the central by-pass was just as good as the eastern by-pass so far as river improvement and flood control are concerned (no government engineer has ever advised the change to our knowledge); and whereas and because we entered our protest against the passage of the Act creating Reclamation District No. 1500 in which the Armour land lies, because of the objectionable features concerning reclamation contained in said Act; and whereas and because we protested the commencement or doing of any work by the said Armour people under this manifestly unfair and unjust method and warned them before they commenced any of said work that we would resort to the courts for relief by injunction, whenever they should begin the erection of their north levee in said district, the effect of building of which would be the inundation of our lands and the destruction of our property, that we owe no apology and make no excuse for the incessant warfare that we have waged and which we pledge ourselves to continue to wage against the method being pursued by the Armour interests to reclaim their land from water, by diverting the said water from the channel where nature placed it, on to our lands that were never submerged, and which are valuable, thickly settled and highly improved.

Resolved, That there is nothing in the law or the acts of the State Board of Reclamation to prevent the said Armour-Gerber people from now building a by-pass through the center of their holdings where the California Debris Commission laid it out, and thus complete the reclamation of their lands by the original and only practical method for the reclamation of their said lands.

That there is no work which they have thus far performed which is unnecessary for the proper reclamation of their said land under the method designated by and contained in the said report of the California Debris Commission, and that we believe that in good faith and in good conscience they should pursue said methods.

That we believe that if the honorable Legislature of the State of California should fail to enact the legislation proposed, and hereafter referred to, that the Sutter Basin will be reclaimed along the lines suggested and designated by the said report of the California Debris Commission, without the loss of one dollar thus far necessarily expended in the prosecution of the works of reclamation.

That the only object of asking for the proposed legislation is to enable the Armour people to pursue their work of reclamation by use of the eastern by-pass, by which plan they would be enabled to reclaim their said lands at a less expenditure to themselves but in a way that would either inundate from 30,000 to 50,000 acres of our lands or place a burden of taxation upon us which we are unable to pay.

It will cost approximately $2,000,000 to build the east levee of the Eastern By-pass, besides the cost of getting the right of way upon which to build it which would be enormous.

The building of the by-pass levees would shut off all sloughs, creeks and surface drainage which now naturally flow through Sutter County from the north into said tule basin, requiring the taking up of all of said streams and waters, which are enormous in quantity in this county, by a system of canals to conduct said waters southerly to the Feather River or near there, many miles from the present mouths of said streams, and the installation and operation of huge pumps at said place to pump said waters over the said levee and into the by-pass.

The building of said by-pass levees along the lines proposed would place all the land lying between the said levee and Feather River in a pocket that would be covered with water a depth sufficient to destroy and kill the orchards, vineyards, grain and alfalfa growing on said lands, whenever a break might occur in the levee along the said Feather River.

It is well known that the levee along the banks of the Feather River breaks frequently on account of high water caused by the choking of said river by debris. That the levees along said Feather River in Sutter County are as high as it is safe for life and property to build them; that to build them high enough to contain all the water that sometimes comes down said river would not only endanger life and property, but the expense of so building them would bankrupt the owners of the land affected, because they would not only have to be raised and strengthened throughout Sutter County, but levees would have to be built through Butte County to Oroville, to prevent the escape of water from the river to our north, which water after it leaves the river flows down through Sutter County and into the said tule or Sutter basin.

That should said by-pass levees be constructed at the places proposed the water plane of the said tule or Sutter basin would be raised over ten feet higher than ever reached by the water in said basin. That it would require levees from 25 to 30 feet high to contain said waters and this stream flowing down by our said lands where no stream has heretofore flowed would seep through the levee to the injury of the land lying near thereto, and would constitute such menace and jeopardy to all our said lands lying within several miles of said by-pass as to greatly depreciate them in value, for should said east levee of the by-pass break by reason of neglect or the work of industrious gophers with which that region is infested, all of said lands would be flooded and the orchards, vineyards, alfalfa and grain growing thereon would be killed and destroyed and homes erected thereon would be rendered uninhabitable.

That the great general plan of reclamation, river improvement and flood control as contemplated by the state reclamation board and the government of the United States is not dependent upon or affected by the success or the failure of the Armour project to reclaim a portion of the Sutter Tule Basin. The reclamation of this particular body of land by this eastern by-pass method is alone involved. And whether Armour fails in his said efforts to reclaim at the least expense and costs to him, or whether we must submit to an inevitable doom, makes no difference whatever in the general plans of reclamation and river control undertaken and contemplated in Yolo County, Sacramento County, Colusa County and elsewhere in this State.

That we fail to appreciate the reason or the consistency of the state board of reclamation in furthering a plan of reclamation in Yolo and Colusa counties of cutting through the Knights Landing ridge and thus providing a method of escape for the waters flowing through breaks occurring along the west bank of the Sacramento River which water this natural barrier holds back in a natural pocket causing large bodies of land lying to the north of said Knights Landing ridge to be submerged for long periods of time, while they permit the Armour people to erect an artificial barrier and ridge, in the shape of levees along the margin of the tule basin in Sutter County thus forming a man made pocket to catch and hold the waters escaping from breaks in the levee built along the west bank of Feather River in Sutter County, to the inevitable destruction of our said lands lying within the pocket thus formed.

Resolved, That we resent the efforts of the Armour-Gerber interests and other interested and non-interested people to place the people of Sutter County in a false light before the people of this State in reference to our attitude towards reclamation, flood control and river improvement. And we deplore the fact that in their statements in the public press and elsewhere they express themselves so eloquently and rhetorically upon the advantages to accrue from reclamation in general, and say so little about the method they are pursuing and the effect such method will have upon the balance of Sutter County. It would be more becoming in them if not so effective in moulding public sentiment, for them to take the same position in their press reports that the attorneys for Reclamation District No. 1500 take in court, to wit: "We know our acts will injure you, but remember we are dealing with flood water, a public and natural enemy, and we have a legal right to turn it from our lands on to yours, and if you don't want to drown, build yourselves levees and do the necessary work to keep it off, your damage and your expense is no concern of ours."

Let them tell the truth, be frank, and say: "What care we for your troubles and expense. We must look out for Armour of Chicago and other wealthy gentlemen of Sacramento who have money invested in this project and who are expecting large profits from this enterprise. We must see to it that they accomplish this work at the least possible expense and the greatest possible advantage to these public spirited and enterprising gentlemen. And if in the doing of this great work we cause disaster to a few disgruntled owners of from 30,000 to 50,000 acres of land, they should submit with humility, being farmers, rather than take the chances of frightening eastern capital from the State."

That it is not true as stated in the publicity literature sent out by the Armour-Gerber people that any land in Sutter County has been reclaimed at the expense of, or the detriment of other lands. That Levee District No. 1 is not a reclamation or drainage district, but was organized to build a levee along the west bank of Feather River to hold the water in the channel in said river after it became filled by debris and that no levees were built or were necessary to protect the lands in said district from overflow from tule basin until the waters of the Sacramento River were conducted into said basin at the Tisdale weir thus increasing the flood plane in said basin and causing some of the land in said levee district lying adjacent to the tule basin to become submerged. It was then that a levee was built along the tule basin to protect said lands from the water thus forced upon them.

WHEREAS, There has been introduced in the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, Senate Bill No. 631, Assembly Bill No. 759; Senate Bill No. 634, Assembly Bill No. 831; Senate Bill No. 661, Assembly Bill No. 764; Senate Bill No. 662, Assembly Bill No. 765; Senate Bill No. 660, Assembly Bill No. 766; Senate Bill No. 722, Assembly Bill No. 793; Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 34, Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 30; Senate Bill No. 910 and Assembly Bill No. 1151, the passage of all or any of which would be detrimental to the interests of the people of Sutter County; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the people of Sutter County, in mass meeting assembled, actuated solely by the desire to defend and preserve our homes and our property from the destruction threatened by the method pursued by the [illegible] people in trying to reclaim a large body of state swamp and overflowed land, do earnestly request and importune the Legislature of the State of California that they do not pass any of said bills or any other bill or measure tending to destroy our homes or to put an unendurable tax upon us in order that [illegible] land owners may reclaim their lands by unjust and iniquitous methods.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be delivered to the Legislature through our Senator and Assemblyman respectively, by a committee of 100 citizens to be appointed by the chairman of this meeting, and that our representatives in the Legislature be urged to use all honorable means and all the ability with which they are possessed to accomplish the defeat of all of said bills and all legislation having for its aim the accomplishment of the [illegible] project in Sutter County by the unjust means and methods pursued by them.

The above is a true, full and correct copy of the resolutions adopted at mass meeting of citizens of Sutter County, Yuba City, February 27, 1915.

SAMUEL GRAY, Chairman.
C. D. O. [illegible], Secretary.

PETITION—(OUT OF ORDER).

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE PEOPLE OF FRANKLIN CORNERS, SUTTER COUNTY, AT MASS MEETING HELD SATURDAY, MARCH 27, 1915, IN REGARD TO THE SUTTER BASIN CONTROVERSY.

To the Governor and the Legislature of the State of California:

WHEREAS, The county of Sutter and certain private landowners therein are now engaged in most important litigation with Reclamation District No. 1500 in which enormous property rights and private property of great value are involved, and upon the result of which the security of one of the richest fruit belts of the State depends; and

WHEREAS, This litigation is the result of the attempt of outside capitalists to reclaim a natural overflow and tule basin to the damage and at the expense of those who will not be benefited but largely damaged thereby; and

WHEREAS, Reclamation District No. 1500, commonly known as the Armour-Gerber interests, is seeking to do this in violation of the fundamental law of the State of California and to accomplish their design are seeking legislative action at the present session of the Legislature in order to overthrow this law and change the same to suit their purposes; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the people of Franklin Corners, Sutter County, do hereby declare:

First. That we are not opposed to a general plan of flood control, and that we believe in the reclamation of the swamp and overflowed lands of this State;

Second. That we believe that any plan of flood control or reclamation should have due regard to the rights of others and the protection and security of established communities; that reclamation at the expense and to the danger of lands now secure from flood or drainage waters is detrimental and not beneficial to the State as a whole;

Third. That reclamation of overflow lands should be carried on along lines in the least possible discord and opposition to the established law of this State and which cause the least possible damage to lands which are at present highly improved and cultivated;

Fourth. That the law of the State of California should not be changed, when the proposed changes therein will favor, aid and materially assist a few large land speculators at the expense and to the damage of the resident citizens of a whole county;

Fifth. That the following measures affect the litigation above referred to and are unfair to the county of Sutter:

Senate Bill No. 631, Assembly Bill No. 759;
Senate Bill No. 634, Assembly Bill No. 831;
Senate Bill No. 660, Assembly Bill No. 766;
Senate Bill No. 661, Assembly Bill No. 764;
Senate Bill No. 662, Assembly Bill No. 765;
Senate Bill No. 722, Assembly Bill No. 793;
Senate Bill No. 910, Assembly Bill No. 1151;
Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 34, Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 30.

Sixth. That we have relied upon the law of the State of California for our protection and that it is unfair to do away with that protection at the time when we are most in need thereof;

We, therefore, petition you, the Governor and the Legislature of the State of California, that you do not pass the above mentioned measures or any measures that will injuriously affect the rights of the county of Sutter or which may apply to litigation in which this county is now involved, and that you do not alter the reclamation law of this State when such alteration would aid a few men to inflict a great damage upon the people of Franklin Corners and of the whole county.

The foregoing is a full, true and correct copy of the resolutions adopted at a mass meeting of the people of Franklin Corners on Saturday, March 27, 1915.

GEORGE OHENGER, Chairman of Meeting.

H. H. DOUGLAS, Secretary of Meeting.

Amend section 4 of chapter IV of article I of said charter of the city of San Diego, to read as follows:

"Section 4. The holder of any elective office of this municipality may be removed or recalled at any time by the electors; provided, he has held his office at least four months. The procedure to effect such removal or recall shall be as follows: A petition demanding the election of a successor to the person sought to be removed shall be filed with the city clerk, which petition shall be signed by registered voters equal in number to at least twenty-five per cent of the entire vote cast for mayor at the last preceding general municipal election, and shall contain a statement of the grounds on which the removal or recall is sought, which statement is intended solely for the information of the electors. Any insufficiency of form or substance in such statement shall in no wise affect the validity of the election and proceedings held thereunder. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number, if any. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer an oath that the statements therein made are true as he believes, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name it purports to be. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition, the clerk shall examine and from the records of registration ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified voters, and if necessary the city council, board of trustees or other governing body shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If by the clerk's certificate the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient it shall be returned to the person filing the same, without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the clerk shall submit the same to the city council, or board of trustees, or other governing body without delay, whereupon the council, or board of trustees or other governing body shall forthwith cause a special election to be held within not less than thirty-five nor more than forty days after the date of the order calling such election, to determine whether the voters will recall such officer; provided, that if a general municipal election is to occur within sixty days, the council may in its discretion postpone the holding of such election to such general election or submit such recall election at any such general election occurring not less than thirty-five days after such order. If a vacancy occur in said office after a recall petition is filed, the election shall nevertheless proceed as in this section provided. One petition is sufficient to propose the removal and election of one or more elective officials. One election is competent for the removal and election of one or more elective officials. Nominations for any office under such recall election shall be made in the same manner as are nominations for such office at general municipal elections. Upon the sample ballot there shall be printed in not more than two hundred words the reasons for demanding the recall of the officer set forth in the recall petition, and upon the same ballot in not more than two hundred words the officer may justify his course in office.

There shall be printed on the recall ballot, as to every officer whose recall is to be voted on thereat, the following question: 'Shall (name of person against whom the recall petition is filed) be recalled from the office of (title of the office)?' following which question shall be the words 'Yes' and 'No' on separate lines, with a blank space at the right of each, in which the voter shall indicate, by stamping a cross (X), his vote for or against such recall. On such ballots, under each such question, there shall also be printed the names of those persons who have been nominated as candidates to succeed the person recalled, in case he shall be removed from office by said recall election; but no votes cast shall be counted for any candidate for said office unless the voter also voted on said question of the recall of the person sought to be recalled from said office. The name of the person against whom the petition is filed shall not appear on the ballot as a candidate for the office. If a majority of those voting on said question of the recall of any incumbent from office shall vote 'No,' said incumbent shall continue in said office. If a majority shall vote 'Yes,' said incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from such office, upon the qualification of his successor. The canvassers shall canvass all votes for candidates for said office and declare the result in like manner as in a regular election. If the vote at any such recall election shall recall the officer, then the candidate who has received the highest number of votes for the office shall be thereby declared elected, for the remainder of the term. In case the person who received the highest number of votes shall fail to qualify within ten days after receiving the certificate of election, the office shall be deemed vacant and shall be filled according to law.

No person who has been recalled or who has resigned from such office while recall proceedings were pending against him, shall be appointed to any office within one year after such resignation or recall. The successor of any officer so recalled shall hold office during the unexpired term of his predecessor, subject to removal under the provisions of this section."

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE BOGUE WEDNESDAY CLUB, OF SUTTER COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, PROTESTING THE PASSAGE OF PENDING MEASURES IN REGARD TO THE SUTTER BASIN CONTROVERSY.

To the Governor and Legislature of the State of California:

WHEREAS, The county of Sutter, and taxpayers and property owners thereof, are engaged in a legal combat with Reclamation District No. 1500 and the moneyed promoters of said district, wherein their prayer for relief, substantially, is that injury and injustice be not done to them and that they be not taxed to aid in imposing the injustice upon themselves; and

WHEREAS, The people of this county are perfectly content to rest their case on the law as it stands now and as it stood when the combat was begun; and

WHEREAS, There has been introduced into this session of the Legislature certain measures whose very evident and obvious purpose is to strengthen and bolster up the law-points of the interests furthering the Sutter Basin project, to the exclusion and non-recognition of the constitutional rights of the inhabitants of Sutter County's farming communities; and

WHEREAS, The completion of the easterly located by pass and other contemplated works of reclamation of District No. 1500 would mean either irreparable injury and destruction to our homes, holdings, and belongings, or exorbitant, unbearable taxation, and possibly both; and

WHEREAS, We realize and know by travel, comparison and observation, that we live in one of the richest, most highly and intensively cultivated districts of the State of California, and that under our present reclamation scheme and management we are as safe as levee districts can possibly be made; therefore, be it

Resolved, First. That we, the members of the Bogue Wednesday Club of Sutter County, do bitterly oppose the passage of the following measures:

Senate Bill No. 631, Assembly Bill No. 759;
Senate Bill No. 634, Assembly Bill No. 831;
Senate Bill No. 660, Assembly Bill No. 766;
Senate Bill No. 661, Assembly Bill No. 764;
Senate Bill No. 662, Assembly Bill No. 765;
Senate Bill No. 722, Assembly Bill No. 793;
Senate Bill No. 910, Assembly Bill No. 1151;
Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 34, Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 30.

Second. That in opposing the above-mentioned measures, after broad-minded deliberation, we are firmly convinced that we are upholding the right, as a just God and a deep-thinking conscience have given us to see the right.

Third. That the measures above named are void of virtue and merit, since they practically force to judgment, prematurely and without trial, two law suits now pending, and on the outcome of which rests our hopes of a just verdict and salvation in this present critical crisis.

Fourth. That we do earnestly ask you, the Governor and Legislature of this State, to not pass any of these measures, but that you do evidence to us your faith in the present laws and statutes of this State, by allowing this litigation to be carried forward and brought to judgment under the law as it now stands.

In witness whereof, We have caused our president to affix hereunto her signature, duly attested by our secretary, this thirty-first day of March, 1915.

BOGUE WEDNESDAY CLUB OF SUTTER COUNTY.

The above is a true, correct and full copy of resolutions adopted at a meeting of the Bogue Wednesday Club on March 31, 1915.

ADA OHLEYER, President.

M. P. HODGES, Secretary.

Also:

Senator Benson presented the following petition, which was read and ordered printed in the Journal:

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31, 1915.

WHEREAS, The California Cattlemen's Protective Association in convention assembled March 23, 1915, are vitally interested in the passage of a hide and brand inspection bill, known as Senate Bill No. 744; and

WHEREAS, Said bill has been introduced in the Legislature and is medeled after laws now on the statute books of Arizona and other large Western cattle raising States; and

WHEREAS, Similar laws where they are in effect are almost wholly preventing cattle stealing, now therefore be it

Resolved, That this convention does express to the Legislature of the State of California its sincere belief that the proposed law will be of material benefit to the live stock interest of this State, that its adoption will be a menace to no honest indrstry, and that the interests of all men, both large and small, engaged in stock raising demand the passage of this bill as introduced.

CALIFORNIA CATTLEMEN'S PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT.

Lieutenant Governor John M. Eshleman, President of the Senate, presented the following statement, which was ordered printed in the Journal:

When the presiding officer of the Senate exercises his prerogative conferred by the constitution and votes on a measure, he becomes for the time being a legislator and is in no different position from the other members of the Senate. I, therefore, deem that I have the same privilege to explain my vote as have the members of the Senate. I believe this bill is a bad and unfair measure. I am in thorough sympathy with its alleged intent, but I am not in sympathy with the method of attempting to carry it out. I will not countenance an unfair means even to accomplish a good thing.

By enactment of the Legislature it was left to the communities to deal with this question as they saw fit. The fundamental considerations of popular government require that the majority in each community control and the law be of uniform application. If there be some strong and controlling reason why a different rule should apply to one community than another such reason would justify the dominant authority in the state in taking from such community the rights that are exercised by other communities in similar circumstances. No such controlling reasons exist in the case before this Senate.

Having provided a way for eliminating the saloons in the unit adopted by the Legislature, that method should be followed unless the Legislature or the people themselves apply a different rule either by eliminating them all or by taking from all communities the right to decide. But when the right to decide is reposed in a constituency, that right to decide carries with it the right to decide wrongly, and it is more important that a constituency have the right to decide and that their will be not thwarted, than that any particular reform be consummated. In the present case, as I have already said, regardless of the alleged intent of this bill there has been nothing disclosed to me which leads me to believe that a different rule should apply to the communities here involved than to the other communities of the State. I put the test upon myself that I put upon the one opposing me, and if the means resorted to by the one opposing me would be decided unfair means by me, when my opponents are seeking to perpetrate what I consider a wrong, then the same means employed by me to bring about what I consider a right are just as reprehensible. There is not an advocate of prohibition upon the floor of this Senate, in my opinion, who would not raise his hands in holy horror if the liquor interests resorted to the same subterfuge in making dry territory wet in defiance of the local option law as is being used here in an attempt to make wet territory dry, and I believe his indignation would be justified. The fact that the liquor interests have resorted to unfair means in the past, and no doubt some of them at least will do so in the future, does not in the least change the situation nor relieve us from the necessity of dealing with scrupulous fairness. Otherwise we are but Pharisees.

I have no misconception of the effect of the emergency which makes it necessary for me to decide this question, but I have no apology to make. Simply I desire to have my reasons set forth. I am at least justifying and satisfying myself. It is to be regretted if I do not satisfy others, but that is a matter over which I have no control.

MINUTE CLERK CLIFTON E. BROOKS AT THE DESK.

Section 11. On or before the third Monday in September of each year, the supervisors shall levy the amount of taxes for city and county purposes required to be levied upon all property not exempt from taxation. The amount should be sufficient to provide for the payment during the fiscal year of all demands upon the treasury authorized to be paid out of the same; but such levy, exclusive of the state taxes and the tax to pay the interest and maintain the sinking funds of the bonded indebtedness of the city and county, and exclusive of the tax to pay for the maintenance and improvement of the parks, squares and public grounds of the city and county shall not exceed the rate of one dollar on each one hundred dollars valuation of the property assessed. The supervisors in making the levy shall apportion the taxes to the several funds.

Section 13. The limitation in section 11 of this chapter upon the rate of taxes shall not apply in the case of any great necessity or emergency. In such case the limitation may be temporarily suspended and the rate of taxes be increased so as to enable the supervisors to provide for such necessity or emergency. No increase shall be made to provide for such necessity or emergency in the rate of taxes authorized to be levied under section 11 of this chapter, unless such increase be authorized by ordinance passed by the unanimous vote of the supervisors and approved by the mayor. The character of such necessity or emergency shall be recited in the ordinance authorizing such action, and be entered in the journal of the board.

Nor shall the limitation in section 11 of this chapter upon the rate of taxes apply in the case of taxes levied by ordinance passed by at least fifteen supervisors and approved by the mayor for any of the following purposes, to wit: To meet the cost of elections; to pay any demands, salaries, expenses or other obligations imposed upon the city and county of San Francisco by a legislative or constitutional enactment of the State of California or of the United States; to meet any increase in demands, salaries, expenses or other obligations imposed upon the city and county of San Francisco by any measure hereafter passed by direct vote of the people of the city and county of San Francisco; to meet the expense or cost of schools or of the school department; to meet the cost of construction and repair of streets, sewers or of buildings for the police, fire, health or school departments or detention home; to meet the cost of maintaining public libraries and of purchasing books therefor.

Nothing in this section shall authorize the incurring of liabilities against the treasury not allowed by law, or which can not be paid out of the income and revenue provided, collected and paid into the proper fund as its proportion of the same for such fiscal year, or permit liabilities or indebtedness incurred in any one fiscal year to be a charge upon or paid out of the income or revenue of any other fiscal year.

In no case shall such property be sold or disposed of until the necessity for the use thereof as evidence has ceased. The proceeds of property taken from insane persons shall not become part of such fund until after the expiration of three years from the time the same is paid into the treasury; but the commissioners and the chief of police shall, during such period, make diligent inquiry to ascertain the person or persons to whom the same should by right be payable.

WHEREAS, There has been recommended to the present Legislature on the budget an appropriation of $500,000 for the purpose; now, therefore, be it

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE CITIZENS OF O'BANION'S CORNERS, SUTTER COUNTY, IN MASS MEETING ASSEMBLED.

To the Governor and Members of the Legislature of the State of California:

GENTLEMEN: WHEREAS, Important litigation between Sutter County and Reclamation District No. 1500 is now in progress involving property rights and private property of great value in this county; and

WHEREAS, Certain bills now introduced in the Legislature, if passed, would be unfair and work a great hardship to the people of this county by changing existing laws during the progress of this litigation, thus depriving us of our legal rights as they existed when we purchased and improved our lands; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we urge the Legislature of the State of California not to pass the following bills and constitutional amendment:

Senate Bill No. 631, Assembly Bill No. 759;
Senate Bill No. 634, Assembly Bill No. 831;
Senate Bill No. 660, Assembly Bill No. 766;
Senate Bill No. 661, Assembly Bill No. 764;
Senate iBll No. 662, Assembly Bill No. 765;
Senate Bill, No. 722, Assembly Bill No. 793;
Senate Bill No. 910, Assembly Bill No. 1151;
Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 34, Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 30.

We would further represent that this locality is in the midst of a fruit and grain growing district and is a prosperous community which is rapidly being developed. At this point there is a church, school, store and blacksmith shop. If the Eastern By-pass levee is built as now proposed a break in the Feather River levee above Yuba City would create a permanent lake over this entire district and the depth of the water directly in front of the school house at O'Banion's Corners would be twelve feet.

We therefore petition you, the Governor and Legislature of the State of California, that you do not pass the above named bills and constitutional amendment.

The above is a true and correct copy of the resolutions adopted at a mass meeting of the citizens of O'Banion's Corners, Tuesday, March 30, 1915.

M. C. BAILEY, Chairman.

J. F. KIMBALL, Secretary.

"No insurance or surety company or society, by itself or by any other party, and no agent, or insurance broker, personally or by any other party, shall offer, promise, allow, give, set off, or pay, directly or indirectly, as an inducement to insurance on any risk in this State, now or hereafter to be written, any rebate of or part of the premium payable on the policy or contract of insurance or surety bond, or of the agent's or broker's commission thereon; nor shall any such company, or society, agent, or broker, personally or otherwise, offer, promise, allow, give, set off, or pay, directly or indirectly as an inducement to such insurance, any earnings, profits, dividends, or other benefit, founded, arising, accruing, or to accrue on such insurance or surety bond, or therefrom, or any other valuable consideration which is not clearly specified, promised, or provided for in the policy or contract of insurance; nor shall any such company or society, agent, or broker, personally or otherwise, offer, promise, give, sell or purchase as an inducement to insurance, or in connection therewith, any stocks, securities or property or any dividends or profits accruing or to accrue thereon, nor, except as specified in the policy or contract, offer, promise or give any other thing of value whatsoever as an inducement to insurance; provided, however, that nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent a mutual fire insurance company from returning any portion of the premium as a dividend, at the expiration of the term covered by such premium.

"In the event that any insurance or surety company shall appoint as its agent a person, firm or corporation (not actively and regularly engaged in the insurance business) whose property it shall insure, or for whom it may furnish bonds; or shall appoint as its agent any employee of such insured person, firm or corporation; or shall appoint as its agent another firm or corporation in which said insured person, firm or corporation shall have a substantial interest; or shall appoint as its agent an employee of any such other firm or corporation, it shall be unlawful, as contrary to this section, for such insurance company to pay such agent, or for such agent to receive, any commission, brokerage, or other emolument, on any insurance on such property so insured.

"Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit any insurance or surety company or society or agent for such company or society from paying commission to another company, society or agent, or to an insurance broker, nor shall this section be construed to prohibit any marine insurance company, agent, or broker from allowing any insured, such usual discount as it sanctioned by custom amongst marine insurers as being additional to the agent's or broker's commission, but this exemption shall in no wise operate to relieve marine insurance in any other respect from the full operation of this section.

"No insured person, nor applicant for insurance or surety bond, shall knowingly receive or accept, or agree to receive or accept, directly or indirectly, any rebate of premium or part thereof, or agent's or broker's commission thereon or part thereof payable on the policy or surety bond or on any policy of insurance or surety bond, or any special favor or advantage in the dividend or other benefit to accrue thereon; nor shall any such person, or applicant for insurance or surety bond receive anything of value as inducement to insurance or in connection therewith, which is not clearly specified, promised or provided for in the policy or contract of insurance or surety bond. This section, except as hereinbefore specifically provided, shall not be construed to prevent any insurance company from paying to another insurance company or to an agent or broker, or to prevent any insurance or surety company or such an agent or broker from receiving a commission in respect to any policy under which it itself or he himself is insured.

"Nothing in this section shall be so construed as to prohibit any company issuing non-participating life insurance from paying bonuses to policy holders or otherwise abating their premiums, in whole or in part out of surplus accumulated from non-participating insurance; nor to prohibit any company transacting industrial insurance on the weekly payment plan from returning to policy holders who have made premium payment for a period of at least one year directly to the company at its home or district offices, a percentage of the premium which the company would have paid for the weekly collection of such premiums; nor to prohibit any life insurance company doing business in this State from issuing policies of life or endowment insurance with or without annuities at rates less than the usual rates of premiums for such policies insuring members of organizations or employees of any employer who through their secretary or employer may take out insurance in an aggregate of not less than fifty members and pay their premiums through such secretary or employer. This section shall not be construed to prevent any life insurance company paying, or contract-holders receiving special compensations, or allowing and receiving credits already agreed upon in contracts now in force.

"No person shall be excused from testifying or from producing any books, papers, contracts, agreements or documents at the trial or hearing of any person or company, association or society charged with violating any provisions of this section, on the ground that such testimony or evidence may tend to incriminate himself, but no person shall be prosecuted for any act concerning which he shall be compelled so to testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, except for perjury committed in so testifying.

"Any officer of any insurance or surety company or society, agent, broker or other person, who violates any of the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. The Insurance Commissioner shall also have authority, in his discretion, to revoke the license issued to any agent or broker on its being proven to him, after a hearing, that such agent or broker has knowingly and wilfully violated any of the provisions of this section.

"Every insurance company or society shall be charged with full responsibility to exercise reasonable diligence for the observance of this section by its agents and brokers.

"Nothing in this act shall apply to, or in any way affect title insurance business, fraternal benefit societies, or county mutual fire insurance companies."

COMMITTEE AMENDMENTS.

During second reading of the bill, the following committee amendments were offered:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

Amend the title by striking out everything after the word "code" in the second line of the title and insert in lieu thereof the following: "concerning the licensing of insurance and surety agents; providing for the revoking of such licenses and providing a penalty for a violation thereof."

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

"633. No person, firm or corporation, shall within this State act as the agent of any insurance or surety company or society until such person, firm or corporation shall have first obtained a license from the Insurance Commissioner authorizing him or it so to act.

"Any person, firm or corporation duly appointed and authorized by an insurance or surety company or society to solicit applications for insurance or surety bonds, and effect insurance or surety bonds in the name of such company, shall be an agent within the meaning of this section. The Insurance Commissioner shall upon written notice from any insurance or surety company or society, authorized to transact business in this State, of its appointment of any person, firm or corporation, to act as its agent and upon payment of the fee provided for in section 605 of the Political Code, and upon being satisfied that the appointee is a suitable person, firm or corporation qualified so to act, and intends to hold himself or itself out in good faith as an insurance or surety agent, and that said appointment does not conflict with and will not be used to circumvent the enforcement of any of the insurance laws of this State, issue to such person, firm or corporation a license in such form as may be prescribed by the insurance department. Before a license is issued, such appointee shall be required to file with the Insurance Commissioner (upon a form to be prescribed and furnished by the insurance department) an application in writing showing the applicant's full name and address, the name of the company for which the applicant is to act as agent, the applicant's experience in the insurance business, and if the applicant is engaged in any business other than insurance, the nature of such other business. The Insurance Commissioner may also require such additional information regarding such other business or businesses, or upon any other matters, as he may deem necessary to enable him to pass upon the fitness of said applicant to be licensed as an insurance or surety agent. The Insurance Commissioner may also require, if the applicant be a firm, the names of the partners comprising the firm, or if a corporation, the names of the officers and principal stockholders and the amount of the capital. The statement and answers furnished by the applicant to the Insurance Commissioner shall be verified under oath.

"The Insurance Commissioner may at any time after the granting of any license, for cause shown, and after a hearing, determine any person, firm or corporation so appointed, or any person, firm or corporation theretofore appointed as agent, to be unsuitable to act as such agent, and shall thereupon revoke such license and notify both the company and the agent of such revocation.

"It shall be the duty of the Insurance Commissioner to withhold any license applied for, or revoke any license issued to any person, firm or corporation, or to his or their employees, when he is satisfied that the applicant has wilfully misstated any material fact in his application or that the principal use of such license is to effect insurance upon the property or liability of such person or party, or to obtain surety bonds on their own behalf or to circumvent the enforcement of the anti-rebate law.

"If at any time the Insurance Commissioner declines to issue a license as agent to an applicant therefor who has complied with the requirements of this section or revokes the license theretofore granted to any agent, such applicant or agent may commence an action against the Insurance Commissioner for the purpose of reviewing the facts and the law pertinent to the controversy, and for the purpose of obtaining relief, or cancelling the act of the Insurance Commissioner. In any such action the court shall have full power to investigate all the facts de novo without regard to the determinations previously made by the Insurance Commissioner. All of the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to pleadings, proofs, trials and appeals, shall be applicable to such actions.

"Unless revoked by the Commissioner, or unless the company by written notice to the Commissioner cancels the agent's authority to act for it, such license and any other license issued to an agent, or any renewal thereof, shall expire on the first day of July next after its issue. Any license issued and in force when this section takes effect, or thereafter issued, may in the discretion of the Insurance Commissioner be renewed for a succeeding year by a renewal certificate without the commissioner requiring the detailed information required by this section.

"Any person, firm or corporation, who shall act or offer to act or assume to act as an insurance or surety agent unless licensed by the Insurance Commissioner as provided in this section, or after such license granted to him or it has been revoked, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, but any policy issued on an application, thus procured, shall bind the insurance company if otherwise valid; provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to apply, refer to, or affect agents of county mutual fire insurance companies, or to in any way affect such county mutuals, nor shall this section apply to or in any way affect title insurance business or fraternal benefit societies."

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

Amend the title by striking out everything in line 2, of the title, following the comma after the letter "a" and insert in lieu thereof the words: "concerning the licensing of insurance brokers, and providing for the issuance and revoking of licenses by the Insurance Commissioner, and providing a penalty for a violation thereof."

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

"633*a*. No person, firm or corporation shall within this State act as an insurance broker until such person, firm or corporation shall have first obtained a license from the Insurance Commissioner authorizing him or it so to act.

"Any person, firm or corporation, (other than an insurance or surety company or society, or agent of such company or society, or salaried employee acting on behalf of such company or society or agent, or a medical examiner for a life insurance company or society), who, for compensation acts or aids in any manner in negotiating contracts of insurance or surety bonds or reinsurance or placing risks, or effecting insurance or reinsurance for a party other than himself or itself, shall be an insurance broker within the meaning of this section.

"The Insurance Commissioner shall upon the payment of a fee of ten dollars ($10), and upon being satisfied that the appointee is a suitable person, firm or corporation, trustworthy and qualified to transact an insurance brokerage business, and intends to hold himself or itself out in good faith as an insurance broker, and that said appointment does not conflict with and will not be used to circumvent the enforcement of any of the insurance laws of this State, issue to such person, firm or corporation a license to act as an insurance broker, to negotiate contracts of insurance, or surety bonds, or reinsurance, or place risks, or effect insurance or surety bonds or reinsurance, with any insurance or surety company or society authorized to transact such business within this State, or with its agents.

"The applicant for such license shall file with the Insurance Commissioner (upon a form to be prescribed and furnished by the insurance department) an application in writing showing the applicant's full name and address, the applicant's experience in the insurance business, and if the applicant is engaged in any business other than insurance the nature of such other business. The Insurance Commissioner may also require such additional information regarding such other business or businesses, or upon any other matters, as he may deem necessary to enable him to pass upon the fitness of said applicant to be licensed as an insurance broker. The Insurance Commissioner may also require, if the applicant be a firm, the names of the partners comprising the firm, or if a corporation, the names of the officers and principal stockholders and the amount of capital. The statement and answers furnished by the applicant to the Insurance Commissioner shall be verified under oath.

"An insurance broker's license so issued shall remain in force until July first of any year after the date of the issuance thereof, unless sooner revoked by the Insurance Commissioner. Such broker's license issued on the application as hereinbefore provided may in the discretion of the Insurance Commissioner be renewed upon expiration for a succeeding year upon the payment of a fee of ten dollars ($10) without requiring anew the details required in the original application.

"The Insurance Commissioner may at any time after the granting of a broker's license, for cause shown, and after a hearing, determine that the licensee has not complied with the insurance laws, or is not trustworthy or competent, or is not holding himself out and actually carrying on business as an insurance broker or is not a suitable person, firm or corporation to act as such insurance broker, and he shall thereupon revoke the license of such broker and notify him that his license has been revoked, and shall publish a notice of the revocation of said broker's license in such manner as he deems proper for the protection of the public. It shall be the duty of the commissioner to withhold any license applied for or revoke any license issued to any person, firm or corporation, when he is satisfied that such license is being used to circumvent the enforcement of the anti-rebate law.

"If at any time the Insurance Commissioner revokes the license theretofore granted to a broker, such broker may commence an action against the Insurance

Commissioner for the purpose of reviewing the facts and the law pertinent to the controversy, and for the purpose of obtaining relief, or cancelling the act of the Insurance Commissioner. In any such action the court shall have full power to investigate all the facts de novo without regard to the determination previously made by the Insurance Commissioner. All of the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to pleadings, proofs, trials and appeals, shall be applicable to such actions.

"The Insurance Commissioner may upon application issue to non-resident insurance brokers a license to transact insurance in this State subject to the same qualifications, requirements, restrictions and fees as provided for resident brokers.

"Any person, firm or corporation, who shall act or offer to act or assume to act as an insurance broker, unless licensed by the Insurance Commissioner as provided in this section, or after such license granted to him or it has been revoked, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, but the policy issued on an application thus procured, shall bind the insurance company, if otherwise valid.

"Nothing in this section shall apply to or in any way affect title insurance business, fraternal benefit societies or county mutual fire insurance companies."

No certificate of authority shall be granted or renewed to any company in arrears to the State, or to any county, city and county, city or town in the State, for fees, licenses, taxes, assessments, fines, or penalties, accrued on business previously transacted in the State, nor while said company is otherwise in default for failure to comply with any of the laws of this State regarding the governmental control of such company by the State.

"No person, firm or corporation shall in this State act as agent, in any transaction of insurance on property located in this State, for any insurance company not authorized to transact such insurance in this State.

"No person, firm or corporation within this State shall solicit, negotiate or effect any insurance of the kinds described in section 594 (marine insurance and insurance on the property of railroads or other common carriers excepted) on any property located in this State with companies not authorized to transact such business in this State, except by and through a surplus line broker upon the terms and conditions hereinafter stated.

"When and only when the total amount of insurance (of kinds hereinbefore prohibited from being placed with unauthorized companies) desired on any property located within the State can not be procured from companies authorized to transact such kinds of insurance within the State, such remaining part of the insurance as can not be procured from such authorized companies, or not less than seventy-five

(75) per cent of them, may be procured from unauthorized companies by a surplus line broker, and by no other person.

"The Insurance Commissioner may issue a license authorizing any person, firm or corporation applying therefor, who is trustworthy and is competent to transact an insurance brokerage business in such manner as to safeguard the interest of the assured, to act as a surplus line broker from its date until the first day of July succeeding on the following conditions:

"(a) Payment in advance to the Insurance Commissioner of a fee of twenty-five dollars ($25.00).

"(b) Delivery to the Insurance Commissioner of a bond to the State of California in the sum of five thousand dollars ($5000.00) with sureties having the qualifications mentioned in sections 1056 and 1057 of the Code of Civil Procedure, conditioned that said licensee will fully and faithfully comply with the requirements of section 596 of the Political Code.

"The following are the duties of a surplus line broker with which he is required to comply:

"1. To maintain in good faith an office in this State.

"2. To keep in said office a complete book of record of the business transacted by him (under his license as a surplus line broker) with unauthorized companies showing: The dates of such insurance going into effect, the names of the insurers and of the insured, the gross premium payable therefor, the terms, character of insurance and location of the insured property. Such book of record shall also contain statements in the same detail of all such insurance canceled, or on which premiums have been increased or reduced and the amounts of additional or of return premiums thereon. Such books are to be open at all times for the inspection of, and examination by, the Insurance Commissioner or any one appointed by him for said purpose.

"Before any insurance as hereinbefore provided may be so procured or placed by a surplus line broker under authority of his license with unauthorized companies, such broker shall satisfy himself that the insurance has been offered to at least seventy-five (75%) per cent of all companies in the State authorized to transact such insurance and that the amount placed by him with unauthorized companies is only such part of the insurance as can not be procured from such authorized companies, or seventy-five (75%) per cent of them.

"Whenever required so to do by the Insurance Commissioner, such surplus line broker shall furnish to said commissioner a list of the authorized companies comprising at least seventy-five (75%) per cent thereof to whom such insurance was offered and from whom the entire amount of insurance desired was not obtainable.

"The surplus line broker shall within one week or as soon thereafter as practicable after receipt by him of the complete information as to with what companies and at what rate the insurance has been placed, file with the Insurance Commissioner a true report showing the names of the insured and of the insurers, the character of the insurance, location of the property, gross premium payable therefor and the date such insurance takes effect and the terms thereof. As soon as practicable after any such insurance has been canceled, or any premium thereon has been increased or reduced, such surplus line broker shall file with the Insurance Commissioner a report thereof in the same detail as required in the case of the report above referred to.

"On or before the first day of March of each year the surplus line broker shall file with the Insurance Commissioner a sworn statement of all business transacted under his license during the last preceding calendar year ending December 31st. Such statement shall contain true accounts of the gross amount of insurance procured from and placed with unauthorized companies during the calendar year, the gross premium charged therefor, including additional insurance premiums, the gross amount of all insurance canceled during said year, and the gross return premium thereon. Such statement shall also include any additional premiums charged, and the gross premium returned during said calendar year on insurance previously affected.

"All such reports and statements shall be made on blanks to be furnished to the surplus line broker by the Insurance Commissioner on application therefor.

"Every surplus line broker shall on or before the first day of April of each year pay to the Insurance Commissioner for the use of the State of California a tax of three (3) per cent upon the amount of gross premiums upon all insurance placed under authority of such license, less three (3) per cent of all return premiums on policies canceled, or upon which premiums have been reduced during the year ending December 31st last preceding.

"Any surplus line broker who wilfully fails or refuses to report to the Insurance Commissioner any insurance on property located within this State placed under his name with unauthorized companies, or who shall by wilful omission from the records required to be maintained by him for such purpose, attempt to evade the payment of taxes on any such insurance, shall upon conviction thereof in addition to being required to pay the tax thereon, be further penalized by a fine of not exceeding one hundred (100) dollars for each offense and the Insurance Commissioner shall further forthwith revoke the license of any such surplus line broker. The Insurance Commissioner shall also revoke the license of any surplus line broker who wilfully fails or refuses to perform any of the other duties hereinbefore specified as required of said broker.

"If in the opinion of the Insurance Commissioner the solvency of any surety on a bond hereby required has become impaired or doubtful, he shall notify the surplus line broker in writing, and unless within ten (10) days after receipt of such notice the solvency of such surety is proved to the satisfaction of the Insurance Commissioner, or a new bond is substituted therefor, said Insurance Commissioner shall revoke the license of the surplus line broker. The removal of the office of the surplus line broker from this State, or the removal therefrom of his accounts of his business as such, or the closing of his said office for a period of more than twenty (20) consecutive days, shall constitute a termination of the authority of said surplus line broker, and shall be tantamount to an express revocation of his license, whether or not the Insurance Commissioner thereafter revokes the same. No new license shall be issued to any surplus line broker whose license has been revoked for any reason other than the insufficiency of his sureties, within the period of one year after such revocation, and until all indebtedness of said surplus line broker, on former business, has been paid to said Insurance Commissioner. Every insured for whom insurance has been effected with unauthorized companies shall produce for examination by the Insurance Commissioner, whenever requested by him, in writing so to do, all policies, contracts, and other documents evidencing such insurance and disclose to him the true amount of the gross premiums paid or agreed to be paid therefor, or upon refusal so to do, he shall forfeit to the State of California, the sum of two hundred (200) dollars for each refusal. All policies and other contracts of insurance issued without full compliance by all parties concerned with the laws of this State, shall be null and void."

Amendment adopted.

The term of eligibility shall be fixed for each eligible list at not less than one year. In the case of positions in the mechanical trades and occupations and laborers' positions, the commission shall certify to the appointing power the name and address of the person standing highest on the eligible list for the class and grade to which the position belongs.

"Appointments shall be made from the eligible list most nearly appropriate for the position to be filled, and a new list shall be created for a stated position or a group of positions only when there is no appropriate list existing from which appointment may be made. "SEC. 10. Section 10 of said Act is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 10. The examinations shall be practical in their character, and shall relate to those matters which will fairly test the relative capacity and fitness of the persons examined to discharge the duties of the positions they seek. Applicants for positions in the mechanical trades and occupations and for laborers' positions may in the discretion of the commission, be rated solely on experience and physical qualifications which may be determined by such evidence and in such manner as the commission may direct; and such applicants may be submitted to such further tests as the commission may require. The commission shall prepare lists of preliminary requirements and subjects of examinations for the several positions, and shall publish its rules and regulations and such information and advertise such examinations in such manner as the nature of the examination may require. The commission shall require an applicant to file in its office, in accordance with its rules and regulations, a reasonable length of time before the date of examination, a formal application filled out in his own handwriting. Blank forms of such applications shall be furnished by said commission without charge to all persons requesting the same. Any officer authorized to administer oaths shall take the affidavits required on applications for employment in the classified service without charge.

"The commission may require in connection with applications, including laborers, such certificates of citizens, public officers or others having knowledge of the applicant, as the good of the service may require. The commission may refuse to examine, or after examination to certify as eligible, any one who is found to lack any of the established preliminary requirements for the examination or position for which he applies; or who is physically so disabled as to be rendered unfit to perform the duties of the position to which he seeks appointment, or who is addicted to the habitual use of intoxicating beverages to excess; or who has been guilty of a crime or of infamous or notoriously disgraceful conduct; or who has been dismissed from the public service for delinquency or misconduct; or who has intentionally made a false statement of any material facts, or practiced, or attempted to practice, any deception or fraud in his application, in his examination, or in securing his eligibility. Any person appointed to a position under the provisions of this Act who has secured his place on the eligible list through fraud shall be removed by the commission from his position and shall not thereafter be eligible for examination for any position under the provisions of this Act except by unanimous permission of the commission. When the position to be filled involves fiduciary responsibility, the appointing power may require the appointee to furnish a reasonable bond or other security, and shall notify the commission of the amount and necessary details thereof.

"Whenever a person shall have occupied a position in the state service for over one year, whether on account of being exempted from the operations of this Act by resolution of the commission, because of professional technical skill or other requirement, or because no eligible lists were available from which to fill such position, the commission may upon the written petition of the appointing power setting forth in detail the reasons therefor, give a qualifying examination to such person to determine his ability to fill such position satisfactorily, which examination may in the judgment of the commission be restricted to such person alone. Such qualifying examination may not be given except where the appointing power specially requests the same for the good of the service and except there be no eligible list from which to fill such position and except such person may not have failed to pass an examination to provide an eligible list from which such position may be filled.

"Sec. 11. When there is no eligible list from which a position may be filled, the appointing power may, with the consent of the commission, fill such position by temporary appointment, and such temporary appointment shall not continue for a longer period than three months, nor shall successive temporary appointments be made to the same position under this section without the previous consent of the commission, and in no case shall any person hold a position under such successive temporary appointments for a longer period than six months without the unanimous consent of the commission.

"SEC. 12. Section 12 of said Act is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 12. The commission shall establish rules and regulations under which emergency appointments may be made when those on the eligible lists are not immediately available, and for the time for which such emergency appointments shall be valid; and may fix a different time for different counties or cities and counties of the State.

"SEC. 13. Section 13 of said Act is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 13. Vacancies in positions shall be filled, so far as practicable, by promotion from among persons holding positions in a lower grade of the department, office or institution in which the vacancy exists. Promotions shall be based upon merit and competition and upon the superior qualifications of the person promoted as shown by his records of efficiency, or upon competitive examination, or upon both such records of efficiency and examination. For the purposes of this section an increase in the salary or other compensation of any person holding an office or position within the scope of the rules and regulations in force hereunder beyond the limit fixed for the grade in which such office and position is classified, shall be deemed a promotion. The commission may authorize the transfer of any person legally holding a position in one class or grade to a position in another class or grade, and may provide for the reinstatement within one year of persons separated from positions without fault or delinquency on their part, if within that time there is need for their services, and may restore such person to the eligible register, or to a reinstatement list by majority vote of the commission.

"SEC. 14. Section 14 of said Act is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 14. The tenure of every one holding a position under the provisions of this Act shall be during good behavior, but any such person may be removed for any of the following causes:

"(a) Incompetence, inefficiency, or neglect of official duties.

"(b) Dishonesty, intemperance, immoral conduct, insubordination, discourteous treatment of the public or of fellow employees, a violation of the provisions of this Act or of the rules or regulations of the commission or any other failure of good behavior. The appointing power that could fill such positions under the provisions of this Act if vacant may remove for such cause and such removal shall be effective when written notice of the same shall have been filed with the commission. The persons so removed may be restored to the eligible or reappointment list by majority vote of the commission for certification to any position other than the one from which they were rejected.

"SEC. 15. Section 15 of said Act is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 15. The commission may provide by rule for separate lists of eligibles for departments, institutions, or localities.
